LORIMER INQUIRY WILL BE REOPENED BY SENATE TODAY

COMMITTEE REAL ISSUE

Old Guard Will Demand That Elections Body, Not New Members, Conduct Hearing.

SEEK TO DIVIDE THE DEMOCRATS

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—By what, in all probability, will be an unanimous vote, the senate will order another inquiry into the charges that bribery and corruption procured the election of William Lorimer as senator from Illinois.

The proceedings will be inaugurated in the senate immediately after the morning hour tomorrow by Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, author of the resolution introduced on April 6, creating a special committee to make a further inquiry. Mr. La Follette will make a speech pointing out the necessity of the adoption of his resolution and the appointment of a select committee. Other speeches will be made.

There will be no opposition to the institution of the investigation; but the "old guard" of the Republicans, supported by a few democrats, will insist that the investigation be conducted by a regularly organized committee of the senate—that on privileges and elections.

Center of Defense's Fight.

It will be over this feature of the matter that the fight will be made. Undoubtedly the progressives will support the select committee proposal originated by Mr. La Follette. The men he has named for membership on this committee are new senators—Works of California, Townsend of Michigan, McLean of Connecticut, Republicans, and Kern of Indiana and Pomerene of Ohio, Democrats.

The Democrats have made it clear, on account of their desire not to hurt the feelings of Bailey, Paynter, Johnston, and Fletcher, who were members of the committee on privileges and elections which made the investigation of the Lorimer case last fall, that they will not support the La Follette committee. Exactly what they will do has not developed, and probably will not be determined until tomorrow.

The Republican "old guard" realizes it may be beaten by a combination of progressive Republicans and Democrats, and for this reason it assented to the immediate ordering of the inquiry, and now is searching about for some advantage in the way of control of the investigation.

Seek to Divide Democrats.

To compass this purpose the "old guard" is trying to sow dissension in the ranks of the Democrats, asserting it would be a reflection upon the committee on privileges and elections to create a special committee, and that it would be evidence to the country that the senate does not trust its own subordinate bodies. This will be met by the objection that to take fifteen senators, the membership of the committee, out of the senate would be to embarrass the legislative proceedings of the session.

The men who have the honor of the senate at heart will recall during the debate that nine members of the privileges and elections committee voted for Lorimer, while three only voted against him and three have not had an opportunity to express their convictions in the senate.

It is not likely the committee on privileges and elections will make the investigation. What is more probable is that a select committee will be organized. Who will make up this committee cannot be ascertained and probably has not yet been determined.

Witnesses Cannot Escape.

The matter is so important, however, that what is wanted is a body of capable men who will investigate the Lorimer scandal without fear or favor. It is necessary that these men be clothed with the most drastic power in order to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books and papers.

It will be the desire of some of the senators who will vote for the investigation that the committee develop the interests and the men responsible for "putting Lorimer over." They desire not only that, if he is guilty, Lorimer's seat shall be declared vacant, but that, the men who furnished the money and those who did the bribing shall be held up to public view and prosecuted by the authorities.

There is no question that the Lorimer following is deeply concerned over the situation and are looking with dread upon the prospect of another investigation. It is realized that there can be no suppression of facts this time; that the eyes of the country are upon the men charged with the inquiry, and that they will reach out in every direction in order to get proof either to establish Mr. Lorimer's innocence or guilt.

Power in All States.

The Helm committee was handicaped in the execution of its work not only by its inability to obtain access to the Tilden books but by the absence of many witnesses from Illinois. Being a state body, the jurisdiction of the committee stopped at the confines of the commonwealth. This will not be true of the committee of the United States senate. Its authority will extend over the whole country.

The committee expects contumacy to be shown by Edward Tilden and perhaps the master of the contempt proceedings to the senate; but, in view of the Supreme court decisions, it is confident its action will be sustained and that Mr. Tilden will have to produce his books or go to jail.

LYNCH 6 NEGROES TAKEN FROM JAIL

ALL VICTIMS SHOT DOWN.

Lake City, Fla., May 21.—Six negroes were lynched here early today after a party of more than a dozen men, masquerading as officers, appeared at the county jail and got possession of the men by presenting a bogus telegram to the 16 year old son of the sheriff, ordering the release of the blacks to the alleged posse.

The negroes were being held here on the charge of murdering B. B. Smith, a sawmill man of Wadesborough, Leon county, and wounding another man named Register, on May 12.

The men, who had come from Tallahassee in automobiles, took the negroes about a mile outside of Lake City. They compelled the negroes to stand abreast and began firing with rifles and pistols until every one of the six had been riddled with bullets.

Sheriff's Son Deceived.

The plans of the lynchers were most daring, though but for a curious combination of circumstances they would never have been successful. The sheriff was out of the city and left the jail in charge of the boy, who, aroused in the early hours of the morning, allowed the negroes to be taken from the jail without knowing the sinister purpose of the mob.

The telegram which the leader of the mob showed the boy was supposedly from the sheriff of Leon county and stated that he had received intimations that a mob was forming in Tallahassee to take the negroes from the Lake City jail. The message ordered that the men be carried further south to frustrate the suspected mob.

The telegram appeared authentic, as the six negroes have been moved frequently.

Residents of Lake City knew nothing of the lynching until the shots were heard.

The crime for which the negroes were held created strong feeling in Leon county, as the men murdered were prominent, and as a general race war was intimated at the preliminary hearing given the prisoners. It was proved the negroes had established a veritable arsenal and were prepared for trouble.

Negro Preacher Lynched.

Swainsboro, Ga., May 21.—Ben Smith, an old negro preacher, was lynched late last night after he had shot his wife and fatally wounded Deputy Marshal Neal Canady, who attempted to arrest him. A crowd pursued the negro, caught him in a swamp, hanged him, and riddled his body with bullets.

CASUALTY RATES SOAR; NATIONAL COMBINE SHOWN

Trust in This Form of Accident Insurance Greedy to Add to Already Huge Profits.

COST SENT UP SKY HIGH

Federal Authorities to Be Asked to Look Into the Extortion; Relief Is Sought.

EUROPEAN CONCERNS INVOLVED

A new rate hoisting combine has entered the financial field. It embraces sixty or more of the casualty insurance companies of America and similar foreign concerns doing business in this country. As a result employers desiring liability insurance must pay increases varying from 15 to 140 per cent, and, in at least one case, the increased rate is ten times the rate prevailing last year—or seek more moderate prices among the few concerns outside the "trust." The agreement has been formulated in New York.

The long suffering public has been served with numerous boosts in prices and rates, but the increases forced by this combine are said to hold the record.

The United States government is said to be inquiring into this trust and its proclivities to demand all or a little more than the people can stand.

Huge as the rate increases on liability insurance have been within the last four months, there is a report of further raises likely to be made unless Attorney General Wickersham intervenes with action to prevent the continuance of the extortion.

Profits Are Huge Already.

The casualty insurance companies involved in this rate raise put forth as a reason for their action the claim that rates had been too low; that agents had been cutting under the agreed rates, and that profits had shrunk.

However, a consideration of the statistical tables of seven of the leading companies in the new agreement does not bear out this contention.

The year 1910 showed huge profits for all, one of the largest of the companies paying a dividend last year of 41 per cent. In the face of this, the big increases are agreed on and are levied for the current year.

Bulkeley's Concern Prospers.

The Ætna Life of Hartford, of which Morgan G. Bulkeley of Connecticut, recently retired by his constituency from the United States senate, is president. The premiums paid to this concern during 1910 totaled $6,010,880, and its insurance losses were $3,316,496, leaving a comfortable margin of profit from insurance alone of $2,694,384. Of this the stockholders received dividends amounting to $100,000, or 5 per cent on the capitalization of $2,000,000.

Other companies show even greater profits. The Maryland Casualty of Baltimore shows a dividend of $410,000, or 41 per cent on its capitalization of $1,000,000 on premiums of $4,488,756 and losses of $1,903,521.

The Travelers of Hartford declared a dividend of 30 per cent, $750,000 on a capitalization of $2,500,000, its figures being: Premiums, $9,635,790; losses, $5,134,085.

The Fidelity and Casualty of New York had an 18 per cent dividend last year with $180,000 against a capital stock of $1,000,000. Its margin of profit between premiums and losses were $4,216,912. The dividend rates of the three English companies cited are not given, as the American returns are sent directly to the home offices in London. Their margin of premium profit averages well with the United States companies.

1910 Their Best Year.

All the figures given in the tables are of interest as indicating the immense wealth of the insurance corporations engaging in the casualty business. Particularly is this true of the table showing results of the last decade. Not one of the seven leading companies enumerated added less than $780,000 to its reserve fund during that period, while one, the Travelers, put away $8,078,773.

The surpluses were enlarged in like fashion, swelling the admitted assets of the Ætna to $101,000,000 and of the Travelers to $75,000,000. The net surplus of each of these concerns is more than $8,000,000.

Significant also is the comparison between the total of dividends declared during the last ten years and those of the single year 1910 as indicating the rapid growth of business and profits. For instance, the Travelers' ten year dividend total is $2,950,000, and its 1910 figures $750,000, or a little less than one-quarter of the amount for the whole decade. Yet the claim is made that bad business in the west offsets good profits in the east, and that rates must be raised to give the companies an adequate return. The Travelers' dividend rate last year, it will be remembered, was 30 per cent.

One Set of Rates Up 1,003 Per Cent.

An example of the increase of rates in one direction is afforded by a concern which insures thirty-seven wagons. Prior to this year this company secured a rate of $14 a wagon, or $663 in all. This was a rate 50 percent higher than the ordinary, as it provided that if one man should be killed $10,000 would be paid, and $20,000 if two or more were victims of the same accident. The ordinary rate is for $5,000 for one death and $10,000 for more than one.

Under the new rate this company would have to pay $187.50 as against $17, for this double insurance, and $125 for the $5,000 and $10,000 maximum. In other words, instead of $663 premiums for the thirty-seven wagons the concern would have to pay $8,037, an increase of 1,003 per cent.

LIGHTNING KILLS WOMAN; INJURES 3

MOTHER AND BABY BURN

Lightning struck a south side apartment house during yesterday afternoon's electric storm and killed one woman outright, severely burned a girl in an adjoining flat, and scorched a mother and her baby in the third apartment. The bolt caused a panic in the building and drove a score or more of hysterical women into the street during the heaviest downpour of the day.

THE DEAD:

Mrs. Dora Cantwell, aged 36, 4313 St. Lawrence ave.

THE INJURED:

Miss Elsie Hochner, aged 16, 4315 St. Lawrence ave., burned about the chest, legs and feet.

Mrs. Alfred D. Thompson, 4315 St. Lawrence ave., scorched slightly about the face and hands.

Alfred D. Thompson Jr., aged 2, also scorched about the face and hands as his mother held him in her arms.

The lightning struck the third story of the six flat apartment house at 4313-4315 St. Lawrence avenue at about 3:15 o'clock in the afternoon and flashed through three of the flats in the building. It left the characteristic magical traces in its pathway. When the fire department was called the firemen were unable to tell where the thunderbolt had entered the house, but it is believed to have darted through a window casement in the third flat, occupied by the Cantwells.

Leaves Jagged Pathway.

Its pathway could be traced by broken pieces of plaster in the ceiling of a bedroom adjoining the room in which Mrs. Cantwell sat. It splintered the moldboard and plaster near the floor of a chamber in the Hochner flat, which is also on the third floor, and left a jagged line of broken plaster on the ceiling and walls of the flat below, occupied by the Thompsons.

It was nearly fifteen minutes after the lightning struck that the body of Mrs. Cantwell was found. She was alone in her apartment. By that time the alarm caused by the lightning, the narrow escapes of Miss Hochner and Mrs. Thompson and her baby, and the fear of fire in the building had subsided. Miss Hochner and her sister, Bertha Hochner, were entertaining a party of friends when the bolt struck and the screams of the young women in the party shot fear into the hearts of the other occupants of the building. Hence, the entire attention of the neighbors was attracted to the young women.

Boy Finds Body Afire.

After the fire department arrived, Fred Steffan, the 16 year old son of F. E. Steffan, 4215 St. Lawrence avenue, entered the Cantwell flat and found Mrs. Cantwell dead in her chair by the front window. Smoke was issuing from her shoes and stockings. The boy smothered the fire with his hands and called for help.

Examination of the body by Dr. C. E. King, 550 East Forty-third street, showed that the woman's left side was badly burned. There was a deep flesh wound behind the left ear and the left foot was burned almost to the bone. Mrs. Cantwell wore spectacles and the bracket over the left ear had been tossed off by the bolt. A leather pocketbook was lying in her lap, the upper cover of which had been ripped off, but the contents were intact.

At the time of the thunderstorm, William E. Cantwell, the husband, who is signal foreman for the Chicago Junction railway, was visiting with friends. He was notified of his wife's death about half an hour after it occurred.

Girl's Shoe Torn to Shreds.

The lightning struck Miss Hockner when she was showing a girl friend in the party visiting her a pair of new silk pumps which she wore. The lightning tore the light shoe on her left foot into shreds and scorched her foot severely.

Her severest injuries were about the chest and limbs. She suffered keenly from the shock, but last night Dr. King, who attended her, said that she was out of danger, and would recover from her injuries in a week or so.

Mrs. Thompson was sitting with her child in her arms when the lightning flashed about the ceiling and the walls in her room. Both she and the baby suffered more from the shock than from the burns, which were slight.

"I half jumped out of the chair when the bolt struck the house," said Mrs. Thompson, "and the next instant I felt a scorching sensation about my hands and face. The pain was severe for half an hour or so, and my flesh turned red, as if it had been burned. I noticed that my boy's flesh was affected in the same way. We were not hurt seriously, but I was terribly frightened."

Mrs. Cantwell leaves one daughter, Mary V. Cantwell, aged 18, who is attending school in Ottawa, Ill. She was notified of her mother's death last night, and will return to her home in Chicago this morning.

Heavy Rainfall Recorded.

Chicago was visited by at least half a dozen showers in different sections of the city yesterday afternoon. During two of the storms which swept over the city the rainfall was so heavy for a few minutes as to resemble a cloudburst. The government gauge at the federal building showed a total rainfall of one inch during the day.

Former British Army Officer Kills Self When Woman Recently from Chicago Postpones Nuptials.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 21.—[Special.]—Despondent because his fiancée, Mrs. Lillian Lynch, formerly of Chicago, insisted on a postponement of their wedding day, Lester R. Severn, once an officer of the British army, committed suicide by shooting. Beside him was a book of poems by Frank L. Stanton, opened at one captioned "Little Elaine." Severn's wife died in Pasadena eighteen months ago.

PARIS AERO KILLS MINISTER OF WAR; INJURES PREMIER

ACCIDENT SEEN BY 200,000

AVIATOR AND COMPANION ESCAPE

AVIATION FATALITIES OF YEAR.....18

PARIS, May 21.—France paid a terrible toll today for her endeavor to attain supremacy of the air when a monoplane, the driver of which had lost control, plunged into a group of members of the cabinet who had gathered to witness the start of the race from Paris to Madrid, killing the minister of war and injuring the prime minister, his son, and a well known sportsman.

THE DEAD:

Henri Maurice Berteaux, minister of war.

THE INJURED:

Antoine Monis, son of the premier.

Immense Crowd Sees Disaster.

The accident occurred on the aviation field at Issy les Molineux, where 200,000 persons had gathered to see the start of the race.

M. Train was piloting the monoplane that wrought such havoc. With him in the car was M. Bounier, a passenger. Neither of these men was injured. The machine was wrecked.

Minister of War Berteaux was mangled. The swiftly revolving propeller cut off his left arm, which was found ten feet away from the spot where he was struck. The back of his head was crushed in, his throat was gashed, and the whole of his left side cut and lacerated.

Premier Monis was buried beneath the wreckage of the monoplane. He was taken out as quickly as possible and examined by military surgeons, who found he had compound fractures of two bones in the right leg, that his nose was broken, his face badly contused, and that there were bruises on the breast and abdomen. Physicians tonight reported he would recover.

Prof. Lannelongue and Drs. Tussler and Crouzon, who attended M. Monis, issued a bulletin to the effect that the abdominal pains had diminished and that the mental condition of the patient continued excellent.

Worried About Premier Monis.

Prof. Lannelongue, in a more detailed statement, gave it as his opinion that the premier would be able to walk in two months. The only point, he added, calling for reserve in the prognosis was the pain in the abdomen.

The premier, he said, had been struck a violent blow in the region of the liver, and while the first examination showed nothing to indicate the existence of an internal lesion, it would be two or three days before the physicians could pronounce on the outcome to a certainty.

The examination, however, revealed diabetic symptoms. Referring to these, Prof. Lannelongue said:

"I am optimistic about the patient, but at the same time I am worried by these traces of diabetes. It will necessitate our watching the patient closely every day, so as to avoid the possibility of complications."

Others Not Seriously Hurt.

M. Deutsch and the premier's son were not seriously hurt.

Among those who had narrow escapes from injury was M. Lepine, the prefect of police.

Premier Monis and Minister Berteaux and their party arrived at the aviation field about 6 o'clock this morning, shortly after Roland Garros, M. Beaumont, and M. Gilbert had started in the race.

The great line of spectators bordering the flying field was being held rigid by a large force of soldiery, who, however, permitted the ministerial party and some half hundred other persons of distinction to walk across the field to a point where they could get a better view down the course and see the airmen as they rose from the starting point and flew in their direction.

While the great assemblage cheered madly the ministers saw Pierre Vedrine, who had been picked by many as the probable winner of the race, mount easily from the ground and head down the aerodrome, only suddenly to capsize and fall but emerge unhurt from the wreckage of his machine.

Ascends in 30 Mile Wind.

The breeze had been steadily freshening and the meteorological observer in the Eiffel tower telephoned that his gauge showed a velocity of close to thirty miles an hour. Train, however, left the ground. Ascending swiftly he circled the great field, curving round to the starting line and then flying down the course at a forty miles an hour gait, the machine rocking in the gusty wind.

At this moment it was observed by the commandant of the troops that the crowds were breaking the line formation on one side of the field, and he dispatched a troop of cuirassiers to get them back in order. The soldiers galloped across the field, breaking into double lines as they went.

Train's monoplane swooped toward the earth under the impulse of an air flurry, and it appeared as if the aviator was about to lash into the cavalry. The pilot's attention seemed momentarily to have been diverted from his course and he made a quick turn to the left, toward where the party of officials were standing. Then he lost control of the craft and it dashed violently into the ministerial group.

Notables Pinned Under Wreckage.

The impact knocked M. Berteaux ten feet away, while under the wreckage of the monoplane lay Premier Monis, his son, and M. Deutsch. Train and M. Bounier emerged from the wreck uninjured.

A scene of confusion followed the fall of the monoplane. From all parts of the aviation field arose cries of alarm and dismay, and tens of thousands of persons broke through the lines and moved toward the scene of the accident. The cavalry, however, by repeated charges managed to clear the field and the injured men were given first aid to the injured treatment by the field surgeons.

From the first it was seen that M. Berteaux was fatally hurt and that M. Monis was seriously injured. After the ministers had been cared for the surgeons dressed the wounds of those who had received minor bruises.

There are various versions as to the cause of the accident, but everyone seems agreed that it occurred with such frightful rapidity that there was no time for M. Berteaux, M. Monis, and the others injured to escape.

Eye Witness Tells of Disaster.

M. Hersand, a nephew of former Premier Dupuy, whose newspaper, the Petit Parisien, arranged the race, said:

"M. Berteaux was just asking me who would be the next starter, and I was consulting my program to answer him, when, glancing upward, I saw the monoplane plunging and careening toward us.

"'Lookout,' I cried, and the next instant the wing of the aeroplane grazed my side. Looking around, I saw the minister of war ten feet away, with his arm severed from his body as though by a surgeon's knife. His head was crushed.

"Premier Monis lay motionless, face downward. I thought him dead. M. Deutsch, his face ghastly pale, was trying to rise to his feet."

M. Monis Jr. said that he thought he saved his father's life by pushing him violently to the ground the moment he saw the machine plunging through the air. The ministerial party, he declared, was hidden from the pilot's view by the detachment of cuirassiers. In avoiding these Train crashed down upon the group like a bolt from the sky.

Races Suspended for Day.

M. Dupuy immediately after the disaster announced that the races had been suspended. M. Lepine issued a formal order to that effect, declaring it would be impossible to continue, for a large part of the aviation field already was covered by vast crowds.

Late this afternoon, however, the Aero club decided that the six airmen who had not started today should have an opportunity to do so tomorrow morning.

M. Berteaux's body was placed in a closed automobile and escorted from the field by a squadron of dragoons with swords at salute, while tens of thousands of persons stood uncovered.

Paul Deumer, former president of the chamber of deputies and the most intimate friend of the family, communicated the news of her husband's death to the minister's widow. He said Mme. Berteaux showed admirable courage.

The body of M. Berteaux lies at the ministry in the same room from which recently his predecessor, Gen. Brun, was buried.

Monis Shows Bravery.

Premier Monis, while being taken from the field in an ambulance repeated over and over again in a low voice: "It is nothing, it is nothing," and, when he had somewhat regained a clearer consciousness, said his injuries must not interfere with the race. He did not know M. Berteaux was dead.

Doctors set the fractures without the aid of anæsthetics. Mme. Monis had planned to give a children's party at her house today. The rooms were full of flowers and the premier's wife was arranging these when the ambulance arrived.

The pilot of the monoplane, who has not been prominent in aviation circles, and his passenger, Bounier, were examined by the state attorney, who is investigating the cause of the accident. Train was heartbroken that a national calamity was due to his efforts to avoid injury to the troops.

Aviator Explains Disaster.

In explanation of his maneuvers he said his idea when he started was to make two or three turns around the grounds to assure himself his machine was in working order before beginning the scheduled flight.

Immediately he was in the air it was apparent to him that his motor was not "pulling" properly, so he prepared to land in order to regulate it after turning the end of the field.

"At that moment," said the pilot, "I saw a troop of cuirassiers galloping across the track. I tried to turn sharply back on myself and land well away from the soldiders, but my motor slowed more and more, making it impossible for me to accomplish the circle. I then decided the best course would be to fly over the cavalry and land on the other side, and I turned the plane upward.

"At this juncture a group or persons, previously hidden by the cuirassiers, scattered in all directions.

"I tried the impossible and risked the life of my passenger to prolong the flight over them, and I had almost succeeded, when the machine gave a lurch and collapsed heavily. I jumped out, as did Bounier also, convinced that I had avoided all accident. It was only when I was on my feet that I saw the terrible catastrophe."

Train is a small constructor, who made a machine for his personal use with which he flew to Mourmelon recently. He had already received an order to construct fifteen machines for the ministries of war and the colonies.

President Fallieres Acts.

President Fallieres called on both Mmes Berteaux and Monis and the king and queen of Denmark, who were leaving Paris in the forenoon, sent their minister of the household to express their grief. The American ambassador and the other foreign representatives left cards of condolence and sympathy.

M. Fallieres summoned his cabinet, and M. Cruppi, minister of foreign affairs, was designated to fulfill the duties of minister of war, pending further developments, and temporarily to act as head of the cabinet.

Reports were circulated to the effect that Premier Monis might resign and the ministry be reorganized.

M. Fallieres decided that it would be better for the king of Servia to postpone his intended visit, and sent a special mission to Basle, headed by M. Coullard-Descos, the French minister at Belgrade, to inform King Peter officially.

The general opinion is held that the lesson to be learned from the catastrophe is that the rule prohibiting spectators on the aviation field is one that should not be violated even by members of the government.

Bertaux's Loss Blow to France.

M. Berteaux was born in 1852, and had long held a prominent place in the political and financial interests of France. Privately he was an official stock broker, and was reputed to be wealthy.

M. Berteaux succeeded Gen. Andre as minister of war, but resigned on Jan. 18, 1905. Five days later he was reappointed and accepted. On Oct. 10 following, however, after an exciting debate in the chamber of deputies, he resigned, and two days later was succeeded in the ministry of war by M. Etienne.

When M. Monis was called on to form a cabinet last March, he selected Berteaux for the war portfolio. The latter was credited with having precipitated the fall of the Briand cabinet by his interpellation in the chamber a few days before. Berteaux was known as a Socialist, and opposed the Briand government in the treatment of the recent French railway strike. It was no secret that he cherished an ambition to become a candidate for president in 1913.

His death is especially untimely for France, as with M. Cruppi he was directing the present delicate Moroccan question, which is still far from settlement.

Almost from its inception M. Berteaux exhibited a keen interest in aviation, and as early as 1905 he made an ascent in the Le Baudy military balloon. Much of the credit for the French army's preëminence in aviation was given to the war minister.

Monis' Disability Affects Nation.

Premier Monis is classed as a Radical Republican in French politics. He is a lawyer and has sat in the senate for Gironde since 1891. Until called upon on March 1 last to form a new cabinet to succeed the Briand ministry he had been vice president of the senate since Jan. 1, 1906. He was born in 1840.

M. Monis took a prominent part in the overthrow of the Bourgeois ministry in 1896. As minister of justice in the Waldeck-Rousseau cabinet, he signed the decree convoking the High court to try the royalist plot against the republic in 1899. His disability now is especially important. The questions of old age pensions, the delimitation of the champagne district, and the Moroccan imbroglio all require the presence in the chamber of the premier, and for the time being all are to be held up.

Fatalities in Previous Race.

Fatality seems to be linked with Paris to Madrid contests. In the automobile race in 1908 so many persons had been killed before the racers had reached Bordeaux it was called off, and there has been none since. Today's race was under the patronage of the war office. Of the four aviators who started only one, M. Garros, arrived in Angouleme. Gilbert reached Pontlevoy, where he learned of the catastrophe, and decided to proceed no further.

Beaumont landed at Amay-sur-Indre to inquire the way. On attempting to reascend a gust of wind dashed him against a tree, damaging the left wing of his machine. Lelasseur was lost in a fog and came down near Cosne.

AERO INJURIES 100 PERSONS.

ODESSA, May 21.—It is reported from Kursk, capital of the government of the same name, that an aeroplane fell among a crowd of sightseers on Saturday, injuring 100 persons. Five are not expected to recover.

AVIATOR RUNS INTO FENCE.

Centralia, Ill., May 21.—[Special.]—Centralia's two days' aviation meet came to an abrupt close this afternoon, when Walt Gregory of Los Angeles, with a Gates biplane, crashed through a fence, breaking the machine. The collision was witnessed by 2,000 persons. Gregory was only slightly hurt.

Aviator Falls; Aero Burns.

St. Louis, Mo., May 21.—[Special.]—John N. Sparling, an East St. Louis aviator, was injured at Kinloch park today when his biplane fell twelve feet to the ground and burned. The aviator's nose was skinned and his hands were burned when he attempted to save his machine from the flames.

Sneed of New York, wife of the manager of the British-American Tobacco trust, who is on his way to New York. Mrs. Snead was drowned when the Tamba Maru was 155 miles out from Shanghai, where the family embarked. Her death is surrounded by mystery. Whether she fell overboard or was thrown overboard is not known. The family appeared happy.

SIGN PEACE TERMS; MEXICO WAR ENDS

DIAZ PLEDGED TO RESIGN.

Full Concessions Obtained by the Insurgents Are Not Shown in Document.

Juarez, Mexico, May 21.—Officially designated representatives of the Mexican government and the revolutionists late tonight signed a peace agreement intended to end the hostilities in Mexico.

Though covering only the principal points negotiated thus far, the agreement practically records the concessions by the government of those demands which started, on Nov. 20 last, armed revolution in Mexico. Telegrams announcing the signing of the agreement were dispatched throughout Mexico to revolutionary and federal leaders.

Constitutional restrictions prevented the inclusion in the agreement of the fact that the rebels will be permitted to suggest to various state legislatures the names of provisional governors and likewise the fact that six of the eight members of the new cabinet have been chosen by the revolutionists, but the agreement records that President Diaz and Vice President Corral will resign and that the government is to concentrate its attentions on desired reforms.

Text of the Agreement.

Following is the text of the agreement:

In the city of Juarez, on the 21st day of May, 1911, in the customs house, Señor Don Francisco S. Carbajal, representing the government of Gen. Porfirio Diaz; Dr. Francisco Vasquez Gomez, Don Francisco I. Madero, and Don José Maria Pino Suarez, as the representatives of the revolutionary forces, having gathered to treat about the method of effecting a cessation of hostilities in the entire national territory, and considering:

1. That Señor Gen. Porfirio Diaz has manifested his resolution of resigning the presidency of the republic before the end of the present month; and

2. That bona fide news is at hand that Ramon Corral will resign the vice presidency of the republic within the same period; and,

3. That, by the administration of law, Señor Francisco Leon de la Barra, the present minister of foreign relations of the government of Señor Gen. Diaz, will assume for the interim the power of the executive of the nation, and will call the general elections according to the terms of the constitution; and,

Abide by Public Opinion.

4. That the national government will study the conditions of public opinion in the actuality to satisfy these conditions with the provisions of the constitution and will come to an agreement conducive to indemnifying the losses directly caused by the revolution.

Therefore, the two parties represented in this conference, in view of the previous considerations, have agreed to formulate the following agreement:

From today on hostilities which have existed in the entire national territory of the republic shall cease between the forces of the government and those of the revolution, these forces to be dismissed in proportion as in each state the necessary steps are taken to reëstablish and guarantee tranquility and public order.

As soon as possible the reconstruction or repair of telegraph and railway lines hitherto interrupted shall be begun.

Long Dispute Over Agreement.

The agreement was signed after three days of indecision, Francisco I. Madero, Jr., leader of the revolution, expressing the view that peace could be declared only when Señor de la Barra became provisional president and the new cabinet was installed.

Some of his chiefs argued otherwise, declaring that armed forces in the field in the interim might precipitate trouble. It was suggested, too, that in deference to the wish of President Diaz to retire when tranquility was restored, the peace agreement be made immediate, as his resignation is expected within four or five days.

Señor Madero's hesitancy was based on the idea that a peace agreement could have no legal effect, inasmuch as one of the parties, the revolutionists, expired when peace was declared. It was pointed out to him, however, that a peace treaty in the legal sense of the word was not desired, but merely a signed declaration recording what had been done toward satisfying the demands of the revolutionists.

Troops to Be Disbanded.

The troops will be disbanded proportionately as each state is restored to tranquility. As the revolution in many states has been incited by the opposition to the governors, the retention of armed forces until the new governors are installed constitutes a practica' guarantee that the issue will not be evaded.

Francisco I. Madero Jr. will remain here five or six days longer. He will start for Mexico City via Chihuahua and Torreon immediately after President Diaz has resigned. In Mexico City he will confer with Señor de la Barra about the question of the governors, the new cabinet, and the laws which it is hoped can be formulated before congress adjourns covering disputed points for which legislation is the only remedy.

REBELS OCCUPY CUERNAVACA.

Mexico City, May 21.—In the name of peace Gen. Ambrosio Figueroa this morning took possession of Cuernavaca, which was deserted by Col. Munguia and the federal force. The rebel leader justifies his violation of the armistice by the statement that he entered the town solely for the purpose of maintaining order.

When the residents learned that Munguia and his men had gone there was a rush of citizens and civil authorities to follow him on his march to the capital. A committee was hastily named and sent to meet Figueroa and ask him to use his forces in the maintenance of order. Promptly at 11 o'clock the rebels marched into town. Not a shot was fired.

Minister of Foreign Relations de la Barra looked disappointed today when he stated that owing to the non-arrival of advices from Madero he could not announce the personnel of the new cabinet.

The condition of President Diaz was reported as showing further improvement today.

REBELS CAPTURE TORREON.

Laredo, Texas, May 21.—At the end of a rope which had been tied around his neck, Dr. J. W. Lim, a Chinese banker, was dragged around the plaza at Torreon, Mex., until his body was a mass of broken bones and bleeding wounds, according to reports reaching here today.

From the same source of information details of a three days' battle at Torreon between revolutionists and federals were received. The battle, in which 200 federals were killed, is said to have occurred May 13, 14, and 15, and resulted in a rebel victory. The rebel losses were not given.

Dr. Lim was one of the wealthiest and most prominent Chinese in north Mexico.

EUGENE SCHMITZ "BROKE"; STRANDED IN MEXICAN TOWN.

Fortune of Half Million, Result of Grafting in San Francisco, Lost by Poor Investments.

San Francisco, Cal., May 21.—[Special.—Former Mayor Eugene Schmitz is reported to be "broke." He is stranded in Mexico and in need of money to get home. His fortune, estimated at nearly half a million, which was gained through wholesale grafting on large corporations, was dissipated by bad mining and business ventures.

When Schmitz was trying to get out of jail on bail after being entangled with Boss Ruef in the graft cases, he obtained the assistance of William J. Dingee, the Oakland capitalist. In return Dingee induced him to invest many thousands of dollars in a large cement factory near Santa Cruz, in this state. This company was ruined when Dingee failed last year and Schmitz lost all he had invested in it. A gold mine in which he invested also pinched out.

Schmitz then started for Sinaloa, Mexico, where his brother is interested in mining, but a letter was received yesterday by one of his old friends saying that the mine was worthless and that Schmitz needs money to reach home.

'DIVORCE' TRIPS STAR SPELLER.

Girl Who Is Successful for Four Hours in Contest at Peoria Falls on the Word.

Peoria, Ill., May 21.—[Special.—After successfully spelling catch words for four hours at the annual county spelling bee here, conducted by the county superintendent, Miss Myrtle Hagen, aged 14, of Limestone, failed on the word "divorce," spelling it "divourse." The most difficult word to many was "apparel." Every contestant apparently had "crammed" on the word "separate," as all spelled it correctly. Hundreds of seventh and eighth grade pupils took part. Prof. Hayes told Miss Hagen not to worry—that divorce was a bad word anyway and had kept many individuals out of first place.

TWO MEN ARE FOUND DEAD.

One Expires on Van Buren Street, the Other in House at 1520 Michigan Avenue.

Two men were found dead at 11 o'clock last night, one in a rooming house at 1520 Michigan avenue, and the other on the sidewalk in front of 241 West Van Buren street.

The Michigan avenue man was Walter Dixon, 45 years old. He had been dead forty-eight hours. The identity of the other has not been established. He was a consumptive.

2 CONVICTS TAKEN; 1 FOUND IN TREE

POSSE TRAILS 2 OTHERS.

Three of Men Spent Night in Cemetery; Got Arms by Robbing Farmers.

William Butsch, a confidence man, and Joseph Folks, a negro burglar from Chicago, two of the six prisoners who escaped from the quarry guards at the Joliet penitentiary during a hurricane on Saturday, were captured yesterday, the first after he had taken refuge, like an animal, in a tree, and the second while he lay hidden in a barn.

Butsch did not give up his fight for liberty until he was compelled to. An exchange of pistol shots was necessary before he came to terms. He was taken at about 3:30 in the afternoon. The negro was caught six hours later in a hole under a pile of hay, six miles southeast of Joliet.

Two other convicts, R. A. Adkins, a burglar, and George Conners, serving a term for robbery, who, Butsch says, were the companions of his flight, are believed to be hiding in the same strip of woods in which Butsch was taken. A posse searched it thoroughly, but could not find them.

Convict Caught in Tree.

In the twenty-four hours that he had been at liberty the confidence man, smart and shrewd as he is, had been able to get only eleven miles away from his prison. He had made his way in a zigzag course of sudden dashes and slow crawls to a grove one and a half miles from Elwood, which is south of Joliet.

There the ever widening cordon flung out from the penitentiary caught up with him. With the beaters at his heels the hunted man swung himself into a tall elm and sought to hide himself among the leafy branches. But the keen eyes of an 18 year old farmer boy named Palmer picked him out of his hiding place.

"Come on down," shouted Palmer, "and give yourself up."

Two other shots were exchanged, and then Butsch committed the second offense of which he has been guilty since he got away from his guards. The first was burglary. He and his two fellow fugitives had robbed a farmer's house to get arms and a change of clothing. The second was plagiarism. Butsch filched in his emergency a famous sentence from the much told tale about Davy Crockett and the coon.

"Don't shoot," he said, "I'll come down."

Tells How They Escaped.

Butsch said that when the hurricane hit the quarry he and Adkins and Conners fled to the prison cemetery, about half a mile from the quarry. There, exposed to all the wildness of the storm and with the graves of dead felons around them, they slept, or tried to sleep, until a few hours before dawn.

It was still night when they started on. Their first stopping place was a farmhouse east of Joliet, which they broke into and in which they each got pistols and new clothing. They then hurried south. Their progress after that was slow, for they had to avoid every one and steal from one cover to another. They got into the grove where Butsch was caught at about 2 o'clock and were resting when the searchers caught up with them.

ORGANIZED ARMY SWATS THE FLIES

Crusade Against Germ Carriers Assumes Definite Shape in Single Day.

SCHOOLS TO BE ENLISTED.

Ella Flagg Young Plans Co-operation with Federal and City Health Men.

The fly swatting campaign for 1911, which was opened in Chicago yesterday, made rapid progress during the day.

Anti-fly experts conferred and arranged to put into execution suggestions for aggressive resistance to the germ carrying vermin.

Enlistment of the public school system of Chicago as an organization to educate the growing generation in fly-ology.

Enlistment of the city lawmakers in the work of preliminary investigation as a basis for sane ordinances bearing on the subject.

Commencement of a broad campaign of publicity by means of posters, rubber stamps, literature, and inspection by the health department.

Definite Campaign Planned.

From the leading anti-fly experts came statements as to means by which not only definite results from a great swatting campaign would result, but which would lead to the permanent dislodgment of the fly from its position as leading germ bearer of the insect species. To this end publicity and education was suggested. To put the suggestion into effect, definite proposals were made, and as a result there was under way before evening a plan for introducing a form of public school instruction on the subject, and a plan for some sane action in securing ordinances covering a few of the fundamental points in the fight.

Next Wednesday, also, a report upon this subject will be submitted to the City club by members of a committee which has had the question of household pets and their relation to public health under consideration. Dr. George B. Young of the Public Health and Marine hospital service of the United States said last night that the report was not formulated yet, but he gave, informally, his views on fly swatting as one of the important features of summer life both in Chicago and elsewhere.

Thinks Schools Great Factor.

Dr. Young is especially interested in the employment of the school organization as a factor in the fight against the fly. He also discussed the subject from the standpoint of suppression of the propagation of flies, and of regulating by law the exclusion of flies from the proximity of typhoid and other patients.

"The greatest reliance in this fight," he said, "must be placed upon the public. Until the public is aroused, and until recognized measures are employed by the public, this crusade will accomplish little in the way of definite results.

"As a means of publicity for these recognized measures the school system of Chicago would be invaluable. There are two reasons why this is true. In the first place the child of school age is more susceptible to impressions than the adult. In the second place the teachings of our schools have a deeper and more effective significance in the homes of our poorer citizens than perhaps in the homes of the more wealthy. In fact, among the foreign families the schools wield a tremendous influence, and the teachings of the schools are carried into the homes of the pupils to a great extent.

Long Fight Only Remedy.

"In all movements of this kind a long period of agitation and discussion is necessary. In this subject it is not a question of tomorrow or this summer or next summer. If great good is to be accomplished. It is the permanent education of the public that will count in the long run, and for this reason one of the most vital points to be reached, if permanent good is to be accomplished, is the public school system.

"Laws and ordinances bearing upon reforms in such matters as these are usually hurriedly put together and generally not enforced. The result is a reaction which harms more than helps the cause. The fly subject extends to an infinitude of directions, and regulations to be made should at first only bear upon fundamental precautions."

Plans Special Courses.

Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of Chicago schools, has entered into the spirit of fly warfare, and signified her intention of introducing a special course on flies in the school system of the city, in accordance with Dr. Young's idea.

"I do not believe, if we embraced the study of the fly in the curriculum," said Mrs. Young, "that it would have an effect so practical as that from a special course. If this subject were a regular study, it would of necessity be confined to certain grades or a certain grade in the schools.

"But if special courses are prepared in forms that will make it possible to teach phases of the problem which can be readily understood, especially analyzed and prepared for every grade from the primary up, this practical teaching will reach the entire school attendance of the city, and, following, will reach the parents and homes in the course of time.

"If the health department will cause full information upon the subject to be transmitted to the board of education, the subject will be made a matter of serious consideration, for I believe that a good work can be accomplished, and practical results may be attained, which will be of a permanent character and most beneficial to the community. I will be ready to take up the subject when the health commissioner suggests, and we may evolve a most valuable branch of study."

Health Department Busy.

Dr. Gottfried Koehler, acting commissioner of health, outlined the routine activities of the health department in the anti-fly campaign. Posters, circulars, leaflets, and printed instructions have been prepared with a view of impressing the public through the medium of terse, pithy observations regarding the fly and what it will do, if not prevented.

A special feature of the health department's publicity campaign is a rubber stamp impression showing an index finger pointing at a fly with the words: "Kill that Fly" at the top of the design. This illustration will be stamped on every piece of mail leaving the office of the health department and is designed with a view of keeping the subject uppermost in the minds of as many persons as possible.

Dr. Koehler also said that the health department was working toward securing preliminary fly ordinances.

"The work itself," he said, "must be done by the people. The sanitary bureau can do a great deal in getting the city clean, but the people must do the real work."

Chicago younsters went on a rampage yesterday.

Little nomads—labeled "lost" or "runaway"—converted many of the police stations into playhouses until frantic parents appeared to take them home.

Policemen began to harvest the crop of rambling youngsters early in the day, and the migration to the stations did not cease until dark. But before midnight most of them had been "recovered."

Just what particular brand of wanderlust caused Chicago's rising generation to leave home was not discovered. For the hegira comprised approximately an equal number of both sexes. And it was not limited to any nationality

Wander in Search of Candy.

Three little Lithuanians started out bravely from 1515 Canal street to visit a confectionery store around the corner. There were two girls and a boy. Each had a penny.

But they could not see the kind of candy they wanted so they strayed farther down the street to another "candy kitchen." But the confection they sought was not there, and they roved on and on.

Then a big policeman found them and they were crying. They were lost and could not tell where they lived or their names. So the policeman called the patrol wagon and sent the trio to the Harrison street station. There they cried more and were given pennies.

All day they waited. At dark the mother appeared, bareheaded and drenched. She had rushed about the streets in the rain searching for her babies. When she saw them she burst out crying for joy and the children joined in. Thus the story of most of the young wayfarers is told.

More Reported Lost.

Here is a list of some that were reported yesterday as missing:

COWZY, JOHN, 8 years old, 800 South Jefferson street.
LEONI, HARRY, 5 years old, 617 North Clark street.
WILSON, FRANK, 8 years old, 2302 West Thirty-fifth street.

Last week more than 100 children were reported to the police as missing. Most of them have returned home. The epidemic of wanderlust caused the police to be on the alert, and yesterday any child that appeared to be lost was taken to a station.

SICK MAN ENDS HIS OWN LIFE.

Children Find Father Hanging from Door in North Side House.

Ill health is believed to have been responsible for the suicide of Henry Hotze, 43 years old, 1138 North Lincoln street, whose body was found hanging from a door in his bedroom last evening by his two children, William, 19 years old, and Bertha, 15 years old.

Hotze, a few minutes before he was found in the room, had told his children that he was going to bed and bade them good-by.

DEALS BLOW AT BLACK HAND.

Schuettler's Scheme Results in Arrest of 104 Italians for Carrying Weapons.

Assistant Chief of Police Herman Schuettler believes that at last he has solved the problem of stopping Black Hand murders, his scheme put into practice Nov. 1 having resulted in the arrest of 104 Italians found carrying concealed weapons. Their fines amounted to $3,000. Since that date alleged Black Hand murders have decreased rapidly. Detectives invaded all the Italian saloons and searched all suspicious looking men.

GIRLS TO LEARN TO 'HOP' CARS

Chicago Schools Inaugurate New Personal Safety Course.

MRS. YOUNG AS PIONEER.

Launches First Venture of Its Kind in Educational Work.

Another traditional estate of the jokesmith is about to be wrested from his possession.

If the newest course of instruction in the city schools is successful, a few more years will see the quips and gibes concerning the woman who leaves a street car facing the wrong way fall flat, with no commercial or laughing value.

Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, is the author of the latest inroad upon the jesters' declining stock in trade. She announced last night that some time in the coming week the first regular lessons in boarding and leaving street cars would be given in the schools.

Course Specially Prepared.

The course on street car conduct, which is probably the first of its kind in the world, has been especially prepared for Chicago school children and will consist of talks upon the subject by the teachers, exhibiting and explaining illustrations and perhaps some practical work by the pupils, under the direction of their teachers a little later on.

Supt. Young is of the opinion that the young women of the next generation will be able to swing on and off a car gracefully and with precision and she has hopes that the course will serve to make both the young men and the young women exercise more care in stepping past the rear of a street car when there is likelihood of another car passing on the opposite track.

Seeks to Eliminate Danger.

"There are too many persons injured by street cars because of their inability to perform the apparently simple acts of boarding or leaving them or crossing the tracks," said Mrs. Young. "It is for the purpose of teaching the children the mechanical requisites of this daily act, as well as to teach the exercise of care, that we have prepared this course and will put it into execution.

"At first only boarding and leaving the cars will be taught, but a little later there will be instruction on how to safely cross the car tracks, and especial stress will be laid upon the custom, now quite prevalent among persons of all ages, of crossing behind a car without making certain that another car is not approaching on the opposite track."

THINKS HER HUSBAND DROWNED

Hawthorne Woman Believes Man Found in Drainage Canal Is Her Spouse.

Mrs. Mary Ewazdowics, 5061 Thirty-second place, Hawthorne, told the Morton Park police last night she believed from the description she read in the paper that the body of a man taken from the drainage canal near Summit Saturday was that of her husband who left home May 10 and has not returned. He was an iron molder.

POLICE FIRE; AUTOISTS FLEE

Occupants of Car That Hits Man Escape in Hail of Bullets.

ONE TIRE STRUCK BY SHOT.

Victim Unconscious in Street as Careless Crew Rushes Off.

Policemen fired at an automobile at State and Twenty-first streets last night after it had hit and knocked down John Le Boie, as he was walking over the crossing. The autoists escaped.

The automobile is said to have whirled around the corner at a high rate of speed and to have rushed down on Le Boie without warning. Le Boie was hit in the face by the guards of the machine and thrown several feet.

Shoot Hole in Tire.

Policemen Doran and Connors called on the autoists to stop, but they failed to do so. The policemen then shot twice after the departing machine, and one of the shots hit a rear tire. The tire exploded and flattened, but the occupants of the car rushed away on the crippled wheel.

Car Owned by Casey Man?

The car is said to have been occupied by an elderly man, a younger companion, and two women. All seemed in a hilarious mood. The number of the machine, witnesses say, was 11,287. The police record indicates that W. W. Shuler of Casey, Ill., is the owner of the machine of that number when the license was obtained.

Le Boie was unconscious when picked up, but soon recovered and was taken care of nearby.

POLICE HOLD RAVING MANIAC.

Man Picked Up in Rain on Pickle Farm Tries to Dash Out His Brains.

George Schicki was brought to the East Chicago avenue police station yesterday evening by the Summerdale police, who had found him wandering about a farm, barefooted, in the rain. He became violent in his cell and for a time threatened to dash his brains out against the walls.

Nothing could be done to quiet him until Dr. Thomas Henessy, who has offices next door to the station, was called and quieted the man by bathing his face with cold water.

Reports circulated earlier in the evening that the man had been driven mad by the death of an only child were found to be untrue. Schicki lives at 2517 Winona avenue.

SOUTH WATER STREET FIRE DESTROYS $15,000 IN FRUIT.

Guests in Nearby Hotels Prepare to Flee When Flames Attack the Premises at 133.

Fifteen thousand dollars worth of fruits and produce were destroyed by fire last night in the South Water street commission district, between Clark and Dearborn streets.

The fire started in the four story building occupied by Eck, Wegeforth & Co. and Pierce & Co. at 133 South Water street. Before the arrival of the firemen flames were shooting through the roof, lighting up the entire block.

Guests of the Albes, the Greenleaf, the St. Charles, and the Tremont hotels in Clark street, between South Water and Lake streets, were alarmed. Many of the guests prepared to flee.

Fire in a three story brick building at 717 South Wabash avenue was followed by a small explosion and caused a damage of $25.

KISSING COLLEGE URGED FOR YOUNG

CARESSES TO GO BY RULE.

Chaperons to Be Abolished and Affection Fostered by System.

At last it is here—the perfectly scientific courtship.

It is the plan of Prof. Robert E. Blount of the Waller High school of Oak Park, who first proposed it at a conference of the Child Welfare exhibit.

When you sit on the benches in the park, and you're engaged and it's all right, when you ask for just one more kiss don't be surprised if she turns to you and says:

"No, George; it isn't according to Blount."

If you are a modest young woman and you are fond of a certain young man and you want to know if it would be proper for you to let him see your true feelings, it will no longer be necessary to write Laura Jean to know what course to pursue. Instructions on such subjects will be part of the school curriculum.

"I believe," said Prof. Blount, in advocating the "kissing colleges" in which the "art of spooning" is to be taught, "that there should be a proper course of instruction, preparing children for married life. This instruction should begin in infancy and continue through life and youth.

Thinks Chaperon System Bad.

"Courtship should not be left to chance and the unguided impulses of youth," said Prof. Blount. "Nor is the guardian's duty done when he has impressed the importance of the proprieties on his charges. To this negative instruction must be added positive counsel and training.

"The European method of chaperonage is prohibitive of true courtship. The very common practice in America of allowing engaged couples almost unlimited facilities for private meetings without much regard to time and place, and without any instruction that would prepare them for making good use of such privilege, is not a good one.

"Courtship ought to be studied carefully by those intrusted with the training of young people, to the end that it may lead up to a beautiful married life.

"Sweethearts need to be alone together. Their love grows with expression. They ought to have opportunity for their endearments. But they should be carefully taught the difference between affection and passion.

Should Be Allowed to Plan.

"There are a thousand and one things for sweethearts to talk over. We who are older know that they will try to map out their whole life plans, and then, as the years pass, will fail to live up to their scheme. But that is nothing against their working out the plan.

"This conscientious planning helps to make life more harmonious and lifts it to a higher plane. Questions of money management, of occupation, of children, of cooperative social or religious work are a few of the many that ought to be intelligently discussed. There are phases of these questions that should be discussed in groups of young people, under the leadership of older heads.

"Courtship is too important a factor in life to be dwarfed by undue espionage. Young people must be prepared for it by proper training, and then, only after adequate instruction, should they be provided the opportunity for private meeting."

Convict Raids Resort.

Edward Gill of 1324 South Dearborn street, a colored ex-convict, was arrested by policemen from the Twenty-second street station yesterday after he had entered a resort at 1612 South Dearborn street and chased the inmates into the street.

SHOE COMFORT

In hot weather is a problem to most people. How often we hear the expression, "My feet are so tired—they feel like they were burning up."

My dear reader, don't blame your feet—blame your shoes—that's where the trouble lies.

Reason with yourself—how can you expect to get shoes to fit you made from stock lasts?

There is only one way to get comfortable shoes, and that is by wearing shoes made over your own feet. This I accomplish by taking a cast of the feet in plaster paris, thereby producing lasts the exact duplicate of the feet, and build the shoes over these lasts.

I am the inventor of this system of shoe building, together with my other inventions of shoes for the deformed, lame, etc.

MY LATEST INVENTION—THE

Larson Anatomic STA-RIGHT SHOE

for those who suffer with broken arches, weak ankles and flat feet—solves the problem of shoe comfort.

At the instep steel plates are inserted to keep the arch bone in the position that nature intended. In the upper part of the shoes is a canvas in which whalebone staves are inserted to support the ankle.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

SUBWAY HEARING WILL OPEN TODAY

Council Transportation Committee Summons Arnold as First Expert.

ST. JOHN PLAN OUTLINED

Former City Employe Has System Mapped Out for Initial Through Routes.

The council transportation committee today will begin the investigations that are to result in the building of Chicago's subway. Bion J. Arnold, head of the bureau of supervising engineers, will explain his plans at the committee meeting today. John Ericson, former city engineer, will be heard at the second meeting. George W. Jackson will follow, and B. C. St. John, former assistant subway engineer under Mr. Arnold, will submit his ideas at the final session. The hearings are expected to be completed this week and the committee will hake a selection as quickly as possible.

The plan of Mr. St. John contains many features that are not found in other reports made public. Taken generally, his contention is that the adoption of his plan would insure a through routing system that would embrace all sides of the city at a minimum cost—$16,000,000—and would not interfere with the construction of additional subways in any street. There would be no grade crossings, and the capacity per hour would be 250,000 passengers.

Cost Kept at Low Mark.

The St. John plan comprises 5.4 miles of subway, or 21.5 miles of single track. The cost per mile of single track would be $700,000, as against $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 in other cities. He proposes to continue the stub terminals of the L roads, and suggests utilising two sides of the present loop—on Fifth avenue and Van Buren streets—so as to give another means of through routing in addition to the subway. Eventually these elevated structures would be replaced by subways, but Mr. St. John thinks the section involved should not be shut off from adequate service, nor should a subway loop succeed the present overhead scheme. The routing plan is as follows:

A north and south subway from Chicago avenue to Twelfth street through North and South State streets, with a two track connection with the Northwestern elevated at or near Franklin street and a two track connection with the South Side elevated at or near Twelfth street. Also a portal at Chicago avenue, near Dearborn avenue, and a portal in South State street, near Twelfth, for connection with the surface lines. Cost, $7,500,000.

East and West Routes.

Also two east and west subways, one of which should be in Randolph street from North State to a connection with the Oak Park elevated at or near Sangamon, and a portal just east of Desplaines street for a connection with the surface lines; the other in Harrison street from South State to a connection with the Metropolitan elevated lines at or near Sangamon, and a portal just east of Desplaines for connection with the surface lines. Cost, $7,500,000.

"The financing of the subway by the city could easily be accomplished," Mr. St. John asserts. "At present the city has about $6,000,000 available for this purpose and additional funds coming in at the rate of about $1,500,000 a year. In three and one-half or four years, the time necessary for construction, the street railways would have furnished the city with the necessary amount."

The St. John plan is for a high level subway, with room for a lower level without encountering the Illinois tunnel. The cantilever style of construction would permit this, it is asserted. "It is found impossible to include the Van Buren, Washington, and La Salle street river tunnels, the engineer claiming," they are not located so that they might economically be used in connection with any initial subway system."

This plan has single bores between stations and a drainage system so the tubes can be washed nightly to improve hygienic and aromatic conditions. A system of ventilation by fans and exhaust pipes is also provided.

Would Widen Sidewalks.

Mr. St. John favors the widening of sidewalks, as on State street, from twenty to thirty feet, as facilitating the arrangement of station entrances as well as being essential for pedestrian traffic. With surface cars in subways he thinks vehicle traffic can easily be handled in a roadway of twenty feet less width.

The initial plan provides for four tracks each on Harrison and Randolph, two surface and two elevated, and six on State street. The latter tube will have a capacity for eight tracks, if the necessity arises, at but little additional expense. Mr. St. John estimates ten car trains like those in use on the elevated lines can be run at 1½ minute intervals at the maximum.

As to the relief afforded by a subway, the following estimate is made of the suggested initial subways with theoretical maximum traffic of the surface and elevated lines, but not including the latter's stub terminal traffic:

Elevated	80,000	59,000
Surface	90,000	87,000
Totals	170,000	146,000

The estimates are based on a seats per hour basis, the L cars seating fifty and the surface forty, but each containing about 100, including standers, during rush hours.

OAK PARK DONS CITY "FRILLS."

Puts on a Crossing Policeman to Guard Traffic—Just Like Chicago.

Oak Park has become so metropolitan that it has to have a crossing policeman—just like Chicago. Henry Lembke has been assigned to the job at the junction of Wisconsin avenue and the Oak Park elevated and the Northwestern tracks.

The Northwestern tracks are being elevated and the police are using extra caution in looking after the crowds.

Three sets of gates, a watchman for the elevated road, and Lembke now guard the tracks.

TWENTY-EIGHT years of success through TRIBUNE want ads! This is the experience of the gentleman who writes today's success story. Returning penniless from a venture in Dakota, this man, at the age of 30, set out to learn his first trade. It requires some courage to do this, and he had it.

Securing a position through a TRIBUNE want ad—they were potent then as now—he worked in his other hours mastering the trade of engineering. When he had learned this he secured a position and advanced himself steadily. He had a family and, yearning for the country, he again sought THE TRIBUNE'S aid and secured a pretty patch of woodland in a suburb.

Now, again through THE TRIBUNE'S aid, he has an offer as master mechanic of a chain of plants stretching across the whole country.

This is a remarkable story and one which should put heart into the downcast. Speaking of "downcast," which is a word used in a certain man's speech a few months ago, see what F. A. E. says in the last sentence of his letter:

This is a story with my idea of success as the finish, that is, if you call contentment success. I never learned a trade when I was young, but fooled around at a number of things, making a success of none. In 1883 I went to Dakota in the boom days and opened a small store, but a crop failure put me out of business, and I returned to Chicago, borrowing a dollar to make up my car fare.

I was certainly up against it for awhile, but through a TRIBUNE want ad I landed a job as night watchman, and I started to learning my first trade, engineering, at the age of 30. That was the turning point. My bad luck began to change, and after getting a little money ahead and sending for the wife and babies, I decided it would be good policy to have a home of my own.

My wife and I were always fond of the woods, so we again had recourse to THE TRIBUNE want ads and picked out and bought one-half acre of ground on payments. It took us about two years to pay for our land, and in the meanwhile I was slowly getting ahead in my trade and increasing my salary.

I have before me as I write a letter from a large corporation, having offices in New York, Seattle, and other points, offering me the position of master mechanic of the chain of plants. This also came to me from a want ad in THE TRIBUNE. The salary offered is a good one.

We have our house of six rooms. I have a position with fine prospects of advancement, and the beginning and end of this story is that what success I have had has come to me through TRIBUNE ads, and I consider my life more of a success than if I had been elected to the United States senate by the bathroom route.

"CITY SHOULD OWN CARS"

England's Municipal Plan Censor Opposes Sharing of Streets.

CALLS LOOPS "DETESTABLE"

Urges End of Existing Evils Before Planning for the Future Needs.

Chicago is housing a visitor who declares the elevated loop "detestable," and for that, among other reasons, is a strong advocate of subways. He also preaches municipal ownership as a certain cure.

He is Thomas Adams of London, whose official position is a sort of landscape architect for the national board which controls the town planning movements of the Britons. All designs for cities beautiful must first receive his O. K. before they can be put into effect.

Mr. Adams has been in the United States a fortnight, having attended the recent National Town Planning congress at Philadelphia. Since that time he has inspected the transportation, park systems, and other kindred civic problems in New York, Washington, and Cleveland, and will visit Buffalo on his return trip.

Mr. Adams will address the City club at luncheon today, but will avoid "invidious comparisons," confining himself to a statement of the British method and a few things he has noticed while in America.

Plan Towns to Spread People.

"It is as important to have transportation expansion as it is to build thirty or forty stories in the air," said Mr. Adams at the Blackstone last night, after a hurried view of Chicago's boulevards and university between showers. "Town planning is the problem of spreading the people. If you furnish a city with breathing spaces and a beautiful civic center, and leave vast sections in insanitary condition, you have solved but one-half the problem. The history of town planning has demonstrated that there are fewer mistakes made in anticipating the future than in letting evils accumulate for expensive rectifying later.

"As I understand it, there would be constitutional objections to town planning in America as it is done in England. Here the courts and lawyers have the power, but we are now showing more and more of a tendency to place technical authority in command."

"Municipal Ownership Graftless."

Mr. Adams favored municipal ownership and control of transportation facilities. He asserted those in England were free from graft and excellent in service.

"There are great difficulties in the double ownership of streets," was his comment. "There has been a great increase of municipal ownership sentiment in Great Britain in the last twenty years. Virtually all the large cities of the United Kingdom, including London, follow this plan."

LAWRENCE BOOM HITS SNAG

Candidate for National Committeeman Gets No Eulogy.

STAGE SET, ORATOR MINUS.

Judge Owens Phones Regrets, Names Kellermann, but He's Busy.

The much touted boom for the candidacy of Andrew M. Lawrence for Democratic national committeeman of Illinois, which was scheduled and carefully planned to materialize at the weekly meeting of the Cook County Democracy yesterday afternoon, failed to blossom. A cruel weather fate jabbed a fork of lightning through the gas envelope and the boom gave a few gasping flutterings and fell to earth.

It had been planned to have County Judge John E. Owens appear as the principal speaker and eulogize Mr. Lawrence and otherwise make the boom perform. But Judge Owens failed to appear, telephoning from Fox Lake a short while before the meeting that he would be unable to get to Chicago. But the judge was willing to do what he could.

Substitute Orator Fails.

"Chairman Charles Kellermann of the election commissioners will be on hand and make a talk instead of myself," he declared via telephone. But Mr. Kellerman was having his own troubles at the annual convention of the United Societies, where a resolution was up to prevent political job holders from holding office in the organization. He didn't appear and, moreover, didn't name a substitute. That put a final crimp in the boom.

Launch State's Attorneys.

Two Democratic candidacies for state's attorney, however, were launched during the afternoon. Miles J. Devine, president of the Democracy, was one man named for the place by several speakers, and shouts of approval met the announcement. Barney Grogan, leader of the Harrison forces in the Eighteenth ward, said that Fire Attorney Michael F. Sullivan also would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for county prosecutor.

POLICEMAN KILLS MAD DOG.

Animal Causes Excitement Among Grand Crossing and South Side Parish Children Until Shot.

A collie dog, evidently mad, caused considerable excitement among children in Grand Crossing and near St. Lawrence Catholic church, East seventy-third street and Madison avenue, yesterday until it was killed by Policeman Jeremiah Maloney of the South Chicago station. None of the children was reported bitten.

HARRISON UNDOES LABORS OF BUSSE

HAVE SUBSTITUTE READY

Democrats See Chance for $5,000 Plums; Vote Due on Crying Peddlers' Law.

Further delay in the widening of Twelfth street appears certain. Mayor Harrison tonight will send a special message to the council recommending the repeal of the ordinance passed under the Busse administration, providing for the improvement and the appointment of two appraisement commissioners. A repealing ordinance has been prepared by Corporation Counsel Sexton and will be introduced tonight.

This means that after the repeal of the original ordinance the board of local improvements must prepare another. This, it is understood, is ready and follows the original lines closely. This opens the way for the reopening of hearings by protestants, and six months are likely to be consumed in this manner.

More Plums for Harrisonites.

This action has a two-fold motive.

In the first place, it will remove the Busse appointees, Carl Muller and Charles Gross, at salaries of $5,000 each, and their replacement by Harrison men.

Secondly, it will nullify numerous contracts said to have been made by "ambulance chasing" lawyers with Twelfth street property owners to press damage suits against the city, the legal recompense varying from 30 to 50 per cent of the damage awards.

The mayor is not expected to announce further appointments tonight. He spent yesterday with friends at Lake Forest.

Waiting Answer from Basis.

The Toledo council tonight will decide if it will retain Prof. Edward Bewis, New York gas expert, to appraise the Ohio city's traction system for the establishment of a new rate of fare. Until that matter is decided Mr. Bemis will not tell the Chicago gas, oil, and electric light committee whether he can take up the local gas investigation. At present he declines to quote a figure lower than 75 cents, the price he formerly set, without a thorough investigation.

NIGHT WORKING POSTAL MEN TO OPPOSE PEDDLERS' PLEA.

With Representatives of Other "Sleep-by-Day" Workers They Will Ask That Present Ordinance Stand.

Chicago postoffice clerks who work at night and have to sleep in the daytime or not at all don't appreciate the far flung cry of "Banan-noes!"

This afternoon they plan to present a petition which they say already contains 800 signatures to the judiciary committee of the city council, protesting against a repeal of the ordinance which prohibits peddlers and hucksters from crying their wares in the streets.

Yesterday branch No. 6 of the Clerks' association passed a resolution condemning the practice of allowing peddlers to cry their wares. This resolution will be presented to the committee at its meeting today by a specially appointed delegation from the postoffice.

Representatives of other Chicago night workers to the number of more than 100,000 also will appear before the committee in opposition to the peddlers.

PARK TURNS OUT CROWD EARLY.

Riverview Gets Big Assemblage, but Closes for Evening—Needs Extra Police Detail to Clear Grounds.

Riverview exposition, with anothetr preliminary "inspection day," had no trouble in getting nearly 80,000 visitors into the park yesterday. The problem was to get them out again. The illumination scheme not being complete, it was inadvisable to keep the park open after 6 o'clock. Capt. Bush of the park's special police force sent his twenty men out shortly before 6 with instructions to get the crowds moving towards the exits, but he had to send for an extra detail of city police to assist him in the job, and it was after 8 o'clock before the park was cleared.

Seeks Missing Wife Through "Ad."

A newspaper personal may lead to locating the wife of Frank Meyers of 1624 West Walnut street. She has been missing for the last two months. Mr. Meyers says that he knows no cause for her leaving. He says that she at times acted strange, which led him to think she was demented. She is a woman about 5 feet 4 inches in height, and when last seen wore a brown coat, a black skirt and a black turban hat.

INDIA GOVERNED FOR BRITISH GAIN

No Graft or Dishonesty Among Officials, but Plain Injustice in Policies.

PARLIAMENT REAL RULER

It Is Interested in Home Affairs Chiefly, Calcutta Being Far Away.

BY GEORGE A. DORSEY, PH. D., L. LD.

CALCUTTA, Bengal, India, March 20.—It would be easier to understand India if we were not first cousins, seven removed, of the British and, as it were, tarred with the same stick. It all looks so plausible, so reasonable, so natural.

"Stay here ten years," said an American business man last night, "and you will see. The British are honest, they govern the country honestly they are fine fellows. They have established peace, they don't interfere with the natives. They have built railroads; now they are putting in wireless telegraphy. See how Calcutta has grown! The poor man has a chance. Factories are springing up. They have given Indians education and an equal share in the government. The people are contented and prosperous.

"Of course, there are a few soreheads, but what do they amount to? The real people are loyal and would fight to keep the British here. The British are absolutely honest. Not a bit of graft among them. Why, before I have a bid in my office an hour, one of my clerks has sold it to a rival firm. These natives are a set of crooks. They don't know what honesty is, they are all thieves and liars. If the British didn't rule them, who would? They are not fit to govern themselves."

Pretends to Be English.

The speaker is from Tennessee, thinks it was a mistake to free the slaves, admits that he has had to learn to talk, dress and act like an Englishman on account of Anglo-Indian prejudice against American manufactures; says if it were known that he is an American, he couldn't do any business. As it is he has to re-label his goods, have sign plates taken off, etc., before he can sell anything. Says he has seen a government secret order that government supplies must be English made.

There you are. If an American is to get along in India as a merchant, school teacher, dentist, missionary, sportsman, or society man he must see the British point of view—or fail. His bread is buttered on that side.

There is some truth in the tale; it seems plausible. It is much easier to believe what seems ought to be and that which is soothing to conscience and favorable to success than to inquire into what is.

But suppose we put it this way: the voice that does not prophesy good things is still the voice to which no one gives heed. It is pleasanter to live on flattering delusions, so long as the starving millions of India do not die in our doorsteps, so long as interest and dividends somehow come home.

Jungle of Indian Finance.

At the outset I consid[illegible]d, though in barest outline, the financial and economic status of British India. I propose to reopen the subject. And I realize that the jungle of Indian finance is full of trees and creepers and pitfalls and even man-traps. Men skilled in jugglery are at work and the value of the rupee is as elusive as a Galician flea. If I seem to reverse myself,—why, I claim that also is my vocation.

I still stick to my original position that India is governed [I mean the Anglo-Indians in the classified services] by a set of men who are, as a class, absolutely honest, upright, scrupulous; morally clean and physically fit. Know them—no easy matter!—and they are kind, generous and hospitable. Snub one of them first before he gets at you—and he is your friend. But as a lot he is commonplace and uninteresting. You find you have little in common.

Calcutta's welcome to the German crown prince was characteristic. "When the prince," said a Calcutta paper, "leaves our shores he will carry away with him the whole hearted liking of a community that does not give respect or liking without a trial, but that knows a sound man and sportsman when it sees one and has for such a warm affection.

Officials Who Almost Work.

Given two and two we must expect four. The Englishman in India is a bull in a china shop. He knows it, but is afraid to say so, and the shop knows it. There are Anglo-Indian officials who almost work and the majority get as much pay as a real man would in the United States. Their business makes them autocratic tyrants and hypocrites. They must say and pretend to believe that they rule India for India's benefit. Truth is they couldn't if they would, for the ruler of India is the British parliament and it has troubles enough of its own. Could that parliament rule India in India's interests if it wanted to? It is against human nature—to say nothing of British.

I was talking with a member of the finance department. We spoke of the budget debates. What a farce it all is. Cut and dried, this budget is cabled from London. "Official" members talk and explain. "non-official" members orate, question, resolve. Jugglery, jugglery, jugglery, and cant! Now and then sarcasm or a tinge of bitterness when a finance member feels ashamed of trying to explain a surplus into a deficit when schools are asked for, or a deficit into a surplus when government wants to raise its own salary or build more palaces for officials.

Take this as a sample, selected at random, though it bears only indirectly on this particular point. It does bear, however, on the general thesis to which I now set myself—that the finances of India are managed by their alien rulers to suit their own sweet will. Mr. Fenton, official member from the Punjab is talking. He is opposing government measures regarding Punjab irrigation colonies. The Punjab wants to control some of its own money, wants to develop its canal colonies. The finance member had just presented his budget speech. He had reproved the Punjab because it did not get ahead in finances, as there had been a new "settlement"—i. e. taxes were raised.

Mr. Fenton cites that in 1905 there was a calamitous and most expensive earthquake; plague and famine followed. Still the province yielded revenue, but 2,000,000 colonists were left without administrative machinery or schools, with insufficient railroads, and unpoliced. The colony is prosperous, the government of India shares in the profits. The government of the Punjab "is being, I might say, impoverished. The local government bears all expenditure; the imperial government takes nearly all the profit. Out of every rupee of assessment collected from the Chenab colonies India takes 15 annas and leaves only one to the Punjab."

ROBERTS MAY BE CONTROLLER.

Former Chicago Banker, Now Director of Mint, Said to Have Support of MacVeagh.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—George E. Roberts, former president of the Commercial National bank of Chicago, may be the next controller of the currency. It is known that he has strong backing and that his candidacy has the approval of Secretary MacVeagh.

Mr. Roberts is now director of the mint, a position he held before he assumed the presidency of the Chicago bank.

The vacancy in the office of controller will occur on June 1, when Lawrence O. Murray, who now fills this post, will resign. Mr. Murray will go to Pittsburg, where he will assume the presidency of a national bank in that city.

BARBERS' UNION BARS TIPS

Investigator Says System Drives Men to Shave Selves.

MANDATE COVERS AMERICA.

St. Louis Meeting Warns Against Extorting Fees.

St. Louis, Mo., May 21.—[Special.]—A ban was placed on tipping today at a mass-meeting of bosses and journeymen barbers. The mandate comes from the officials of the International Union of Journeymen Barbers of America, representing the United States, Canada, and Porto Rico.

Barbers all over the country have for some time been raising a cry because so many of their patrons are joining the rapidly increasing ranks of the self-shavers. The matter became so important that the attention of the national association of the craft was called to it.

James C. Shanessy, general organizer of the International union, after a close study of conditions in the principal cities of the country, reported to the union that tipping is the reason so many men are using safety razors.

"The fault is in our own ranks," said Shanessy at the massmeeting. "The custom of tipping has become so much abused that the barber almost forces the extra fee from his patron.

"The man who does not tip is entitled to just as courteous and efficient service as the man who tips. A clerk in a clothing store receives no tip for his services. Nowhere else is tipping so much abused as in the barber shop. If persisted in it will drive nearly all our customers to shaving themselves."

PORTUGAL FACES NEW REBELLION

Monarchists Plan Revolt Which May Be Begun Within Few Days.

LARGE FORCE IS ARMED.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, May 21.—There is reason to believe that the monarchists have completed their preparations for a serious uprising in Portugal. Private letters say the revolution may begin in a few days, perhaps before the elections, which are fixed for May 28.

According to private messages received in Paris today the counter-revolution will begin in the north, where the anti-republican feeling is strong and where the discontent with the new régime has been manifested in strikes at Oporto. If Lisbon, as expected, should follow the example of the north, the counter-revolution will be a most serious affair.

Disorder Rampant in Capital.

Disorder has been rampant in the capital. Robberies and housebreaking are of almost daily occurrence, and the authorities seem powerless. Arms are at a premium, and the demand for foreign, especially British, flags reveals an unexpected number of citizens who claim foreign protection.

At Oporto all business is at a standstill and dangerous encounters are reported between strikers and the militia. Inland bound vessels have been stopped, the custom house is occupied by republican guards, and all work has been paralyzed by thousands of strikers, who seize every opportunity to do damage to shipping.

Many Are Leaving Oporto.

There is uneasiness everywhere, and many Portuguese are leaving Oporto for a foreign asylum. The majority of these fugitives are suspected of royalist and clerical views. Their lives would be in danger if an uprising should take place.

Several regiments in the north are stanch to the republic, but others cannot be depended on by the government.

The organization of the counter-revolution in Oporto is in the hands of three men, who are unknown to the people, whom they are preparing and arming for the purpose of restoring the monarchy. Every man enrolled is ready to fight at a few hours' notice. Arms and ammunition have been collected and the movement is said to be well equipped and supported.

FEAR FOR AUSTRIAN RULER.

VIENNA, May 21.—Some alarm was caused today by the announcement that the specialist, Prof. Neussen, had been summoned to Goedoelloe, where the Emperor Francis Joseph is at present sojourning in the royal château. An authoritative statement issued tonight says that the emperor's health is good and that Dr. Neusser's mission was to ascertain the effect of the treatment which he advised some time ago for a cough from which the emperor was suffering.

Rabbi Wise Scores Hotels Which Bar Members of His Race.

SHUNS LAKE MOHONK.

New Yorker Resents Attitude of One Hostelry Toward People.

New York, May 21.—[Special.]—Rabbi Wise, speaking to the Free synagogue at Carnegie hall tonight, made plain his opinion of hotels which bar Jews, and of Jews who, in any way, countenance such hotels. Dr. Wise, who had been invited to address the Lake Mohonk peace conference, to be held next week, learned that the Lake Mohonk Mountain house "does not solicit Hebrew patronage," and thereupon declined to attend.

Tells Lake Mohonk Incident.

"Not long ago the Lake Mohonk peace conference cordially invited your minister to be one of its guests and speakers at the annual meeting of the coming week," he said. "Upon making inquiry, I learned that the Lake Mohonk Mountain house, the proprietor of which is the host of the conference, 'does not solicit Hebrew patronage;' in other words, denies accommodation to Jews during the summer months.

"I thereupon wrote to a number of well-known Jews who in past years have been regular in attendance at the conference, saying I would not for a moment think of accepting for myself in May the hospitality which is denied to my people in July and August. I added that no self-respecting Jew ought to be willing to accept such hospitality."

Club Bars Jew Congressman.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—Jefferson M. Levy, newly elected representative in congress from the Thirteenth New York district (New York City), has failed of admittance to the Metropolitan club here, thereby sharing the fate of Representative Martin W. Littleton of New York and making the second New York congressman barred from the organization since the beginning of the extra session of congress. The reason ascribed for the rejection of Mr. Levy's name is that he is a Jew.

KAISER REACHES FLUSHING; BRITAIN'S RECEPTION PLEASES

Berlin Officials and Press Echo Pleasure Wilhelm Expressed Over His Greeting in England.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, May 21.—Officials echo the pleasure that the kaiser expressed for the warmth of his reception in England. The Norddeutscher Zeitung officially indorsing the gratitude, says that Germany will treasure the sincere friendly welcome of the kaiser and hopes that the visit will be of lasting value to the relations of the two countries. The imperial yacht Hohenzollern stopped at Flushing for the night and will sail for Berlin on Monday.

One Price Stores

IF YOU go into a two-price store today—and get safely out—you immediately note it as a place to avoid.

Yet only a few years ago all shops were two-price, and the pioneers of the one-price store were looked upon as bent on commercial suicide—Times Change—that's all, and each generation does business more directly, simply and with less waste.

When the two-price store flourished the consumer was intent only on obtaining the lowest price. The demand for standardized qualities and dependable merchandise has come from the consumers. The evolution toward trademark buying is more far-reaching each year.

Even now, most consumers want to know who makes their goods and are no longer satisfied to leave their interests to the mercies of the clerk.

The time is near when almost all comforts and necessities, and the majority of luxuries, will be bought under the maker's name.

Have you planned for this readjustment as it affects YOUR business? It is a subject worthy of your own time and your own thought.

Our booklet on Modern Sales Methods will help put you in possession of the merchandising tendencies of the day and of the future. Sent to any person interested on request.

CITY LABOR BODY CRITICISES TAFT

Opposition to Bill Extending Unionism in Federal Civil Service Offends.

TO WAR ON SHURTLEFF.

Sees Progress in Last General Assembly; Denounces White City and Sans Souci.

A report criticising President Taft for opposing the Lloyd bill granting federal civil service employés the right to petition congress for legislation affecting hours, wages, and working conditions was adopted yesterday by the Chicago Federation of Labor.

The central labor body also adopted a final report of its state legislative committee, adding a vote of thanks to the members of the committee for the "splendid results in labor legislation achieved in the session of the general assembly just closed."

Representative Shurtleff was assailed in the report for his attempt to defeat the women's ten hour law. The report stated that "we hope the voters of Waukegan will remember Shurtleff when he comes up for reelection." Several senators and Assistant Corporation Counsel Howard Hayes received unfavorable comment for their fight against the "two platoon" bill, which was defeated.

Take Fling at Mine Workers.

The report, which was read by A. C. Anderson of the Painters' union, secretary of the committee, contained a list of labor legislation defeated and adopted in the forty-seventh general assembly. The respects of the federation to the officials of the United Mine Workers of Illinois and to President Edwin R. Wright of the State Federation of Labor, were paid by a statement that "a committee of mine workers seemed to be present only for the purpose of securing the passage of the workmen's compensation bill."

This was a covert fling referring to the dispute between organized labor of Chicago and President Wright and the miners over the relative importance of an employers' liability law and compensation legislation.

John O'Neill, chairman of the committee, caused the adoption of a resolution thanking Senators Henson of Decatur and Representative O'Toole for their efforts in behalf of legislation desired by organized labor.

Say Postal Strike Not Intended.

The report criticising President Taft was made by Oscar F. Nelson, president of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks. He stated that the employés of the postal department "do not wish to organize for the purpose of striking against the government, but they do want the right to petition congress for a redress of grievances."

"Opponents of the Lloyd bill have gone so far as to enlist the aid of President Taft against the measure," said Delegate Nelson. "President Taft has taken up the fight by speaking against the bill, without knowing whereof he speaks. I want to say that there is danger of a strike among the postal employés if the national manufacturers and the officials of the postal department persist in fighting us and opposing our efforts to obtain our constitutional rights."

Denounce Amusement Parks.

Managements of White City and Sans Souci parks were denounced for refusing to sign agreements with union waiters, waitresses, bartenders, and printers. Several delegates, including Miss Anna Willard of the Waitresses' union, demanded that the parks be placed on the "unfair list" at once, but President John Fitzpatrick ruled this out of order. The entire subject was referred to a special committe for investigation and report at the next meeting and unless a settlement is reached, action will be taken at that time.

Speakers deplored the defeat of the initiative and referendum, and a resolution was adopted requesting Governor Deneen to include in the call for an extra session of the legislature the question of the initiative and referendum. At the request of Miss Margaret Haley of the Teachers' federation, a letter will be sent to the governor containing photographs of the pledges made by 105 members of the house and senate to vote for the reform.

Asks Aid for McNamara.

An appeal for funds for the defense of J. J. McNamara of the Structural Iron Workers' union was made in a communication from the American Federation of Labor. The executive board was authorized to call special meetings for the purpose of "creating public sentiment" in favor of the men charged with complicity in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building. Attorney Clarence S. Darrow and Secretary Edward N. Nockels left for Los Angeles on Saturday evening to prepare for the trial of the three accused labor men.

William Shupe, business agent of the Structural Iron Workers' union, was arrested and taken to central station, charged with assaulting R. A. Goldman, 1517 Warren avenue, another iron worker. Goldman said the attack took place at a building being remodeled at Madison street and Fifth avenue. Shupe denied the charges. He had no weapons on his person when arrested.

J. FRANK LAWRENCE DEAD

General Breakdown Fatal After Illness of Month.

MADE $5,000,000 FORTUNE.

Maintained Apartments at Congress Hotel Since It Was Opened.

J. Frank Lawrence died at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Congress hotel from results of a general breakdown. He had been critically ill in his apartment for a month. Mr. Lawrence was born in New Hampshire Dec. 6, 1833. He accumulated a fortune of about $5,000,000 in Chicago investments and maintained apartments in the Congress since its opening, sixteen years ago and a summer home at Rye Beach, N. H. He was a member of the Union League and the Chicago clubs. Funeral services are to be held at the Congress at 3 o'clock this afternoon, after which the body is to be sent to Ebbing, N. H., for burial. He leaves a widow.

NOTED ASTRONOMER IS DEAD.

Mrs. Williamina Paton Fleming, Curator of Sky Records at Harvard, Discovered 103 Stars.

Boston, Mass., May 21.—Mrs. Williamina Paton Fleming, one of the foremost astronomers of the world and curator of astronomical records at Harvard university, died today at a Boston hospital.

Mrs. Fleming was born in Dundee, Scotland, in 1857. Her maiden name was Stevens. Before she was married, at the age of 20, she taught school in her native land. At the age of 22 she and her husband came to America, and, on the strength of her neat penmanship and her mathematical skill, she got a position as computer at the Harvard observatory.

After some years she distinguished herself in the astronomical world, becoming the foremost of her sex in that respect. She discovered eight stars of the Nova type, eleven new variables, and eighty-four fifth type stars.

Mrs. Fleming, with her staff of fifteen assistants, prepared the Draper catalogue in which 100,000 stars are classified. She was the only woman ever given an official position at Harvard.

OBITUARY.

MRS. ADELINE S. STEVENS, a resident of Chicago since 1853, died late Saturday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Louise M. Snow, 6148 Greenwood avenue, aged 83 years. She came to Chicago with her husband, the late William F. Stevens, from West Fairlee, Vt., in April, 1853, making the journey in a prairie schooner and in two months' time. Their first residence was opposite the old Cook county courthouse on Washington street. Mrs. Stevens also is survived by a son, William T. Stevens of Chicago. She was a niece of Judge Charles Sturtevant of Delavan, Wis., and of Austin D. Sturtevant of Chicago. The funeral will be from the daughter's residence at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Interment will be at Rosehill.

DR. ALEXANDER M. STOUT, superintendent of the Contagious Disease hospital, died yesterday at his residence, 7548 Western avenue. He had been a practitioner in Chicago for twenty-seven years. CASUALTY RATES REVEAL COMBINE expired this spring, and the renewal of which necessitated a much greater expenditure.

"The increase of casualty premiums has been a great burden to us, as it doubtless has to other similar concerns," said Treasurer J. E. Russell of that company. "Our rates were increased from 50 to 75 per cent on different classes of work. I think it is a matter that the federal government should take a hand in and regulate, for the differences of premiums in various states works a hardship on many concerns which are identical in scope, but affected by different state laws."

All but One Included.

Ætna Accident and Liability of Hartford, Ætna Life of Hartford, American Casualty of Reading, Pa.; Casualty Company of America of New York City, Empire State Surety of New York, Employers' Indemnity of Philadelphia, Employers' Liability, Ltd., London; Fidelity and Casualty of New York, General Accident of Scotland, London Guarantee and Accident of London, Maryland Casualty of Baltimore, New Amsterdam Casualty of New York, Ocean Accident and Guarantee, Ltd., London; Pacific Coast Casualty of San Francisco, Pennsylvania Casualty of Scranton, Standard Accident of Detroit, Travelers' of Hartford, Travelers' Indemnity of Hartford, Union Casualty of Philadelphia, United States Casualty of New York.

The American Fidelity of Montpelier, Vt., is said to be the only concern not in the "trust."

PROF. M.A. DE LA FONTAINE DEAD

Prof. de la Fontaine was 73 years old and a native of Switzerland. A daughter, Mrs. Emma Claybaugh, is a teacher at the Goodrich school.

Other children are Mrs. Charles R. Franson, Daniel L., John, Philip C., and Jules de la Fontaine, all of Chicago. Funeral services will be at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at 2346 West Madison street. The burial will be private.

POLICE MATRONS TO BENEFIT.

Included with Operators in Provisions of Pension Bill, but Drivers Are Left Out.

Springfield, Ill., May 21.—[Special.]—Police operators and matrons will benefit from the provision of senate bill 137, which passed both houses of the legislature in the closing session and is now up to Gov. Deneen for his signature. Police drivers do not come under the provision of the police pension bill.

The bill, which originated in the senate, went to the house. It was there amended. The measure, which embraced the police drivers, was amended and sent back to the senate for concurrence.

The senate failed to concur in the amendments tacked on by the house, and the bill was referred to the judiciary committee and died. The operators and matrons were provided for in the police pension measure in separate acts.

Gas Kills an Italian.

MEET TODAY TO PICK UMPIRE TO END BUILDING TRADE WAR.

Labor Fight to Continue While Settlement Is Going On—Bill Posters to Unveil Monument.

At a meeting this afternoon steps will be taken by a conference of architects, contractors, and labor officers, to select an umpire to hear evidence in the controversy between the plumbers and steamfitters and render a decision.

The principal question to be decided is:

"Was the United Association of Plumbers justified in forming a dual union of steamfitters and helpers in Chicago?"

If both sides fail to agree, the selection of an umpire is to be left with E. R. Graham of W. D. Burnham & Co.

Until a decision is rendered the strike in the building trades will continue.

The Chicago Federation of Labor yesterday appealed to the election commissioners to see to it that the label of the Machinists union is placed on all voting machines. The action was in compliance with a request contained in a communication from officials of the International Association of Machinists of Providence, R. I.

A monument costing $1,000 will be unveiled by officials of the Bill Posters' union next Sunday in Forest Home cemetery. The annual memorial meeting of the Chicago Typographical union No. 16 will be held next Sunday afternoon at the Garrick theater.

Black River Falls, Wis.	1	..

Utica, Kas., May 21.—Five daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Roach of this place, ranging from 7 to 16 years in age, were burned to death last night. The parents were badly burned.

The mother filled a lamp with gasoline by mistake. Preparatory to ascending a stairway leading to the second floor room where her daughters were asleep, she applied a match to the lamp. An explosion followed, the fire being communicated to a two gallon can of gasoline, sending a burst of flame up the narrow stairway.

The woman's dress caught fire, but the flames were extinguished by her husband. He rushed up the burning stairs and caught his youngest daughter, aged 5, in his arms. Calling to the other girls to follow him and leap into his arms, he ran to a rear window and jumped to the ground, saving the little one.

He stood with upraised arms to catch the others as they jumped, but for some reason they failed to follow him.

BRYAN WILL BACK CLARK ASPIRATION

Speaker of House to Be Candidate of "Great Commoner" for Presidency.

GOV. WILSON FOR PLACE.

BY HOLLAND.

New York, May 21.—[Special.]—The demonstration in the house of representatives on Wednesday in approval of a sort of informal nomination of Speaker Clark by the Democrats for the presidency tends to confirm information received in this city within the last week. Democratic leaders here have been told that at the opportune moment it will be disclosed that Col. William J. Bryan's candidate for the presidential nomination is Speaker Clark.

This information is not mere gossip or guesswork. Behind it stand details telling of the work Bryan and his friends have done in behalf of Clark's nomination and of what they purpose doing during the summer and fall.

Wilson's Availability.

The presumption has been strong here that the friendly relations established between Col. Bryan and Gov. Wilson of New Jersey and the widespread interest in Wilson, as well as the feeling in the south that the governor will, long before the convention meets, be preeminently indicated as the Democratic candidate for president, have caused Bryan to recognize Wilson's availability and led him to become his political sponsor, overlooking the refusal of Wilson to support him for president in 1896.

The later information suggests that Bryan is willing, indeed, glad, to have Wilson carry on his present campaign of agitation, for that will serve to stimulate and solidify the Democratic party throughout the United States. But there is no campaign of a personal nature, in Bryan's view, which can be made so effectual as that which it is possible for the speaker of the house of representatives to carry on.

Has Personal Magnetism.

Moreover, Champ Clark has personal magnetism. He comes from the Mississippi valley and from a state which should not be doubtful at the time of the next presidential election. He is better known to the Democracy of the United States than Wilson. He has never wavered in his support of all that Bryan has advocated, and he has gained some popularity with the Republicans.

It is reported that Bryan believes that the next Democratic candidate for the presidency should be a citizen of the west, and that the candidate for the vice presidency should come from the east.

It has been suggested here that the apparently impromptu reference made upon the floor of the house by Minority Leader Mann to Speaker Clark as the real available candidate of the Democracy for president was not a mere chance remark, but was spoken with intent to demonstrate that the real candidate of the Democratic masses and leaders west of the Alleghenies is Clark and not Woodrow Wilson.

Doubt to Be Removed.

There is high Democratic authority for stating that within the course of a few weeks there will be no longer doubt that the candidate of Col. Bryan for the Democratic nomination for the presidency is Speaker Champ Clark of Missouri and that it will be found that Bryan would give cordial approval to the nomination of Wilson for vice president.

Why Should There Be "Cooking Butter?"

Many a housewife uses "cooking butter" in preparing home-made foods, when if the same "butter" were placed on the table to be spread on the slices cut from her big brown loaves, the family would rise in protest. Why should one grade of "butter" be eaten on bread, and another grade used in cooking? There is only one grade of health, and but one quality of butter fit for food—the best.

Meadow-Gold

Butter is of only one grade—healthful, clean and pure; and the very top notch of quality and flavor. It is made from Pasteurized cream in sanitary, spotless creameries, and packed in dust-proof, air-tight cartons, without human contact. Meadow Gold for cooking in the average family would not increase the monthly butter bill above a half-dollar—and the result is worth it in healthful, more palatable food. Try it. Sold in regular and 25c sizes.

263,000 SEE CHILD WELFARE EXHIBIT

ADVANCE 'NEW RELIGION'

Social Workers and Churchmen Illustrate Effacement of Creeds.

It was announced yesterday that 263,000 persons have visited the Child Welfare exhibit at the Coliseum in the ten days since it started.

In New York this spring the eastern Child Welfare exhibit was visited by only 250,000 persons during its existence of one month.

According to these figures the exhibit at the Coliseum is attracting over three times the attention given to the New York show. This is ascribed to the energy of the Chicago managers of the exhibit and of school teachers in spreading news of the exhibit throughout all parts of Chicago as well as to the greater interest shown by Chicago mothers.

It also must be remembered that the Chicago exhibit has the advantage of additional advertising, and that includes not only the displays arranged in Chicago, but likewise almost the whole of the New York exhibit. The manager of the Chicago exhibit, W. J. McAhill, was also manager of the New York exhibit.

It may be noted, too, that the Chicago police have handled with twenty-eight men greater crowds than the New York police handled with a hundred. There has not been an arrest, complaint, or accident since the opening of the exhibit.

"The New Religion" Shown.

Rabbi Wise of New York in a speech before the child welfare exhibit last week brought up "The New Religion." He did not specify any particular creed; he did not quote any particular precepts. His subject was philanthropy, and his praise was for churches which have incorporated physical and mental as well as spiritual aid into their teachings.

"The new religion" was not mentioned during the day in so many words; this despite the fact that it was Sunday school day at the exhibit. Those familiar with the subject were too busy advancing and illustrating "the new religion" to talk about it.

First, at 2 o'clock, there was a meeting of the Day Nursery association of the Episcopal churches of Chicago. Now there is no exact basis for the supposition that day nurseries are an ecclesiastical benefit. Rather it would appear that they are of an extremely material nature. Yet the Episcopal churches have gone to the trouble of establishing a dozen of them about Chicago.

Creed Not All Important.

"They can't do any harm, you know," explained a clergyman, "and—well, that's the course religion is taking just now, anyway. We are hoping for better men and women rather than better Episcopalians. Even if some children from our day nurseries don't become Episcopalians I don't believe they will be irretrievably damned."

"The New Religion"—at 6:45 in the evening there was a program by a band from the Mark Nathan Jewish Orphan home. That it was Sunday and a Sunday school program to boot did not seem to worry the directors of the exhibit.

"Jews, Christians, pagans," said one, "they are all children. This is one exhibit in which no line of race, religion, or color has been drawn."

Music by Other Orchestras.

During the afternoon music was given by the Chevalier N. B. Emmanuel orchestra and at night by the combined vested choirs of St. James' and St. Paul's Episcopal churches.

The program for today includes a ministers' meeting at 10:30 o'clock this morning, in which "The Child of the Immigrant" will be discussed; a musical and gymnastic program at 2 o'clock in the afternoon by 1,400 children from the schools of district No. 4; a settlement meeting at 4:15, with a talk by Miss Lillian D. Wald of the Henry street settlement, New York; and an entertainment at 7:30 o'clock in the evening by 300 children from the south parks and playgrounds.

At 8:30 another immigrant problem will be discused by Henry Moskowitz of the Downtown Ethical society, New York—"The place of the immigrant child in the social program." After 8:45 the entire exhibit, except Grace church, where the conference will still be in progress, will be closed to all except city, county, and state officials.

The directors of the exhibit attach great importance to this visit of legislators. Exactly what is needed for children of Chicago will be concisely put before them, and, if there are no results, it will not be the fault of the child workers.

'OLD GUARD' RULES WET CONVENTION

KELLERMANN KEEPS JOB.

Vote Down Head Tax Proposition; Carry Reduction of Executive Committee Plan.

The administration steam roller of the United Societies for Local Self-Government was in first class condition yesterday at the sixth annual convention and successfully overcame all opposition despite the loud voiced protests of the minority.

The battle, which had the hundreds of delegates in South Side Turner hall at a high pitch of excitement several times, was divided into three separate skirmishes. The points at dispute included resolutions to prevent the officers of the organization from holding political offices, to vote a head tax on the members, and to reduce the membership of the executive committee, which names the organization officers, by a change in the constitution.

Kellermann Leads "Standpatters."

President Charles Kellermann, himself the holder of an appointive office—chairman of the board of election commissioners—led the administration fight. Both of the "anti" resolutions were killed in committee and not allowed to get to the floor of the convention, while the constitutional change, favored by the administrative forces, was passed with a hurrah.

It is expected that the new executive committee of ninety named yesterday afternoon, which is given the power to add ten more members, will reelect the present officers at the regular election next Thursday. Besides Mr. Kellermann they include, Ald. A. J. Cermak, secretary; Ald. Herman J. Bauler, treasurer; and Leopold Neumann, organizer.

Koelling Protests; Shouted Down.

John Koelling, former president of the organization, and L. Turner and D. B. Brillow were the chief protesters against the throttling of the appointive job resolution in committee. When Joseph Grein, head of the committee, reported that it had been agreed by unanimous vote to place all resolutions on file, the storm which had been threatening for an hour broke in earnest.

Chairman Grein came to the defense of the committee, declaring that hostile resolutions had been offered for action—resolutions which were not for the good of the organization—and he insisted it was the duty of the delegates to uphold the action of its committee. A motion to adopt the report of the committee and file all resolutions was carried by a chorus of yeas.

ORATORS URGE PATRIOTISM.

Election Commissioner Czarnecki Tells Countrymen to Become Citizens.

Fifteen hundred Poles took part yesterday in the May celebration in honor of the adoption of the Polish constitution in 1791, which was held in the parochial assembly room of SS. Peter and Paul's church, West Thirty-eighth place and South Paulina street. The Rev. Maximilian Kotecki, pastor of the church, talked of notable incidents in Polish history and urged all Polish-Americans to live up to the best principles of Polish patriots.

Pastor Pleads Morality.

"Religion," he said, "is necessary for good citizenship. Without its influence chaos and revolution would follow in this country as surely as it did in the old French revolution period. The influence of the foreign elements in the affairs of this country will depend upon the clean home life and good morals of their peoples."

Asks Loyalty To U. S.

Election Commissioner Anthony Czarnecki urged his countrymen to become citizens and to take an active interest in governmental affairs. Stephen Kolanowski, editor of the Polish Daily News, also made an address in which he declared it to be the duty of the press to root out corruption whenever it is found in public life.

MAN FOUND DEAD ON TRACKS.

Body of Albert Kinnell, Supposed Railroad Employe, Discovered at Carpenter Street.

The mangled body of Albert Kinnell of 507 Willett street, Buffalo, N. Y., was found on the tracks of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad near Carpenter street last night. Ninety cents in change, a gold watch, and an accident policy of $300 with a brother, Mitchell Kinnell, named as beneficiary, were in the man's pockets. Credentials also were found indicating that Kinnell was an employé of the Lehigh Valley railroad. The body bore no marks to indicate a struggle.

Presbyterian Moderator Outlines His Theology.

BY HUGH T. KERR, D. D.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 21.—[Special.]—In his sermon to 3,000 persons Sunday morning, Dr. John F. Carson, the newly elected moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, defined his own theological position. He said:

"Orthodoxy is sensitiveness to the spirit of God. The truth is forever the same, but it must be framed by the church of every age in the language of every age. You cannot express the permanent truth in the thought of the seventeenth century or the first. Let us have done with this everlasting balancing of evidences and let us proclaim the great truth of revelation.

"Our age resents dogmatism, but our age welcomes the setting forth of truth that has the sanction of intellectual and moral integrity. This age needs a new emphasis upon reverence. We are too flippant. The world doesn't know when it sees us leave the service, whether we have been to church or to a theater."

The theme of the sermon was the Christian church.

"The church," said Dr. Carson, "is the only organization emphasizing unselfish unity. We want no working man's church and no capitalist's church, but a church where all meet on an equality before God."

Dr. Carson told of welcoming into his church last Sunday a wealthy woman who had just received an additional $500,000 and a poor woman who washed windows in the shops of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company.

"When you go to your people don't go with your hat in your hand. Let there be no begging, but let there be a challenge and a claim, for the church is Christ's institution and he is our authority."

The meeting in the interest of Christian education was announced with this printed indorsement of the Christian college by James J. Hill, the railroad magnate: "There is something about the denominational college which appeals to me. I believe in keeping the young man of the day in the religious path of his ancestors. Too many young people are sent to nonsectarian schools."

Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman addressed a crowded house and held a unique evangelistic service.

The matter of the adoption of a new catechism for the children of the church will come up this week and is creating much discussion. Dr. J. G. K. McClure is chairman of the committee. A minority report is presented by Dr. William McKibben of Cincinnati, complaining of the doctrinal coloring of the catechism. He thinks there is only a neutral color. He complains of the omission of the Virgin birth, "The necessity of the new birth, the consequences of sin; the resurrection of believers and the life everlasting."

The committee will present the catechism as a tentative one and it will likely be withheld for another year for final revision.

Bible Students Close Year.

Garrett Biblical institute at Evanston began its commencement exercises yesterday in Fisk hall with a students' love feast led by Prof. Hayes. This was followed by an address by Prof. William J. Davidson on "The Place of Optimism in Preaching."

"The fundamental purpose of all preaching," said Mr. Davidson, "is to teach people how to live a good life. If the preacher is pessimistic, pessimism will creep into his preaching, where it can do no good. Optimism should be in all preaching, for it adds to the work the preacher is trying to do."

In the afternoon a memorial service was held in Memorial hall for the late president of the institute, the Rev. Charles Joseph Little. Prof. Milton S. Terry, who spoke for the faculty, said:

"The ability of our late president as a teacher is known to all. He was firm and loyal to his religion and exposed those hasty talkers who go around saying that all schools of theology are merely nurseries of skepticism and unbelief."

The Rev. T. P. Frost spoke in behalf of the trustees.

"I speak of him," said Mr. Frost, "as a witness to the truth. He had a vision of truth probably surpassed by no man of our church."

The Rev. John Thompson spoke for the alumni. "President Little," he said, "was a man of dynamic and masterful personality. The fullness of his knowledge was marvelous."

Scandinavians Greet the Danish Singers.

BY GLENN DILLARD GUNN.

A PATRIOTIC demonstration that must have been gratifying to Americans of whatever descent was the feature of the first concert by the Danish Student Singers from the Royal University of Copenhagen yesterday afternoon in Orchestra hall. The hall was filled by the Scandinavians of Chicago, who welcomed the representatives from the mother country with applause, floral offerings, and speeches. Henry L. Hertz, on behalf of "the Americans of Danish descent in Chicago," presented the students with an American flag. He referred to the legend of the sixteenth century which says that the Danish flag fell from heaven and added that though this was doubtless true, there had remained stars enough to make our own beautiful banner. Whereupon the students responded by singing "The Star Spangled Banner" with an emphasis of its beauty both of text and melody altogether unaccustomed to American ears, for we habitually treat our national songs with scant respect.

The singers then gave three cheers for America, and the audience returned the compliment. Twice thereafter the program was interrupted. C. R. Chindblom on behalf of the Swedes and Dr. A. Doe for the Norwegians of Chicago came forward with laurel wreaths in their hands and pleasant words in their mouths and the students responded with the national hymn of each country. But while the applause in each instance was cordial, the demonstration that greeted the stars and stripes was not repeated.

The Danish University Students' Choral union is the oldest musical organization in Denmark, having been founded in 1830. Fifty members are now touring America under the patronage of H. R. H. Crown Prince Christian, and their first concert was given at the White house last Friday. The members of the present body represent all walks of life. The tenor soloist, Olaf Holboll, is a contractor in Copenhagen. The baritone, Helge Nissen, is a member of the Copenhagen opera, the only professional singer in the chorus. The conductor, Solomon Levysohn, also serves the royal opera. All are alumni of the Copenhagen university.

The art of the Danish singer, thanks doubtless to his ability, is to be measured by professional standards. The chorus attains a unity and beauty of tone that can only result when the severest ideals of ensemble obtain. This tone maintains its expressiveness and sympathy through all dynamic inflections, and these important interpretative means are developed with a flexibility and responsiveness almost orchestral. Especially effective is the nuance of the sudden crescendo which Conductor Levysohn frequently employs in the closing cadence, quite in the orchestral manner. The mezzo voce effects were no less admirable. Between these two poles the performance moved with a precision that accomplished wide variety of effect, yet retained the feeling of spontaneity and of genuine pleasure in song that is fundamental in all simpler forms of art.

The program was devoted to Scandinavian composers, Denmark, Norway, and Sweden being impartially represented. Remarkable for its delicate pianissimo was the Danish folksong, "Agnete and the Merman." It had to be repeated. The audience found similar pleasure in the Norwegian folksong "Oh, Ola, Ola," sympathetically presented by Mr. Holboll to the subdued but effective accompaniment of a humming chorus. The folk dance by Heise afforded the chorus opportunity for the emphasis of a quality that eminently distinguished the art of the organization as compared with male choruses generally—namely: the pronounced rhythmical accent.

The musical interest of the afternoon centered, however, in the singing of Mr. Nissen, who unquestionably deserves to be numbered among the great baritones of the present. His voice has that absolute beauty, that purity and virility that characterize northern voices as contrasted with the warmer and more sensuous beauty of the voices of southern Europe. In volume and range it is unusual. It is employed with a mastery of the laws of bel canto that suggests Italian training. But the interpretative art of the singer is distinguished by qualities of restraint and simplicity that seem endowed with a deeper sincerity than is to be discovered in the more obvious intentions of the Italian.

To make Grieg's little song, "The Great White Host," the medium for the expression of so much poetry and charm demands a finer art than to proclaim the sorrows of Canio with many tears and high Bs, or to expound the cheap philosophy of the "Prologue," with its wearying array of platitudes. Therefore, Mr. Nissen deserved the applause that was bestowed upon him so generously.

Small Talk of the Stage.

THE engagement of "Next," announced to begin at the Garrick theater Tuesday evening, is indefinitely deferred, since, after the first performance in the east Saturday evening, the star, Miss Helen Lowell, for one reason and another, became precariously indisposed. The Garrick, therefore, will be dark this week.

Among the galaxy of genius employed for next season's entertainment at the La Salle is Miss Sophie Tucker, erstwhile an ebullient features of the mortuary "Merry Mary," at the Whitney. Effort is being made also to ensnare Miss Adele Rowland from the brighter life of Broadway, but that lady is coy, and as yet has not signed her name to a contract.

"Baron Trenck," the new opera by Albini, whose "Madame Troubadour" we heard last winter, is a London failure. So is the venture wherein Mr. Arnold Daly seeks to revive popular interest there in Shaw's "Arms and the Man."

The Friars' entertainment at the Auditorium June 4 will commence with a minstrel first part, but the performers will be seen in white face. The interlocutors will be Charles J. Ross, Fred Niblo, Emmett Corrigan, and Jerry J. Cohan, and the four editions of end men to respond to the questions put by the quartet of interlocutors will be Tom Lewis and Harry Kelly, Raymond Hitchcock and Andrew Mack, Richard Carle and George Evans, and William Collier and George Cohan. The finale for the first part was written especially for this production by Mr. Cohan. In the olio to follow the first part will be seen the Piano Bugs, which is an act given by seven well known song writers, who will perform on seven pianos. There will also be seen Charles J. Ross and Julian Eltinge as Antony and Cleopatra, William Collier and George Cohan in a song and dance skit entitled "Two Hot Potatoes," and a sketch by Walter Hackett in which will appear Sam H. Harris, Andrew Mack, William Collier, Richard Carle, Tom Lewis, Emmett Corrigan, Raymond Hitchcock, Jerry J. Cohan, William Rock, Fred Niblo, and George Beban. The entertainment will conclude with an operatic sketch written for the tour by Mr. Cohan.

Critics Slight d'Annunzio Play.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, May 22, 3 a. m.—Although the first performance of "Saint Sebastian" has been postponed, the critics were advised by telegraph last evening that they could attend the rehearsal of Gabriel d'Annunzio's much heralded play. They did so, though the majority of them left before the end of the long drawn out four act mystery play. The rehearsal ended at 1:30 this morning, after beginning at 9 p. m. yesterday.

Unlimited praise is accorded to the scenery and the dresses, the work of the Russian artist, Bakst, and to he music of Debussy, of which there is only too little.

The piece is treated along the lines of the middle age mystery play, hence the music is for the most part ecclesiastical. The play portrays St. Sebastian's conversion to Christianity, his fight against idols, false knowledge, and vainglory.

Much interest is attached to the appearance of the Russian dancer, Ida Rubenstein, in the title rôle, owing to the author's statement that her physical suitability for the part greatly inspired his writing, but in the final act she failed to realize the well known pictures of the saint. Where usually the saint wears almost nothing but arrows the actress, contrary to a preliminary report, appeared completely clothed.

Boulevard gossip credits her with financing the production, which for ten performances will be given at fancy prices.

English Opera at McVicker's.

The Aborn English Opera company opens a four weeks' engagement at McVicker's theater Sunday, June 4. The repertory will comprise Puccini's "Mme. Butterfly" and "La Bohême," Massenet's "Thaïs," and Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffmann," each opera forming the bill for one week. "Thaïs" will have its first English performance in Chicago. The company will contain most of the artists who were heard here last season and several who have joined the organization this year. Full chorus and orchestra are promised for all the operas.

Miss Lois Ewell and Miss Dora De Fillippe will alternate in the rôle of Cio-Cio-San during the first week's performances of "Mme. Butterfly." "Thaïs" will be given during the second week with Miss Ewell in the title rôle. The third week will be devoted to "The Tales," and "La Bohême" will close the engagement.

Woman and Her Interests.

The Spendthrift Wife.

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

[Copyright: 1911: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

WE have all heard the old rhyme of fairy lore, droll, yet true:

> "Pins and needles—needles and pins,
> When you marry, your trouble begins."

I think if there was ever a person on earth to whom the verse applies it is the good-natured man who has had the misfortune to wed a woman with the insatiable craving to spend money.

Of course, he idolizes her and would refuse her nothing and there is where troubles begin. Such a wife needs a chaperon to guide her safely past catch penny grab-bags that lure her on many sides. The man who marries a girl that knows the hardship of earning money may feel pretty sure that she will know how to save it, but the daughter of the poor but proud parents who has always been poor but who longs to have money to scatter as her fancy wills generally makes ducks and drakes of a liberal husband's income.

While a husband should by no means be so contemptible as to dole out pennies to a wife he should be advised as to where the main portion of his hard earned dollars is to be spent.

It should be understood, ere the marriage is held, that the husband should make his first struggles, battling for fame and fortune, without the wife's relatives clinging to him for support. How many times is it the case that when there's one free willing one in the family who will work, all the rest sit down, fold their hands, and seem to think there is no end to his pocketbook?

He does not like to grieve his wife by hinting that his burden is heavier than his shoulders should bear, dreading a storm of reproaches and tears. He keeps on doing for them, showing thereby a lack of that prudence that prepares for old age. He continues to work until the inevitable crash comes.

A man has his own lack of judgment and foresight to thank for allowing his love to go out to a woman who will not listen to arguments of reason, who stubbornly insists upon having her way, whether right or wrong, in money matters.

A very wise philosopher has given the world this thought: "A man is the architect of his own fortune." It looks very much to me as if the wife is the architect of the married man's fortune nine times out of ten. The willing husband is wont to hand over a good portion of his earnings to his wife; she who receives it should feel in duty bound to stretch every dime to its capacity as to its purchasing power.

Should a wife be the husband's banker?

That depends entirely upon her prudence. How encouraged a husband feels who has a wife who is doing her share to ward off the evils of the "rainy day." How discouraged is the free hearted husband who has intrusted his all into the hands of his wife and who learns that it has slipped like sand through her fingers—there has been nothing laid by!

She is not a good custodian of funds who dissipates hard earned cash for useless things which could well be gotten along without. The wise wife does not sigh for the costly trifles her richer neighbor has, because she knows they are not within her husband's means.

There are certain rules which should guide the wise young man who has his own way to make in the world in the choosing of a wife, especially if he be free hearted. First of all she should be a sensible girl, valuing money. Secondly, she should know how to do her own housework and delight in it, to fashion her own clothes and turn the half worn garments around so that they look better or as well as the new. A girl should have prudence and thrift fully equal to her husband's ability to earn.

I do not mean by this that a woman should pinch and save, denying herself everything that tends to brighten her life, making the saving of money her god.

Recreation now and then is needy to both. A little money spent wisely in this direction should be considered well invested. Every life needs a little of the sunshine of pleasure. The husband who allows his wife to fall into untimely decay through incessant work and no pleasures which cost money is urging a free spirit to its undoing.

His Manners Are Bad.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have been going with a young man for several years and would like him very much, but his manners give my affection for him a jolt every so often. Do you think it proper for a man when with his lady friend to pay other girls' fare home when on the street car if they are not in our company? He does this, even if they are not seated near us. And he has a way of staring at people when at the theater or elsewhere. If he sees a pretty face he can't keep his eyes away. He does this to such an extent it makes me feel cheap. I do not like to speak to him about it, for I think he ought to know better. "PEARL."

Are you sure you are not jealous, Pearl? Don't allow yourself to be. Be dignified and sweet yourself. It strkes me several years is entirely too long to permit a man to monopolize your time.

She Wastes Time.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a young girl of 19 and have made the acquaintance of a young gentleman whom I think to be the same age. He acts very courteously toward me, but I really must confess I have fallen in love with him. He is in the same office with me and I really think of him all day. Now what I want to know is would it be my place to ask him up some time or is it his place to ask me if he can call? "PERPLEXED."

It is your privilege to ask the man to call. You better set a definite date. If you are thinking about him all day long you would better get another job. The man who employs you is not paying you to be thinking about some fellow. He is paying you to think about his interests and his work.

* *

A Darling Young Man.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am engaged to a darling young man two years my senior. My parents fully approve of our marriage, but not for two years. Here is my trouble: While he is most devoted, he does not come as often as he has in the past. He swears by all that is true he loves me more than any one on earth, but how can I get him to come oftener than once a week? 'DIMPLES.'"

I am afraid, "Dimples," that if he came oftener than once a week he might find out that you were a very silly little girl, and would change his mind before the two years were up. Once a week is quite often enough. Why don't you try improving your mind by study and reading, so that you can be a companion to him when he does spend the evenings with you? Try it.

* *

Mable Isn't Civil.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a stenographer, 15 years old, and have been out working ever since 13. I am very good looking and have never had a fellow whom I would really care for. I talk to gentlemen whom I do not like and cannot really talk to them civilly. Dear Miss Libbey, will you please advise me what to do. "MABEL."

Mabel, dear, don't be so sure you are good looking. If you can't be civil I would advise you not to go about with men you do not like. You will soon acquire the name of being rude and neither men or women will care to be with you. Remember, civility costs nothing and it always pays for the effort required.

He Likes Her Style.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am deeply in love with a young man of about 23. I have been keeping company with him for about four months, although he has never declared his love for me; he is always telling me what a pretty girl I am and that he likes my style. He also insists on spooning and kissing me when he calls and leaves (of which I do not approve in the least). Now another young man has proposed to me. He is about 30 years and could give me a grand home. I respect him very much. I have known him for about two years and he has never once asked me for a kiss, so I am sure his intentions are serious, while I am not so sure of the first young man. He is very serious when with me, but I kind of doubt him when he is away, thinking that maybe he goes with other girls while he tells me that he works late. The older man also sends me handsome boxes of candy and a basket of flowers. Shall I tell the younger man that the other has proposed to me, maybe that will make him realize things from a different viewpoint, because I love him very much and would accept him if he proposed to me. ANGEL EYES."

From what you write I don't fancy the younger fellow. I think he is only trifling with you. Don't be fooled by him.

A Tactless Fellow.

"Dear Miss Libbey: In your opinion what should a lady do when she enters a café with a man—and as soon as the waitress comes to the table to take the order the man seems lost to her presence in looking at the waitress, to whom in excuse for so unexpected an occurrence he says, 'I have seen you somewhere before'—which might be more than probable; but is this the time, the place to say nothing of the girl, for recalling such fancies? The occasion seemed as embarrassing to the waitress as to the lady guest. And while no harm or insult was intended by the gentleman, the dinner was ruined for the lady he brought to dine. Of course, the waitress tries to tell him he is mistaken, etc. But what should a lady guest do under these conditions? VIRGINIA."

The fellow is utterly tactless. Ignore the matter entirely. I should not, however, accept another invitation from him.

* *

Lively Without Being Bold.

"Dear Miss Libbey I am a young lady 21 years of age and am considered good looking by my girl friends, of whom there are a large number, but alas! I have no men friends. I know a number of boys, but none of them ever asks to call or take me out any place. Can you give me any pointers as to how I may secure a nice young man friend who will be good to me and show me the attentions young men usually show girls they are in love with? I dress stylishly and am lively without being bold, so you see I don't know wherein I fail to attract. BROKEN HEARTED."

I dare say that the reason you have so few men friends is that you are so anxious to secure one. Forget about it. See that every day and hour is filled with wholesome work. Make your own good times. Pay for your own amusement, and if you long for a companion take a girl along. Men are not essential if they do not come to you of their own accord.

Economical Housekeeping.

The Temper Soothing Stuffed Cabbage.

THE gay oldest sister of "The Seven Sisters" says when her husband, the baron, is in temper: "I'll coax him out of it by making him some stuffed cabbage with my own hands." That is what wives do in Hungary, where a girl also makes sour cabbage soup for her sweetheart. In a current short story the very wise little wife says: "When Wilfred's cross with me I make him a chicken pie." Of course, the fundamental plan of each of these wives is the same. Both dishes are soothing, but to mix meat with the cooler cabbage leaves, especially in hot weather, is a very good plan, whether the dish is to be served to a cross husband or to a tired family.

The following recipe for stuffed cabbage comes from a very famous German vegetarian source: Take a number of large, loose leaves of white cabbage, wash and boil them down in boiling salt and water. Place a clean cloth in the colander and lay the leaves and the stuffing in alternate layers, one upon the other, till it is the shape of a large head of cabbage. Between the layers put caraway, salt and lumps of butter. Tie up the cloth firmly and boil the head in salt and water for an hour and a half. Place a plate in the saucepan to prevent the cabbage from burning. Stuffing: Take four stale rolls, soak two and crumble the other two; two eggs and a large onion minced and baked brown, with plenty of butter. These, with a pinch of nutmeg and salt, will make an excellent stuffing.

Stuffed Cabbage—Three-fourths of a pound of round steak, one egg, onion, butter, and one head of cabbage. Grind the round steak very fine with the onion and one heaping tablespoon of flour. Stir in the whole egg and salt and pepper and add two cups of water or milk. Scoop out inside of cabbage, fill in the above, tie some of the big leaves on top, put in boiling salted water and boil for two and one-half hours. Serve with a little melted butter. If all of the meat will not go into cabbage, shape it in little balls, boil and serve around the stuffed sabbage.—Mrs. Louis Rasmussen, La Grange, Ill.

Filled Cabbage I.—Separate cabbage leaves carefully, wash and pour boiling water on them and then get meat ready, three kinds—one-half pound of round steak, one-half pound of veal steak, one-half pound of pork—and put all through grinder. Add two slices of white bread that has been soaked in cold water, one egg, salt and pepper and, nutmeg. Mix all lightly, then butter a deep pudding dish, line with the cabbage leaves, then put in meat and cover with cabbage so that when it is taken out it will look like a head of cabbage. Cover pudding dish so that the steam will not wet the meat, and steam two hours. Cream sauce: Two tablespoons of flour, two tablespoons of sour cream, one tablespoon of butter, two tablespoons of vinegar, yolk of one egg. Stir this to a smooth paste and then stir in the juice of the meat. If it is too thick add a little milk or water. Add salt and pepper at the last or it will curdle.—Mrs. A. W. Bang, 734 Briar place.

Filled Cabbage II.—Parboil a small head of cabbage until leaves will bend easily. Put a pound of round steak and a piece of pork through food chopper, add one egg, a slice of bread soaked in water and squeezed dry, salt and pepper, and a little onion juice. Put slices of bacon on bottom of dish, with half of the cabbage arranged nicely to come up around the sides, then place the large ball of meat and cover with balance of cabbage. Pour over all one and a half cups of boiling water and boil about one hour. Flavor with a little lemon juice and nutmeg and add a scant tablespoon of flour browned in a little butter. Serve with mashed potatoes.—Mrs. H. Von Meding, 4226 Perry street.

Round About Chicago.

"As a Duck for the Water."

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

WHEN Aunt Becky and the girls took one look at Cousin Dab Vance at the station they instinctively formed a hollow square, and with Dab in the center marched to a taxicab and went right straight home. After they got Dab in the flat they corralled him in the dining room and after locking the back door they held a council of war out in the front hall. Aunt Becky was pale but calm.

"I know what you girls are going to say," she began, "but it will make no difference. Dab is the oldest child of my only sister, and blood is thicker than water——"

"And greener," said Cousin Edna.

"Notwithstanding," continued Aunt Becky firmly, "we have all got to do our best to make Dab's first visit to Chicago a pleasant one. The boy was raised on a farm away down in Calhoun county, Ill., where there are no railroads or telephones, and Dab has never been in a city before, and it was his mother's idea that he should come to Chicago on his twenty-first birthday and visit with us. You girls should be very proud of the opportunity of entertaining your cousin, indeed you should."

"Why did Aunt Susie wish him on to us?" asked Cousin Leila. "Dab has other relatives in Chicago."

"Because my sister knew that we would take the best care of him," said Aunt Becky. "Now, girls, first of all I want you to take Dab over to Washington park. I expect a walk across the big lawn will make Dab feel just like he was back in the meadow down on the farm in Calhoun county."

"O, mother," wailed Cousin Edna, "we can't take him there. The sheep would bite him. Anyhow, I don't think it's safe to let him out of the house. Why, in spite of all we could do, he would be buying gold bricks and paying people to take him down to the lake front and see the explosion, and buying the Masonic temple for $6.30 and two red apples, and doing all sorts of things. It isn't safe to let him run at large."

Aunt Becky was much displeased, and she said so. Here was the child of her only and much beloved sister, who had come all the way to Chicago to pay his first visit to the dear cousins he never had seen, and this was the way he was being treated. It was outrageous. Aunt Becky said that for the first time in her life she blushed, she actually blushed, to think that children of hers could be so unkind to their own kith and kin. And she wiped the tears from her eyes.

Cousin Edna gained the floor and said she had objected to taking Cousin Dab around the city not because of any lack of true affection for a kinsman—not at all. But she did not wish to let designing villains with black whiskers walk right up to her own cousin and take his money away from him. It would be a family disgrace, opined Edna. It would be much better to let Dab go out at night, so that the designing persons who got his money at least would pay him the compliment of using a blackjack, or a sandbag, or a revolver, or something. Cousin Edna said that she could hold up her head among her friends when the story was published in all the newspapers, if Cousin Dab was robbed of his money only after having a revolver shoved under his nose, or being sandbagged, but she would die with mortification if it was known everywhere that her cousin had been swindled by a common bunko steerer.

"There is no danger," said Aunt Becky, severely. "You girls should at least credit your mother with possessing a little intelligence. When I received the letter saying that your Cousin Dab was coming, I immediately sat down and in my letter to Dab told him all about the tricks used by sharpers and swindlers in Chicago. I warned him against them all—the turning of the Masonic temple around, the sale of the temple or some other office building for a ridiculous price, the stuffed pocketbook trick, the explosion on the lake front—all that I ever had read of.

"Then I went to the book store and bought him the 'Perils of Chicago,' 'Grafters of Chicago and How They Trick the Unwary,' and three or four other little books. Your cousin Dab is a bright boy, and after I wrote and warned him and sent him the books, you need have no fear that any swindler will be able to get the best of him."

The girls were silenced. They said of course if all the pitfalls of the city had been explained to Dab, it might be reasonably safe to let him run at large without making him wear a muzzle or putting a nameplate and a license tag on his collar.

Still it was generally admitted that Dab must never go out on the street without an armed escort of at least two relatives. If there were not two at leisure to go with Cousin Dab, he must stay in the snug harbor at home in the pleasant flat where moth nor rust could corrupt nor thieves break in to steal.

Aunt Becky and the girls then went back to talk to Cousin Dab. He was still in the dining room and with a most delighted expression on his face. "I guess you all's be purty glad," said Dab, "when you see what I got for you."

"What is it, Dab?" asked Aunt Becky apprehensively.

"Well," said Dab proudly, "I heard you all talking when we rode along out here in that ottermobeel about Washington park an' about goin' over there. Well, you kin go now all you want to an' take yer friends an' it won't cost you nothing to git in."

"Why not," asked Cousin Edna, motioning the family for silence.

"Because," said Dab, "looka here." He produced a small white card which he handed proudly to his Aunt Becky. On the card was written in pencil:

"Pass Mrs. Rebecca Fox and daughters and friends into Washington park, Chicago, at all hours without charge. Also to Lincoln park."

"Signed: I. Robbem, Commissioner and Part Owner."

"Why, Dab," said Aunt Becky weakly, "you promised me you wouldn't go out of this room while we were gone. How did you unlock the back door?"

"I didn't go out," said Dab, "I was a sittin' right here in this here window an' a feller across th' road called up to me did I want to buy a pass to Washington park an' I said yes and he said they usually cost $25, but he'd let me have this one fer $5. I wanted to git it fer a surprise fer you, so I didn't let you know erbout it."

"But if you didn't go out of the room," asked Aunt Becky, "how did you buy the pass away up here on the third floor?"

"O," said Dab, boastfully, "I just lowered a string out of the window an' th' commissioner he tied th' pass on as soon as I slung down the $5. I jest wanted to show you that lockin' me up in this here house hain't a going to keep me from makin' a pretty slick bargain, by heck."

"Well," said Cousin Edna, "we'll never leave you alone in the flat again."

"No?" asked Dab in surprise.

"No," said Cousin Edna, "the next time we will wrap you up in the clothes line and chloroform you and tie you under the bed and pile two trunks and the chiffonier on you while we are away."

"It wouldn't do any good," moaned Cousin Leila sadly. "By the time we got back he would have traded the chloroform and the clothes line and the trunks and the chiffonier for the new city hall and the federal building. There are some things that are inevitable."

TAFT INDORSES WORKS OF Y.M.C.A.

TELLS WORLDWIDE FIELD

President Pays Tribute to Generosity of Julius Rosenwald of Chicago.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—Speaking to more than 1,000 negroes here today, President Taft congratulated them upon the consummation of the movement for the erection of a $100,000 home for a colored Young Men's Christian association.

The president paid a high tribute to the work of the Y. M. C. A. and praised the generosity and broad philanthropy of Julius Rosenwald of Chicago, who, although barred from any part in the management of the association by the rule limiting the directorate to certain religious denominations, recently agreed to give $25,000 to the Washington negro branch's building fund.

Mr. Taft mentioned that his own denomination is not on the list of those from whom directors are drawn.

Praises Work of Y. M. C. A.

"It has fallen to my lot," said the president, "because of experience in many parts of the world, to observe the wonderful usefulness of the Young Men's Christian association in taking hold of the characters of young men at a time when they are in the formative period—at a time when they are likely to yield to temptations that will lead them down to destruction—and offering to them an inducement and an opportunity to make themselves men worthy and useful in the community.

"It was peculiarly useful in such places as Manila and Hongkong, where young men from home—that is, from America or from England—without families were exposed to the temptations of those far off lands.

"It has reduced to science the taking of careless young men and offering them an attractive Christian club in which all the influences are good, in which there is nothing of the mollycoddle and no softening, enervating influence, but everything tending to promote manhood, and everything tending to restrain them from demoralizing vices and practices.

Provides Needed Influence.

"Now, it does not need any logic for us to say that you young colored men—and the young colored men over this country need that influence just as much as the young white men need it.

"There is a white Young Men's Christian association and a colored Young Men's Christian association. You are more comfortable to have your own club limited to your own race, as perhaps the white young men are more comfortable in having it limited to their race, but they both nevertheless are under the broad roof of charitable and uplifting Christianity."

AIDS FOES OF RECIPROCITY

Senate Finance Committee Seeks Adverse Testimony.

MANY ERRORS IN DATA.

Grangers and Other Witnesses Fail to Produce Whole Truth.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—When the Canadian reciprocity agreement is reported without recommendation to the senate by the finance committee it will be accompanied by a mass of testimony unfavorable to the adoption of the arrangement.

The hearings have been productive of a tremendous amount of criticism, expressed by men who represent or claim to represent farmers and others who have advocated wrung by members of the committee from the farmers and others who have advocated the enactment of the legislation.

It has been the aim of the majority of the committee, and this irrespective of whether or not the members intend to vote for or against the bill, to obtain information which could be used as arguments on the floor of the senate against favorable action.

Witnesses appearing in opposition to the arrangement have been treated with courtesy and consideration and their protests have been strengthened by questions. Witnesses appearing for it have been heckled to an astonishing degree.

Real Farmer Not Opponent.

President Taft remarked to one of his callers several days ago that it was the granger and not the farmer who was opposed to the Canadian agreement.

In spite of the exposure of the fabricated figures presented by ex-Gov. N. J. Bachelder of New Hampshire as master of the national grange, several other grange witnesses have made similar statements. Members of the finance committee had the correct list of tariff rates, but none of them took the pains to introduce the corrected figures into the record. Although the Bachelder figures were absolutely false, they are being sent out for publication in agricultural papers throughout the country.

Witnesses Eager to Talk.

One of the witnesses who was presented as the special representative of the dairymen, insisted on making general arguments about the agricultural products and it was only after Senator Cullom insisted on hearing from him about dairying that he gave a brief statement on this subject. It was misleading.

Mr. Bachelder, in his testimony, complained that American farmers would suffer because eggs were made free. It was disclosed that Canada has no eggs for export and is a large buyer of eggs from the United States, so that American poultrymen will be benefited by removing the duty.

Some of the farmer witnesses complained about the advantage the Canadian farmers have with regard to fertilizers. Fertilizers are admitted free into the United Sates, while the bulk of them imported into Canada pay 10 per cent duty. No member of the committee apparently knew this or cared enough about it to call attention to it.

Police Sergeant to Be Actor.

Sergeant James C. Carroll of the Summerdale police station, author of a sketch, "A Night with the Parish Priest," will take one of the principal parts in the Garrick club's production of "The Sacrifice," to be presented at St. John's church hall, Clark and Eighteenth streets, tomorrow night.

Fine Knit Umbrella Drawers

for Summer Wear, 50c Each

Possess the following striking advantages over muslin or cambric—lighter and cooler; more healthful because porous and absorbing; easily laundered; wear twice as long; do not stick or cling to the body. An excellent fitting garment, 50c.

Novia Corsets $10

Our Novia Corsets are the result of careful study and effort to produce the best, not only in shape but material and workmanship, which certainly adds to the fit of the garment.

The Novia illustrated represents only one of our 25 different models, each designed with corresponding exactness in style and workmanship.

This model is designed for a figure with heavy bust and medium hips. The bust is sufficiently roomy, and the fullness begins low enough to readily receive a large bust. Below the waist the corset is long, and the back is cut on much straighter lines than the ordinary corset, giving this type of figure more symmetrical lines. Made of handsome light weight broche. Price $10.

Umbrella Union Suits, $1

Extra fine quality Lisle Thread Umbrella Union Suits, with a very wide leg, lace trimmed, giving a regular skirt effect. Sizes 4, 5, and 6, special, per garment, $1.00.

"THE BRAVEST OF ARMS."

Rules of the Camorra enjoined the Camorrist to be "courageous and courteous." Neither virtue was impossible. Vice may be both, if the courage be merely physical and the courtesy merely formal. It was a requirement of the former that the knife be used in combat. The revolver was held to be a cowardly weapon. It does not demand physical contact. Bravery requires it, to the Latin and oriental notion.

Here is illustrated a temperamental difference between northern and southern nations. The knife is repugnant to the former. It is the weapon of the assassin, of the man who stabs in the back. A northerner, if proficient, will use the rapier or saber. Sword and knife together have been employed in northern fights, but as the northern code formulated itself the dagger was eliminated. The courtesy of the duello did not permit the close embraced, straining, physical contact which the southerner, the Asiatic, and the North African thought to hold the essence of bravery.

In Burton's translation of the "Arabian Nights" an illustration is given in the story of the young man of the Banu Odhrah, whose lover was eaten by a lion as she came across the desert to meet him. When he went out to slay the beast he laid aside his bow—this was a personal matter between him and the beast—and took only his knife. He came back with the lion's head.

Burton in his foot note explains that the bow was left in the tent "because it is a cowardly, far killing weapon compared with sword and lance. Hence the Spaniard calls, and justly calls, the knife the 'bravest of arms,' as it wants a man behind it."

To the northerner it is the weapon of the coward and assassin. To the southerner the weapon of the brave.

MR. LITTLEPAGE ASCENDING.

The Hon. Adam B. Littlepage, member of the house of representatives from West Virginia, is climbing to dizzy heights of congressional glory with a determination indicative of a proper ambition. Public admiration of his autobiographical achievement is hardly cooled around the edges when it is put over the hot fire of another success. No such long and tumultuously applauded speech has been made in the Congressional Record for years as that delivered by Mr. Littlepage on the subject of the farmers' free list bill.

The unemotional recorders of house debates never give an orator credit parenthetically for stirring his hearers to more than "applause," "applause on the Democratic side," or "laughter and applause." Mr. Littlepage, with a true regard for his standing as a statesman, made his own applause, and he made it "long and loud," "loud and long," and "long and tumultuous."

THE FOOLISHNESS OF SOME LEGISLATORS.

Among the bills which ought to have passed, but did not, was the one making it lawful for personal property brokers, otherwise "loan sharks," to charge 4 per cent a month. The bill encountered in the senate the violent opposition of men who said that they never would consent to make it lawful for the money lender to exact from the poor man who had no other security than his household furniture or wages such usurious interest.

That claptrap shows how ignorant legislators can be. The men whom they wish to protect against 4 per cent a month loans are now paying 8 per cent or more. If it were lawful to charge 4 per cent, the money lender who is in the hazardous business of making loans on personal property might content himself with that. As long as it is no more illegal to charge 8 or 10 per cent a month than it is 4, the "loan shark" argues that he might as well be hanged for a sheep as a lamb, and exacts the higher rate.

So these addlepated senators have left the borrowers in whose welfare they pretended to take an interest the helpless prey of the "loan sharks." The beneficent plan of the Chicago Association of Commerce and other framers of the 4 per cent a month bill has been wrecked by men who have not learned the simple truth that the price of money—the rate of interest on a loan—is not governed by statutes.

PEACE AND GERMANY.

It is not expected that the arbitration treaty being drawn by the American government for submission to the United States senate and to Great Britain could prevent a war which found its roots down deep in national life. The limitation of the agreement to a short term of years indicates that no such hopes are nourished concerning it.

A war of sudden passion precipitated by an acute sense of injury, one of such as find no justification in patriotism or economic necessity, would be prevented by it, and it is due to the fact that a conflict of genuine causes between the United States and Great Britain is not conceivable that President Taft on one side and Sir Edward Grey on the other are able to take this step in the direction of peace.

On the contrary, Germany has rejected three definite proposals from the British government in the last four years, electing to play its part in history by the old rules. Germany is conscious of power in the present and for the future. It aims at undisputed hegemony, is confident in its strength and determined to take the advantages which come from it.

"You cannot strike out the ultima ratio from the life of nations," said the German chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, to the reichstag, in declaring arbitration as impossible as disarmament. "Strength is needed if a nation is to enjoy peace. The weak will always be the prey of the strong, and when a nation is no longer able to afford its armaments it must be content to take second place. There will always be a nation there to take its place."

Let a question touching vital interests arise between nations which had signed arbitration agreements, the chancellor said, and the treaty would burn like tinder.

The German position is sound in refusing to concede that an arbitration agreement could be effective if it ran counter to a deep rooted national sentiment growing for years, if not for generations, or to a national necessity on which continued existence depended, but it is extreme in denying practicability to such proposals as are being worked out in Washington and London.

Germany's position is extreme, but it is to be understood by reversing the statement of conditions existing between the United States and Great Britain. Germany and Great Britain are in conflict. Germany has kept the peace of Europe, but that is not its ultimate desideratum. There are other German interests paramount to it, desirable as it is, and the chancellor merely defined the sentiment of the government. Germany seeks its destiny by use of the power given to it or created by it. The avowal is not sinister, but it is frank.

Great Britain, informed that the Germanic rivalry is not to be restricted in any particular, not even in the extreme particular of war, turns with an increased eagerness to negotiations which may establish a guaranty of peace between it and other nations. France, Russia, and Japan have been approached. The French, at least, respond.

Universal peace is not assured and disarmament is not made possible, but in spite of the blunt German refusal, and in spite of the necessary limitations of the agreement, the treaty which Secretary Knox will submit is a testimonial to the broad, true statesmanship of President Taft.

A LESSON IN SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY.

A thoughtful Chicago woman visiting the Child Welfare exhibit has written THE TRIBUNE one of her impressions, which we publish here in her own words. The question she propounds may be worth consideration by some of our readers.

"Why is it," she asks, "that the so-called fashionable father and mother seem conspicuous by their absence? Is it possible they imagine that this exhibit is intended only for the children of the congested districts of our great city? Do they not realize that they have lessons to learn from it quite as much as the tired, hard worked mother who has to think so hard to make two ends meet, and yet who finds plenty of time to attend this exhibit and study with her children the things that will help her to do better for her children?

"A celebrated physician was heard saying yesterday to one of the officials: 'It seems to me that the fashionable young mother is more indifferent to this exhibit than the woman whose time is not her own, and who, perhaps from force of circumstances, has to spend many hours of the day in employment for the support of her family.'

"Where are the parents of the children who take their airings in a beautifully equipped motor with a trained nurse in constant attendance and a bottle of modified milk to be given at the specified hour?

"I only hope that before this exhibit closes these young and fashionable brides and bridegrooms of a few years ago will benefit by a close and frequent study of this great exhibit for child welfare. Even if their firesides have not been blessed by the coming of children, they at least should know something of this movement and do all they can to help influence public opinion, and thus inaugurate better conditions for our youngest citizens."

Our correspondent has suggested here perhaps the most important aspect of the Child Welfare exhibit—its influence upon the civic conscience.

RECIPROCITY IN MILK.

Milk is on the free list of the Canadian reciprocity agreement. It did not seem to the negotiators that the dairymen of either country would protest. Those of Canada have not done so, but the members of the Milk Producers' association of Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana have sent a man to Washington to notify congress of their inflexible opposition to the reciprocity agreement.

What are they afraid of? Do they really believe that the present duty on milk of 2 cents a gallon affords them any protection? Chicago is the market for their product. It takes all they have to sell, and would take more if they had it. The demand increases so much faster than the supply that this city would be glad to get the Canadian product if it could. Distance and freight rates stand in the way, so that if the Illinois and Wisconsin milk producers fancy they have anything to fear from Canadian competition they are much mistaken.

There are cities farther east where there is the same complaint of an insufficient supply of good milk that is heard here. If shipments of milk from Canada would relieve the situation there no obstacles should be thrown in the way.

The protective theory as applied to fresh milk, of which we have not, and never shall have, enough of good quality, is protection run mad. It is amazing that the dairymen of this and adjoining states should pay the expenses of a man to go to Washington to argue for it.

THE "CUT OUT MUFFLER."

Chicago has more than its share of the inevitable noises of a great city. It is also cursed with nerve racking unnecessary noises which ought to be choked off. One of the worst—perhaps the worst—will be muzzled soon. July 1 a law will become operative under which the city will be given increased power over automobiles and will be enabled to put a stop to the "cut out muffler" horror.

A considerable proportion of the chauffeurs are mentally and morally immature. They have not outgrown the boy's habit of making a racket out of sheer love of noise. The boy does not care who is disturbed when he drags a stick along a picket fence. A chauffeur, knowing that the "cut out muffler" enables him to make an intolerable noise, uses it delightedly. He does it when the ordinary danger signal would suffice. He takes the greatest pleasure in using it in the dead hours of night in the residence quarters of the city. It is the delight of the "joy rider" to arouse from sleep as many as he can so that it may be known that he is up and doing.

The tens of thousands who have had their rest hours broken in on, and their nerves worn to a frazzle by that instrument of torture which the conscienceless chauffeur loves to play on, will be delighted to hear that the day of their deliverance is near at hand. For the council will not be slow to utilize the increased power for the regulation of motor cars it will soon possess under the new law, pedestrians will be safer than they are now, but the chiefest boon it will confer will be the suppression of the hideous noises which have driven some to their graves and made nervous wrecks of others.

SERVES THEM RIGHT.

The members of the Afro-American Harrison club of the Second ward find themselves holding the bag. They say that, confiding in the promises of such trustworthy men as Mayor Harrison, Robert W. Burke, and Frank W. Solon that there would be little city hall jobs for them if they "delivered the goods"—meaning their votes—they made delivery pursuant to contract, and that now, when they ask for the price, they are told to take a civil service examination.

They say they have been bunkoed. If they have been, it serves them right. In the first place, an offer to swap votes for jobs is quite as bad as the sale of votes for money. The members of the Afro-American club ought to read studiously the provisions of the election law in regard to the sale or attempted sale of votes and reflect on the position in which they have placed themselves.

These dupes of Democratic duplicity say, also, that they were assured when they made their bargain that civil service rules would not be allowed to stand in the way of their getting places in the board of public works, etc. If they had read the civil service law before making the trade they would have known that the promise made them was one that could not be kept. A little knowledge is a useful thing when a man is dickering with politicians for his vote.

There will be no sympathy anywhere for these venal Afro-Americans. Their plight can only arouse laughter. They sold out expecting easy berths, and now are invited to take a civil service examination.

IS UNCLE JOSEPH G. CANNON only 75 years old? Men without half his provocation or his desire to get even with anybody, have lived to be 100.

THE Hon. Tim Woodruff is no alarmist, but he took a few minutes off and peered into the future the other day, and the outlook filled him with what is called a Vague Unrest.

FIGURES, they say, do not lie, but in the closing hours of the Forty-seventh general assembly the hands that pointed to the figures on the dial of the clock lied atrociously for six or seven hours.

CHICAGO won the legislature's permission to build a harbor, and may go ahead and do it now with the money it will save by cutting down the perquisites of the oil inspector.

THE oil inspector, meanwhile, will have to get along on the beggarly salary of $5,000 a year.

THERE is no help for it—the United States senate will be compelled to lift the lid of the Lorimer unpleasantness again, and the odor is going to be much worse this time.

WITH the banishment of the public drinking cup one beneficent result will have been achieved, but the traveling men who sleep at hotels will have to put up with the same old abbreviated sheets on their beds. We can't have all the needed reforms at once.

BY this time the Hon. James Schoolcraft Sherman must have decided that he does not care for another vice presidential term. He likes the job well enough, but——

HIDING PLACE FOR OPIUM.

Through some clever work on the part of the customs secret service men 199 cans of opium, hidden in the staves of barrels containing lampblack, were seized recently, and the would-be importer and his assistants were arrested. As the staves of the barrels were rather thick just in the center, instead of being hollowed out, the smugglers had carved out a small sort of pocket large enough to contain a narrow can of opium in each stave. When the staves were set together it was impossible to see these openings.—Manila Times.

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

(Copyright: 1911: By the Brentwood Company.)

COUNT SALEMI, whose conduct at the Royal Naval academy at Leghorn has developed into a public scandal which is creating no end of a stir in Italy, is the royal Prince Humbert, half-brother of the Duke of Aosta, of the Count of Turin, and of the Duke of the Abruzzi.

He is 22 years old, and was born of that extraordinary marriage between Princess Letitia Bonaparte and her uncle, the late Duke of Aosta, who reigned for several years in Spain as King Amadeus.

Princess Letitia is the only sister of Prince Victor Napoleon, the Bonapartist pretender, and of Gen. Prince Louis Bonaparte of the Russian army. Her father was the son of King Jerome Bonaparte of Westphalia, not by his marriage with Miss Patterson of Baltimore but by his subsequent matrimonial alliance with Princess Caroline of Würtemberg. Princess Letitia's mother is Princess Clothilde, sister of the late King Humbert and of ex-Queen Pia of Portugal.

More than any other member of the house of Bonaparte, Princess Letitia has inherited through her father the peculiar traits of blood of the Bonapartes, and through her absolute refusal to consult anything but her own caprices, whims, and tastes, has been a source of almost as much trouble to the late King Humbert and to the present King of Italy as her grand-aunts, the sisters of the first Napoleon, were to the great emperor.

A handsome woman of the Bonaparte type, Princess Letitia was at one time engaged to her first cousin, the present Duke of Aosta, who was deeply infatuated with her. But her extraordinary ambition to become Queen of Italy led her to jilt him and to marry his widowed father instead—that is to say, her uncle, as being nearer to the throne. For, at the time the present king was looked upon as exceedingly delicate and as unlikely to marry, and it was thought improbable he would ever live to succeed to the throne, to which, failing him, the late Duke of Aosta would have then been the next heir.

The marriage of ex-King Amadeus of Spain with his niece, a quarter of a century his junior, and who had been the fiancée of his son, aroused an immense amount of criticism, and it was only with the utmost difficulty that Leo XIII. was induced to give a dispensation. The only consideration in its favor was that the ex-king, who was renowned for his piety and for his lofty principles, might exercise a restraining influence on the turbulence of his beautiful young wife.

Princess Letitia was, however, disappointed in her ambitions. For, after a marriage that commenced inauspiciously, the wedding being attended by certain ominous incidents calculated to alarm the superstitious, the ex-king died eighteen months later, leaving his niece-wife with one young son, Humbert Count of Salemi.

As soon as ever the mourning of the princess was over the possibility of her marrying her ex-fiancé was put on the tapis. He was then, as he is today, an extremely handsome man, and he was still, despite all, so greatly infatuated with her that during the early years of his subsequent marriage with Princess Helene of Orleans, Letitia was a frequent cause of jealousy and misery to the latter.

But neither King Humbert nor the vatican would consent to even consider the possibility of a union between Letitia and the young Duke of Aosta. Her marriage to her elderly uncle had given rise to enough criticism in all conscience. If she had after that taken advantage of her widowhood to become the wife of her own stepson, who was likewise her first cousin, popular indignation would have known no bounds.

At one moment her hand was sought in marriage by Roland Bonaparte. But this project, too, was vetoed by her uncle and brother-in-law, the late King Humbert. Having inherited nothing from her father, she was entirely dependent upon King Humbert, as she is today upon King Victor Emmanuel, for her support.

She accorded but little attention to her only son, Count Salemi, who was brought up by her mother, the widowed Princess Clothilde Bonaparte, at Castle Moncalieri, near Turin, in such seclusion as to give rise to all sorts of stories as to the mental and physical condition of the youngster.

Princess Clothilde lives the life of a saint in the habit of a nun, having converted her castle of Moncalieri into part hospital, part orphan asylum, where the education of the children and the care of the sick is in the hands of religious orders.

The boy therefore did not have the same opportunities as other boys, and when finally he grew up and it became necessary to emancipate him from his grandmother's control and from the tutelage of the priests, by whom his education had until then been conducted, he was ill prepared for the battle of life and incapable of resisting the many temptations that fall to the share of every royal prince.

Added to this was the fact that he never had any money. His grandmother's allowances are spent wholly upon the poor and suffering round Moncalieri and upon her hospital and orphan asylum there. His mother, Princess Letitia, the widowed Duchess of Aosta, is always head over ears in debt, from which the late King Humbert was repeatedly called upon to extricate her; and whereas his half-brothers are rich indeed in their own right, through their mother, the late Duke of Aosta's first wife, who was a great heiress young Prince Humbert, Count Salemi, has nothing but a meager allowance from the king.

Naturally he got into debt, and all sorts of charges were brought against him at the naval academy at Leghorn before he was removed thence, including that of kleptomania.

If I mention all these circumstances it is by way of pointing out that there is some excuse for the lad, who, in view of his bringing up, of the strain of Bonaparte blood in his veins, and of his being the offspring of the amazing marriage between an elderly uncle and his niece, should not be judged by ordinary standards. The young fellow is more an object for pity than for unmingled condemnation.

Just what is going to become of the prince it is difficult to tell, the more so as the entire reigning house of Italy has turned against him, with the exception of his grandmother and mother, who neither of them have any independent fortune of their own, Princess Letitia being wholly dependent on King Victor Emmanuel.

Her mother, Princess Clothilde, has in addition to her allowance from the Italian civil list a certain annuity from France, secured to her by treaty between the latter country and Italy at the time of her marriage to the late Prince Jerome Bonaparte, and which the French republic is compelled to pay to this day by reason of its treaty obligations toward Italy.

That Count Salemi can be held as wholly accountable for his actions, is, as I have shown above, not to be believed. On the other hand, he is not sufficiently erratic to be placed under restraint, and with no money at present, and with no fortune to look forward to, it is difficult to know how to arrange for his future welfare.

So your voice unlocks for me
Other doors of memory.
Such a host of songful shades!

PROF. MEAD of the University of Wisconsin denies that forests conserve the water supply and thereby prevent great floods; quite the contrary. But this theory does not weigh a pennyweight more than the opposite theory.

IF these balance each other the argument remains with conservation, for it will not be denied that trees are decorative, and diversify a landscape most agreeably. It is possible to regard trees even more intimately. Now, we like trees better than people.

SPEAKING of Thoreau's aloofness, a friend of his remarked, "You would never think of taking his arm; you would as soon think of taking the arm of an elm tree." Much rather. Have not many of us, the first day in the forest, put arms around a pine or birch and laid cheek to its fragrant bark?

MORE ABOUT ORVILLE HARROLD.
[From the Indianapolis News.]

There can be no doubt in the mind of Orville Harrold, tenor, that his Indiana friends are interested in his career as a singer, for last night, on the occasion of his only appearance in this city before he goes abroad, the German house was filled with an audience such as never gathered there before. The auditorium and 400 extra seats were filled with a representative audience, and when Mr. Harrold appeared he was received with enthusiastic applause. He bowed to the audience and then to the chorus and then the orchestra began the introduction for the aria "Vesti la giubba," from "Pagliacci" (Leoncavello).

"THE FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE."

OUR DIRTY STREET CARS.

Chicago, May 16.—[To the Friend of the People.]—How can we stop the presence of drunken men in street cars? Monday morning a man in the silly stage of intoxication got on a Cottage Grove car [conductor 1162], and stationing himself at the front of the car, facing the passengers, sang, skipped, and twirled his cane for ten blocks, leering at the passengers and gradually raising his voice till he finally shouted. All this to the disgust of everybody but the small boys on board. Is there no way to stop this kind of nuisance, of which this is but a mild instance? Or must women and children ride in crowded cars with irresponsible drunks? E. J. G.

Chicago, May 16.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Is there anything to be done about the filthy condition of the street cars in the early morning hours?

In going to early mass Sunday morning the steps and floors of the cars are so covered with saliva and sickening traces of drunkenness that it is not sanitary for a lady's skirt to pass over. Several of my friends have been discussing the situation and I said I would ask your advice. A CITIZEN.

Both these letters state their matter truthfully. The street railway company's interest in the passenger apparently ceases after the latter has paid his fare. Both the elevated and surface lines neglect the passengers' comfort and health. So-called ventilating systems are installed, but little attempt is made to make them conform to the state of the weather. Thermometers are required to be placed in each car. They are more noticeable by their absence, to use a Hibernianism.

On many of the lines the cars are filthy. There is no other term suitable. To enumerate the conditions of their filth would be to disgust the reader. The Friend of the People, during the last two months, has been riding on certain lines of the Chicago City Railway company and the Chicago Railways company where the cars are not fit for clean men and women to use. They appear not to have been washed out or given any but the most casual care for months.

The filthy habits of smoking and chewing tobacco result in the car floors being indescribably dirty. The cars smell offensively, even when empty. The conductors standing on the rear platform do not see violations of law and decency going on within. They are careless, indifferent, and, in the rush hours, overworked.

Drunken men are taken on without interference. Conductors even assist boozy creatures upon the platform and shove them into the cars, there to lurch upon and leer at sober citizens, who should be protected from such contact. This condition of travel is infinitely worse since the pay-as-you-enter cars were adopted. The conductor seldom has a chance to leave his post to remedy conditions within the car.

On some lines the management does better. The cars are less filthy and there is less cause for complaint. The passengers on these usually have cleaner habits and more consideration for each other. The trouble on the other lines, we admit, often originates in the passengers themselves, but the companies should, for their own interests and those of their self-respecting passengers, exercise some supervision over the conduct and comfort of the car's occupants. It would pay all the transportation companies in Chicago to employ a few gentlemanly officials of authority to ride upon their lines, one after the other, all day, seeing to the comfort of passengers, preventing the violation of health laws, and taking off cars which are not fit for self-respecting persons to ride in. Half a dozen such supervisors could effect a wholesome improvement in thirty days.

NOISY FLAT WHEELS.

Chicago, May 15.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The tracks and cars of the Sixty-first street line of the Chicago City railway company are in such bad order that the jolting caused by flat wheels, worn rails, and dinky old cars makes even a strong person sore and sick to ride on the line. This branch does a good business and runs through a thickly populated district. When is this line to be rehabilitated with new tracks and cars, and by what time must it be done by the terms of the company's agreement with the city?

PATRON OF THE LINE AND TAXPAYER.

We are afraid it will be some time before there is a rehabilitation of the Sixty-first street line. The track now used was laid ... years ago. The officials say steel wheels are being substituted for the iron ones as fast as the latter wear flat. The Fifty-ninth street line, from Leavitt to Ashland, is scheduled for reconstruction this year. The part from Ashland to Halsted was retracked in 1908.

IN VIOLATION OF THE ORDINANCE.

Chicago, May 18.—[To the Friend of the People.]—From the Illinois Central tracks I can see a small new frame building on the rear of a lot near Sixty-fourth street. Do you think the building department would allow me to erect one like that on my lot in a district included in the fire limits? It is about 15x12 and has a nice shingle roof for the Illinois Central sparks to fall on. I can see the fire department now, trying to save it—not. W. P.

The commissioner of buildings learned of the erection of this "shed," as he called it, when the above letter was sent to him. He says that the owner "has been notified to bring the same into compliance with the ordinance." The Woodlawn Park police must have been blind not to see the "shed" being built.

PERMIT IS TEMPORARY.

Chicago, May 19.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Why does the building department allow a frame structure to be built at South Water and La Salle streets?

ACROSS THE W...

The building in question was considerably damaged by the excavation for the new tunnel. This department ordered the top story taken off, the entire rear wall and three-fourths of the side wall taken down.

The owners have taken out a permit to rebuild the rear and side wall, as removed, with masonry walls, and as soon as the building department will allow them to start the foundation for this work, it will be done. At present the condition of the ground there, by reason of tunnel excavations, precludes the possibility of putting in a permanent foundation of either ... or masonry.

The temporary frame inclosure will not remain more than a few months at the most, and will be replaced by brick walls as soon as the tunnel construction will allow of it.

The land on which this shanty was built some time ago has been in dispute as to title. The city finally claimed it was public land, and the commissioner of streets referred the matter to the bureau of corporations. The shanty's owner will have to reimburse the city or get out. He got there by paying $10 to a man who thought at the time he owned the land.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

CHAUFFEUR, NOT SIGNAL, TO BLAME.

Chicago, May 20.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In connection with the present discussion over automobile warning signals I would like to call your attention to a suggestion made recently to the authorities in New York City and which seems likely to be put in force.

In New York City it seems to be generally understood that most of the unnecessary and distracting signal noise is made by irresponsible chauffeurs. So the very practical suggestion is made that a clause be inserted in the regular chauffeur's license to the effect that said license will be revoked if the holder is found guilty of using his signal unnecessarily loud and often.

Every motorist knows that automobiling is not safe without an efficient signal; and experience teaches him that to be efficient a signal must be powerful enough to be always heard, and discordant enough to convey a true note of warning. It may not be agreeable to motorist or pedestrian, but a signal was meant for warning, not for harmony.

Now, here is the point: In making a signal efficient you make a product that a fool or a knave can make a nuisance of. But the obvious thing to do is to correct the fool or knave, not the signal. C. S. SHUMAN.

CENTS AND PER CENT.

Mishawaka, Ind., May 18.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In today's issue of THE TRIBUNE I find an article under the heading "Sophistries of Schedule K," dated Grand Rapids, April 28, and signed "B. W." This item quotes Mr. Wood, president of the American Woolen company, as saying in a speech that a suit of clothes bought for the president of the United States yields a profit to the man who made the cloth of not over 38 per cent on that suit.

I have before me a booklet, the title of which is "A Defense of Schedule K," which contains a speech of Mr. Wood's delivered at Boston, Oct. 28, 1910, from which I quote the following:

It may interest the people to know that in our great business, where the cost of production is at the lowest point possible, and in favor of the community at large, the average profit which we manufacturers secure on the cloth entering into a suit of clothes does not exceed 38 cents on an average suit of clothing. I read recently that the president of the United States was wearing a suit of clothes for which he paid $50. The American people may like to know that if that cloth were purchased from our company our share of the profit in that suit of clothes would be less than 50 cents, or less than 1 per cent of the entire suit.

I am writing this letter not as a defense of Mr. Wood, schedule K, or the American Woolen company, but merely to correct an erroneous statement.

Evidently your correspondent (B. W.) made his mistake in saying "38 per cent" instead of "38 cents," or else the quotation he saw was printed in error. E. J. W. FINK.

LOW GRADE MEDICAL SCHOOLS.

Chicago, May 20.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—THE TRIBUNE'S editorial today under the caption "Low Grade Medical Schools" is evidently based on a misconception of the attitude of the Chicago Medical society and its delegation to the recent state meeting at Aurora toward medical education.

The Chicago Medical society, its executive council, and its delegates to the state society are on record repeatedly for higher medical education. The facts are that Dr. Percy of Galesburg, a member of the committee on education, brought in a long, rambling, ... digested report, written, as he admitted, ... night, and not submitted to the other members of his committee until after it was read.

The few oft repeated and well known facts that THE TRIBUNE has frequently made public concerning fake medical schools in Chicago were rehashed, but without comprehensive and practical recommendations for correcting the existing evils. It is easy to throw mud. Any old worn out automobile tire full of wind can turn this trick. ... this feature of Percy's report that was objected to by not only the Chicago delegates but many fair minded delegates from the state. They resented the implication that the Chicago Medical society and its delegates were championing inferior medical ... and low standards of education when the ... is every man of them is pledged to the opposite.

The second untruth voiced in the Percy report was that the Chicago Medical society is in a state of disorganization, when the truth is that it is bigger, more active, and stronger in its united opposition to ... and fakers than ever before, and doing ... high grade scientific work.

The unwarranted and malicious attack in that report upon Chicago was animated by purely political motives of a coterie of Chicago medical politicians with whom Dr. Percy has been coöperating to cast obloquy upon the present administration of the Chicago society. By this means they hope to regain control of the organization for selfish purposes.

Dr. Percy by unanimous action of the convention was removed from the educational committee of the state society by the election of Dr. Sloan of Bloomington in his place, ... days after his report was read. This action of the convention is sufficient commentary upon the character and standing of the Percy report.

FIND LIVING COST LOW IN CHICAGO

British Experts Report Conditions Better than in Most Big Cities.

WAGES HIGH; RENTS DOWN

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—The cost of living in Chicago is less than in most large cities, and distinctly less than in any large community in the Mississippi valley, according to the comparative figures in the London board of trade report printed by the United States senate. The report, so far as it related to Chicago, was printed in THE TRIBUNE today.

The British investigators examined conditions in other large cities quite as exhaustively. In nearly all wages were found lower than in Chicago, while rents and the cost of meats and other foods averaged higher.

In Milwaukee the cost of meats was found to be much higher than in Chicago, but the average price of other foods was slightly lower. Considering rent and food prices, living in Milwaukee is a shade less expensive than in Chicago. The investigators report the existence of keen competition between Chicago and Milwaukee meat packers in supplying the latter market.

Milwaukee Favored by Location.

"Milwaukee is well situated as regards its food supplies," says the report. "The state of Wisconsin is largely agricultural and the authorities of the experimental station have been particularly successful in promoting more scientific methods of farming, particularly dairy farming and stock raising. Abundant supplies of grain, vegetables, milk, cheese, and cattle are, in consequence, produced in the state and most of the flour used is milled locally."

"Housing conditions in Milwaukee," says the report, "as regards light and ventilation, are, on the whole, satisfactory and there are few congested areas. The working class districts generally present a pleasing appearance, the streets as a rule being lined with trees and the houses set back from the pavement."

Rear tenements are reported to be few, except in the center of the city. Ownership of homes, particularly among the Germans and Poles, is seen as a striking characteristic of Milwaukee workingmen.

"The ambition of a Polish house owner is not crowned until he is able to have cement walks and iron railings in front of his house," says the report. "On account of the desire to own a home the mother and children frequently go out to work and a high infant mortality in such districts is traced to this cause."

Rents and Wages Lower.

Rents are found slightly lower in Milwaukee than in Chicago. Wages in skilled and unskilled trades are correspondingly lower than in Chicago. The trade union movement is strong, but only in part of the trades are wages and hours regulated by agreements.

"Several factors," says the report, "are conducive to the low death rate of Milwaukee, including a situation which exposes the city to the healthy breezes of the lake, which is, in reality, a large inland sea. The disproportionate number of persons in the prime of life owing to the large influx of immigrants in late years further assists materially to keep the death rate low. The rate of mortality from pulmonary tuberculosis during the five years, 1904-'8 averaged 1.17 per 1,000 of population."

Report Cites Muncie, Ind.

Muncie, Ind., is cited by the report as an example of the remarkable industrial changes of recent years.

"The dwindling supply of natural gas dwarfed its glass industry," says the report, "the succeeding steel mills were put out of business by monopoly, but now the manufacture of automobiles and miscellaneous articles has sprung up and continued the city's prosperity.

"The Belgians of the glass and the Roumanians of the steel periods of the town's history have migrated, leaving a predominantly American born population. There is no congestion of building, but on account of rural simplicity in sanitation and water supply, typhoid fever and smallpox are not so rare as they should be."

Wages are lower in the factories of Muncie than in large cities like Chicago. But the cost of living, it is found, also is much lower. Since the closing down of the steel mills rents have declined 20 per cent. Most of the meat consumed is killed locally, and the cost was found to be somewhat above that prevailing in Chicago.

Detroit is pointed out as "one of the best examples of the modern American city." This dictum applies to the plan of the city, the appearance of the buildings, paving, lighting, etc.

Wages of ordinary workmen are reported lower than in Chicago, the best compensation being earned by skilled men in the automobile industry. Rents are much lower than in Chicago. The monotonous uniformity of the wage earners' houses seen elsewhere is lacking in Detroit. Workingmen live side by side with business and professional men, and the percentage owning their homes is high.

The price of meat is found only a shade higher than in Chicago, but other foods cost distinctly less. The report here, as elsewhere, notes that the family grocery store generally supplies a neighborhood and that the coöperative store, familiar in England, is practically unknown.

The sanitation of St. Louis comes in for criticism. Wages are slightly less than those paid in Chicago, but rents are higher. The cost of meat and other foods also is higher than in Chicago.

Segregation of Saloons.

A feature that attracted attention in Minneapolis and St. Paul was the segregation of saloons to the central business district.

"As a result," says the report, "the low class public houses are out of sight of the large majority of the children of the workers, and cases of drunkenness are mainly noticeable among the transients who lodge temporarily in downtown tenements."

Members of all the important Irish societies in Chicago are joining in a demand that Mrs. John McMahon be appointed by Mayor Harrison as a member of the board of education. Mrs. McMahon is retiring president of the Catholic Woman's league and is prominent in church and social work in Chicago.

20,000 USES BUSES IN TRACTION FIGHT

BARKERS HAIL VISITORS.

Suburbanites Stand Firm in "Five Cent War"; Pupils Have to Walk to Maywood.

Twenty thousand persons were carried yesterday by the Garfield park branch of the "L" to Forest Park, where an impromptu bus line connected the terminus with the nineteen cemeteries in and around the village.

The surface line continuations have not been in operation since Dec. 27, when the County Traction company advanced the fare to 10 cents, for which Forest Park inflicted a franchise forfeiture.

Seven buses, supplied by downtown concerns, carried passengers to all the cemeteries yesterday at a charge of 5 cents each way. The bus line was established a week ago, when Fred Licht, chief of police of the village, sent an invitation to a number of conveyance companies. It was known that thousands of persons would visit the Forest Park cemeteries yesterday and next Sunday to attend to graves before Decoration day.

Expected Crowd of 40,000.

"The heavy rainstorm cut the crowd in two," said M. J. Feron, superintendent of the Metropolitan "L." "We were prepared for 40,000 people."

In addition to the buses a five ton canopied gasoline truck ran on a twenty minute schedule. It is the intention to operate the truck every Sunday until some sort of a resumption of street car service is accomplished. Not only a "barker" called the attention of "L" passengers to the fact that the truck was bound for the cemeteries at a fare of "only a nickel, a half dime," but the itinerary was proclaimed by signs fastened to the the sides of the canopy as follows: "Oak Park, Harlem avenue, Hannah avenue, Desplaines, Forest Park, Waldheim, Forest Home." On the rear hung the terminus sign: "Twelfth and Desplaines."

It is Forest Park that has hurt the Suburban Traction company more than any of the other recalcitrant villages, as the cemetery traffic always has been heavy the year around. Forest Park itself suffers little.

Students Walk 3 Miles to School.

Only a few of the village residents have long walks to the "L" station or the termini of the surface lines. The high school students are discommoded. They have to walk to Maywood—over three miles.

Henry J. Mohr, president of the village, declared there would be no capitulation to the traction company if the village had to walk to car lines forever.

"As I wrote the city council of Chicago," he said, "it's not Forest Park that is suffering from this traction war nearly so much as Chicago. Just think of the thousands of people that come out here every day in the year.

"Just to show that Forest Park is united in this fight, a massmeeting will be held at the town hall tomorrow night—the same evening village trustees meet.

NEW POLICE SHIFT DUE TODAY

Sergeants and Patrolmen to Be Transferred in Second Shakeup.

DETECTIVE BUREAU NEXT.

McWeeny Says This Will Be Most Efficient Part of Force.

Chief of Police McWeeny will issue another transfer order today following the wholesale shift of inspectors and captains made Saturday night to take effect this morning. In today's order sergeants and patrolmen, assigned as secretaries to the six inspectors and eight captains, will be moved with their chiefs.

It is known that the chief is contemplating other removals among the sergeants and patrolmen, but whether or not these shifts will be made today the chief refused to say last night.

"The first news of changes will be given to the department," he said when asked about the forthcoming switching orders. "Of course, there will be no objection to the inspectors and captains who are moving to take with them their secretaries, as is customary."

Chief interest among the men on the force is centered in what is likely to happen with respect to the makeup of the detective bureau. It is reported that scores of shifts are slated to be made. Chief McWeeny refused to discuss further changes in this department, which is being entirely remodeled in administration and will be under the direction of Inspector Nicholas Hunt.

Where Opportunity Is Knocking Now—The American Northwest

The 600,000 farms and rural homes in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Washington and Oregon, whose value has trebled in ten years, and which are now worth, according to the 1910 U. S. census—farm lands and buildings—$4,711,476,120; the farm implements and machinery thereon being worth $183,393,000—a total of $4,894,896,120.

These states are mainly settled by farmers who made a pile of money by selling their farms in the middle west—which they bought or homesteaded years ago—at a big profit, wealthy immigrants, who have cash on hand to buy whatever they need in machinery, apparatus and farm supplies, and who are now making more money, as these 1910 census figures for the ten leading crops show:

ICE DEALER'S FATE STILL IN BALANCE

Result of Federal Inquiry Into Alleged "Trust" to Be Known Soon.

FACTS INDICATE COMBINE

Prices Said to Have Been Talked Over at Meeting in a Restaurant.

Whether or not there is sufficient evidence against the Chicago ice companies upon which to base a federal grand jury investigation looking toward prosecution because of the fixing of "trust" prices of the commodity, will be determined by United States District Attorney Sims in a day or two.

Mr. Sims said last night that he was unable to say yet if formal investigation would be ordered. He also said he could not discuss what, if any, evidence of a "gentlemen's agreement" he had found among the big ice companies.

Facts Indicate "Understanding."

From other sources it was learned that government investigators have discovered facts from different sources, all pointed toward a general understanding among the big companies as far as retail and contract prices to the larger consumers are concerned.

Representatives of no less than three big ice consumers have said that their companies purchased ice last summer at as low rates as $1.20 a ton, and they insist that others bought at even cheaper rates.

The discrepancy between $1.20 a ton to the big users and $6 and $8 a ton to the household consumer, now boosted to a flat $8 rate by all of the big companies, was a surprise to the investigators. One federal official said that if manufactured ice could be retailed at $1.20 in any quantities it appeared that the small consumer should have a better price than 40 cents a hundred pounds.

Ice Dealers Hold Conference.

From an unofficial source came other information to the effect that ice prices were the subject of a conference of the big dealers at a downtown restaurant last summer. It was said that all at the meeting agreed to a standard scale of prices for city trade, except one big company.

This concern cut prices slightly and brought on the "cutting and slashing" which has been referred to recently by the big companies in explanation of the boost of ice from 30 cents a hundred to 40 cents on the north side.

Even this falling out of the companies was not so serious as to affect ice prices on the west and south sides, where ice remained at the maximum figure of 40 cents a hundred.

PARENTS TOO GOOD TO SONS?

SAYS, "OBSTACLES BENEFIT"

Declares Men Who Fail Ultimately Succeed; Last Meeting Next Sunday.

Parental indulgence which seeks to smooth from the paths of sons and daughters the obstacles which the parents themselves encountered and surmounted was held up as the chief danger confronting modern home life, by the Rev. John Timothy Stone, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church, in an address before the Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall last night.

Says "Failures Succeed in End."

"The great danger which faces the home life of today is that young people will have things too easy because of what their parents do for them," he said. "It isn't always good to have everything you want. It is a good thing to have obstacles to overcome. Ninety per cent of the men who start in business fail, but 90 per cent of those who ultimately succeed come from the 90 per cent who failed, and not from the 10 per cent who at first succeeded."

"Because life is so difficult is no reason for the young man's looking at himself as a creature of circumstance. If he is in bad circumstances he must get out of them. If his employer is dishonest, let him find a new employer. There are more honest than dishonest employers."

"Play Bad Hands Well."

"Life does not consist in playing a good hand fairly, it consists in playing a bad hand well. It doesn't consist in fault finding criticism. The best critics are the best appreciators. Find the best musician in Chicago and you will find the best music critic in Chicago; find the best painter in Chicago and you have the best critic of painting in Chicago, for real criticism is creation."

VACCINATES STATION FORCE.

Smallpox Victim Walks In—Health Department Notified and Sergeant and Patrolmen Are "Scraped."

Ten patrolmen and a desk sergeant at the Cottage Grove avenue station were vaccinated by Dr. Heman Spalding of the health commissioner's office last night after it was learned an itinerant laborer who had walked into the station and complained of being ill had the smallpox. The sergeant, seeing blotches on the man's face, notified the health commissioner, and Dr. Spalding went to the station.

SAYS TAX LAWS MAKE MEN LIARS

H. A. Wheeler Scores Springfield Legislature for Not Repealing Them.

SEES PERIL TO STATE.

Asserts Disregard of Statutes Wrongly Influences Minds of Immigrants.

The failure of the legislature to repeal the present taxation laws of Illinois was scored yesterday by H. A. Wheeler, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, in an address before Y. M. C. A. members at the Central association building. He spoke on the subject, "What Constitutes Success in Life."

Such terms as "inadequate," "dead letter," and "an encouragement to deceit" were applied to the state taxation statutes by Mr. Wheeler. They never can be enforced, he asserted, and new laws applying to the subject should be immediately enacted.

Tax Law Encourages Lying.

"All good laws should be enforced to the letter," said Mr. Wheeler, "but unworthy statutes and statutes outworn by changing conditions should be repealed. To this latter class belongs the present taxation law of Illinois. By having such a law on our statute books we put a premium on lying and cheating.

"This law is confiscatory. We attempt to evade and circumvent it by every possible means, and in a large number of cases succeed. Men will not truthfully declare their property to the assessor under such a law.

"Citizens Discredit State."

"A disregard of the law by the citizens of any state will cause that state to fall into disrepute," continued Mr. Wheeler. "This disregard is encouraged, because you and I, in the exercise of the franchise, fail to elect worthy men to public office.

"A disregard of the law is one of the worst influences that the foreigner who comes to this country can be confronted with. Because of it he is liable to get an entirely wrong view of things and fail to develop into a desirable citizen. In many foreign countries the United States is looked upon as merely an experiment and not an assured success. We should do everything in our power to discourage that idea abroad, and this rests entirely with the manner in which we conduct ourselves at home."

What Los Angeles Thinks About the Automatic System

The San Francisco Town Talk, October 1st, 1910, printed the following:

"Speaking of the automatic instruments The Spectator of Los Angeles says: They are a device of Satan himself, invented to facilitate the breaking of the commandment against blasphemy. The automatic service is 'automatic' only in giving you a fair percentage of the parties you do not want. It is exasperating, soul trying, patience wearing and conducive of profanity."

"The fact that two telephone systems represent an unmitigated nuisance is attested by thousands of business men in Los Angeles. We are heartily sick of this condition. My use of the automatic telephone here convinces me that it makes many more mistakes and is more difficult to operate than the Bell. Mechanical operations of this kind should be performed by trained operators and not by telephone subscribers."

The Shortest Line

Chicago to Puget Sound

With a speed unequaled in engineering annals the shortest line to the Puget Sound was built. It is the master stroke of railway construction—this wonderful steel trail—piercing the heart of wonderland's scenic grandeur. Its route carries it, at low grade, from Chicago to Seattle and Tacoma.

"The Olympian"

leaves Chicago at 10:15 p. m. on its first trip May 28th, and daily thereafter. The entire train is of steel construction. Its dining and sleeping car service will be the nation's finest. In ideal luxuriousness, solid comfort and splendid service throughout, "The Olympian" will fix a new standard.

Another steel train, "The Columbian," will make its initial trip May 29 (and daily thereafter) leaving Chicago at 10 a. m.

A Task Greater Than the Panama Canal

The Panama Canal builders were outdone by this astonishing feat of railroad building. A third more earth than the canal builders moved in five years excavated in three years to make way for the wonderful steel trail.

Topographer's gulch, as deep as a twenty story skyscraper and 850 feet wide, had to be filled in, by dumping 630,000 cubic yards of rock and dirt. This in itself, was an engineering feat unparalleled in railroad construction.

Twenty miles of bridges were built. One, across the Missouri, cost $2,000,000. Another, across the raging Columbia, cost a million. Tunnels requiring excavation exceeding a million cubic yards were driven through mountains to obtain a low grade.

These and hundreds of other amazing achievements have been accomplished in giving America a railroad masterpiece to span the distance between Lake Michigan and the Puget Sound.

U. S. INSURANCE QUIZ WELCOMED

KANSAS BEGINS CAMPAIGN

Starts Ouster Suits Against Sixteen Fire Companies; Charges "Combine."

The bill introduced in congress by Representative Jackson of Kansas, providing for an exhaustive national investigation of the subject of fire insurance rates and methods, is attracting wide attention among underwriter. It is supposed that the stimulus came from Missouri, as Insurance Commissioner Blake of that state recommended just such action in the annual report, stating that he believed Gov. Hadley of Missouri and Gov. Stubbs of Kansas could bring about enough influence to have such an investigation authorized.

The perennial investigations by states, now so popular, may be sidetracked if congress undertakes the big task. Fire underwriters have become accustomed to investigations, and if the process is to continue with each state desiring to use its probing machine they would prefer a national searchlight turned on and have the whole matter ended. Fire insurance men welcome any fair investigation, but declare that when an official investigating body goes into the subject at length its findings should be recognized and legislators should not insist on measures being passed directly opposite to their recommendations.

The Illinois fire insurance commission, for example, took a long time to investigate fire insurance. It went into the subject from every angle, and recommended certain legislation. Among other things, it stated that state rating is not desirable or practical. Yet scarcely had its measures been introduced when a bill was presented which changed the complexion of the commission's bill, resulting in no remedying act being passed.

Should Prevent Discrimination.

The commission took the broad ground that the state should merely prevent discrimination. By elaborate statistics and argument it showed that the enormous loss waste and big conflagrations had kept the profit of fire insurance down. While the companies have made money on their banking or investment departments, the commission showed that the actual underwriting had been conducted at a loss.

The conclusions of the commission are borne out by the annual figures presented at the annual meeting of the national board of fire underwriters. These show that during the last ten years the companies have sustained a loss on underwriting amounting to $2,266,188, or 1.01 per cent. Last year there was a profit of 4.89 per cent, or $13,912,-. Fire insurance company officers contend that a profit of 4.89 per cent is certainly no less than should be expected, considering the hazard to which fire insurance capital is exposed.

Kansas Attacks Companies.

The first blood to be drawn in the effort of the liability insurance companies to revise their rates is found in Kansas, which has instituted ouster proceedings against sixteen companies, alleging that they are members of an illegal combine. The attorney general asks total fines of $97,600.

The liability companies last year began compiling their statistics by states in order to ascertain what the general experience by classes was. The revised manual made a number of changes. Some classes were found to be notoriously unprofitable and the advisory rates were considerably increased. Others were discovered to be profitable to a degree that a revision downward was justified. The passage of workmen's compensation measures and the change in the liability laws, removing many of the established defenses on which liability companies had relied, brought about many rate changes.

In Illinois, for example, coal mines have been a losing game. Many companies refuse to write the line under any condition. The rates on mines were therefore given a material boost upward. Even the mutual coal operators' liability company in Illinois has suffered exceedingly, until many of its members are willing to quit. The new manual of rates was carefully compiled by experts from actual experience, and the companies say it will only afford a reasonable profit if adhered to.

Fisher to Give Views.

Much interest is being taken in the announcement that Secretary of the Interior Walter L. Fisher will address the National Fire Protection association at its annual meeting in New York this week. It is thought that Secretary Fisher will treat of the lessening of the fire waste as one of the movements in the scheme of national conservation. Charles E. Meek, secretary of the National Credit Men's association, will be another speaker. At the banquet an array of notables is billed for the program, including Superintendent of Insurance Hotchkiss of New York, A. Whitney of the University of California, who acted as actuary for the Merritt fire insurance investigating committee of the New York legislature; President W. E. Merrill, and Secretary F. H. Wentworth of the National Fire Protection association. The association has a membership comprising ninety-two different organizations that have something to do with fire prevention.

The Chicago Fire Insurance club will have a meeting tomorrow evening, when A. T. Graham, the automobile insurance agent, will give a talk on automobile insurance and rates.

Announcement is made that Joseph Tuteur, formerly manager of the Mexican branch office of the New York Life, has been elected a director and vice president of the Northern Life of Rock Island. He formerly was located in the northwest, with headquarters in St. Paul. He will take charge of the agency development work of the Northern Life.

To Form New Company.

The Continental Assurance of Chicago, a life company that is being organized by the management of the Continental Casualty, expects to be ready for business by July 1. It will be a feeder for the casualty company, which writes a large monthly payment accident and health business. Its agents will thus be able to write life and disability insurance on the monthly payment plan as well as on the regular forms.

Thomas M. Knox of Chicago, of the managerial firm of Knox & Swirles of the North American Life of Newark, N. J., has been elected second vice president of the company.

Western Manager J. W. Cochran of the Fire association at Chicago is on an extended Pacific coast trip.

It now seems certain that those who subscribed stock in the $30,000,000 United Insurance company bubble will lose about every cent, although most of the stock was sold at five for one.

STEEL TRADE OUTLOOK GOOD; OIL DECREE AIDS CONDITIONS.

New Chicago Buildings Take 7,000 Tons of Structural Product—Rail Orders Approximate 6,000 Tons.

General conditions in the iron and steel trade of the west show some signs of encouragement, especially since the trust case decision has been announced, but the pig iron market is exceptionally dull.

Structural steel lettings of the week were unusually heavy, amounting to 7,000 tons. Of this amount western railroads figured in 3,500 tons. Orders for cast iron pipe let in the west during the week aggregate over 4,000 tons. Indications are that rollings of shapes by Chicago mills for the month of May will greatly exceed those of April.

Specifications for plates are quiet, as is the business in steel bars, while rail business is moderate. Further weakness is shown by the Chicago scrap market, there being declines in a number of cases.

It is reported that concessions of 20c to 40c a ton have been made recently on No. 2 southern iron, which has been firmly held at $11.00, Birmingham, for nearly a year.

Among the structural steel contracts awarded for Chicago jobs were those of the Stewart building, 295 tons to Hansell-Elcock and the W. A. Wieboldt theater and office building on the northwest side; 485 tons to the George E. Laubenheimer company.

New business in rails is represented by scattering orders for 6,000 tons of standard sections taken last week by the Illinois Steel company.

A fair amount of new business has been booked for wire products, mostly from the northern tier of states and between Chicago and the Pacific coast. The heavy business of spring is practically over and mills are able to take care of all orders easily.

Oil Tanks Explode; Fright in City.

Cairo, Ill., May 21.—[Special.]—Two oil tanks and one gasoline tank, the property of the Independent Oil company, located a quarter of a mile south of Cairo, exploded at noon today, alarming the residents of the city. The cause of the explosion is not known. The burning oil was thrown in every direction and the roaring flames made a great spectacle.

GRAND CROSSING PLANS PARADE

Will Celebrate Installation of New Lighting System at Cost of $10,000.

On next Thursday Grand Crossing will celebrate the recent improvements with a street illumination and parade, in which the local societies, business men, police and fire departments will take part.

The affair is to be under the auspices of the Grand Crossing Business Men's club, assisted by the Improvement club, and it will be the biggest day in the history of Grand Crossing.

Chief McWeeny and Fire Marshal Seyferlich, aldermen and state representatives have promised to be present and take part in the parade. The line of march will be along the brilliantly lighted streets, over which the people of Grand Crossing have just installed a system of street lights costing $10,000.

COUNTRY HELPED BY OIL DECISION

RECORD PRICES OF YEAR.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

New York, May 21.—It is not to be expected that the general business of the country will offer any such sudden response to the decision rendered by the United States Supreme court on Monday in the Standard Oil case as was made by the stock market, but it cannot reasonably be questioned that business as well as financial affairs will derive great encouragement from that decision.

On the stock exchange the immediate effect of the interpretation put by the Supreme court on the Sherman anti-trust act was the complete abandonment of the lethargy which, with little interruption, had been shown for many weeks. Not only did the stock exchange become much more active than it had been at any time since February last, when the denial of rate increases to the railroads was for a time the controlling influence in the market, but along with activity came a forward movement in prices which carried the average level of both railroad and industrial issues to the highest point of the year.

Short Covering Helps.

By no means, all the buying which brought about this sudden change in the market's position represented fresh purchases for the long account, for undoubtedly short covering contributed largely to the upturn in prices, but there was enough of the former kind of buying to make it clear that the rendering of the decision in the Standard Oil case and the interpretation which that decision put upon the Sherman law have encouraged many to enter the market who had long been withholding from it.

Proof of this was found not only in the character of the operations themselves but also in the diversified and increased demand for money for use on the stock exchange, a demand which brought a substantial increase in interest rates. It was not until the third day after the announcement of the decision that the stock market halted in its forward movement.

Reaction Comparatively Slight.

Even then, such reaction as occurred was slight compared with the extent of the improvement which had taken place from Tuesday morning until Thursday afternoon. Whether a little too much enthusiasm was displayed by those who brought about the advance which occurred and who worked for even still higher prices during the week is a debatable question, but this much is beyond reasonable dispute, that the interpretation which has now been put upon the Sherman law fully warranted a more cheerful stock market, as well as the hope that the favorable influence of this decision will before long be manifesting itself in the general business of the country.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, May 21.—The boerse last week was completely dominated by the Standard Oil decision, which made a favorable impression because it ended the long period of uncertainty. Prices, especially for Americans, advanced perceptibly, and the market became firmer than it had been for several weeks past. Operations, however, were limited, owning to the fact that the buying public is still maintaining an attitude of reserve. Money continues easy.

PARIS, May 21.—Last Monday's hopeful outlook was fully borne out. Throughout the last week, practically all the markets maintained a firm tone. Rio Tintos were the biggest feature, gaining over twenty points, and remaining strong till the close. Philadelphia, which is comparatively new to the bourse, was also buoyant. The bad news from London caused a slump in rubber, which closed at the lowest price for eighteen months. Despite the Moroccan news, it is the general belief that conditions are likely to remain favorable for business this week.

POSTAL SAVINGS DEPOSITORIES TO BE NAMED BY THE HUNDRED.

Number Designated by Postmaster General Will Be at Double the Rate They Have Heretofore Been Declared.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—Postmaster General Hitchcock, impressed by the reports of the successful operation of the postal savings system, has decided to designate hereafter, for a considerable time, 100 additional postal depositories each week, instead of fifty, as announced a month ago.

Announcement was made today of the designation of fifty additional depositories, twenty-three of them to be located west of the Mississippi, where the heaviest deposits heretofore have been made and where the department feels banking facilities are comparatively limited. Among those designated today, which will open for postal savings business June 19, are:

De Kalb, Ill.	Heldrege, Neb.
Michigan City, Ind.	Williston, N. D.
Colfax, Ia.	Canal Dover, O.
Lindsborg, Kas.	Lead, S. D.
Calumet, Mich.	Cudahy, Wis.
Virginia, Minn.	Chippewa Falls, Wis.
De Soto, Mo.

PRICES IN AMERICA GO DOWN.

At Same Time Commodity Charges in Britain Rise Nearly 1 Per Cent.

New York, May 21.—[Special.]—The Economist's index number of average commodity prices in England reports a rise of ⅝ of 1 per cent in April; for the same month, Bradstreet's American average reports a decline of 1 per cent. The English May 1 average was the highest since the middle of 1907; the American was the lowest since July, 1909. The following table shows the swing of the English and American averages, since each touched its highest mark before the panic of 1907:

Economist—		Bradstreet's—
June 1, 1907	2.691	March 1, 1907	9.129
Sept. 1, 1908	2.168	June 1, 1908	7.722
Jan. 1, 1910	2.390	Jan. 1, 1910	9.231
May 1, 1911	2.554	May 1, 1911	8.458

Instances where price movements in two quarters of the globe have broken thus violently apart are rare. The most striking was in 1897, when American prices were still struggling slowly upward, while foreign prices were blooming under the double stimulus of a great revival of European industry, and a failure of Europe's crops.

$850,000.00

Chicago House Wrecking Co.

First Mortgage Real Estate Gold Bonds

Guaranteed Both as to Principal and Interest

6%

Denominations, $500, $1,000
Dated May 15, 1911

Security: The bonds are secured by the real estate and buildings of the CHICAGO HOUSE WRECKING CO., located at 35th and Iron Streets, Chicago, covering over 20 acres, conservatively valued at $1,800,000. The direct obligation of this Corporation, whose capital and surplus aggregate $2,800,000. In addition, the bonds are guaranteed unconditionally by the principal officers of the Company. The net wealth of these gentlemen, outside of their interest in the business, is largely in excess of the total amount of the issue. The property is located in the heart of the central manufacturing district, surrounded by many of the leading industries of this city.

Mortgagor: The CHICAGO HOUSE WRECKING CO., one of the largest mail order houses in the world, dealers in general merchandise. Organized in 1893, bought and sold the World's Fair properties, of Chicago, St. Louis and Omaha. Its business is built on solid principles, and has millions of patrons all over the United States. The object of this bond issue is to build, improve and provide for additional facilities.

Why Every Investor Should Be Interested

1. Large margin of security. Large ground value, which alone is one and one-half times the total issue.
2. Rapid reduction of principal, $50,000 each year for first 10 years, $75,000 for next 2 years, and $100,000 for last 2 years, without releasing any part of the security.
3. Exceptionally strong business, together with able management.
4. Choice location—property adaptable to any business. Considered the best business locality in the city.
5. Attractive interest rate—and additional personal guarantee of principal and interest by owners. The combined wealth of these gentlemen outside of their interest in the business is greatly in excess of the amount of the bond issue.
6. Recommended by the HOUSE OF STRAUS, an institution in business for nearly 30 years, during which time not one of its clients has ever lost a single dollar of principal or interest.

BY SAM WELLER.

There was a flood instead of a baseball game at Comiskey park yesterday afternoon, and more than 20,000 persons in their Sunday clothes witnessed it. About one-third of them got a soaking, too, for a heavy wind came with the first shower, which was a near cloudburst, and the water was dashed through one section of the grand stand in sheets.

The first rain, the heavy one, came just five minutes before time to start the game. It lasted about fifteen minutes, and more rain fell than comes down in Arizona in a couple of years. The field was flooded, but most of the water ran off in ten minutes' time. Then the sun came out, and Boss Comiskey set a squad of men at work with brooms to sweep off the rest. Wheelbarrow loads of dry dirt was spread over the diamond, all the time the big crowd waiting patiently for the game.

Second Rain Prevents Game.

At 3:45 the field was ready to start the game, though it was a bit slippery. The players were out warming up for the second time, when a second shower came up quickly and spoiled everything. There was no chance then to play a game, and it was postponed until the Boston team comes here for the next series.

Twenty thousand persons went home with nothing but rain checks to show for their afternoon's entertainment. The game had no sooner been called off than the rain quit and the sun came out. This gave the greater part of the crowd time enough to get home before the next shower struck town about 5 o'clock.

It was a big loss financially to both clubs, and came right on top of a Saturday postponement for the same cause. But, worse yet, it has broken into the game just when the White Sox were going a winning pace, and Comiskey is more grieved over that than over losing the two big gates.

New York Here Today.

The Boston club departed on a night train for St. Louis, and the New York team comes today to open a four days' engagement, and, barring any more floods, the Sox will attempt to get back into their stride.

When the rain struck it seemed to come up in five minutes' time, and came just when the umpires were ready to go on the field. The water came down in sheets instead of drops, and there was a mad rush for shelter by those who were in the bleachers. Both were filled. The gates were ordered opened by Comiskey and the crowd was allowed to get into the covered pavilions and grand stand. Later he threw the gates to the balcony open free and let all the overflow get up there, where they might find seats. Consequently, many who paid only a quarter to get into the grounds got a dollar seat in the balcony.

But it did them no good for they were no more than comfortably seated when the second rain came. It was not so vicious as the first, but was heavy enough to spoil all the work done by the men on the infield, and it would have been too late to have played a game, had they tried to fix the diamond again.

Diamond Covering Needed.

A covering for the diamond that could be put on and taken off in a few minutes might have saved all the gate money for the magnates. As yet, no inventor has made one that is entirely satisfactory. They have a canvas covering for the entire infield in Pittsburg but it takes about ten men, a team of horses, and a half hour to put it on or take it off.

Tip O'Neil, president of the Western league, who offices at Comiskey park, is working on a plan to construct a disappearing infield. He would build one that can be lowered into a cellar like a big elevator and then unroll a big canvas to cover the hole. Tip expects to see his scheme in operation inside of two years. He might have saved about $20 000 for the Chicago and Boston clubs had he started thinking earlier.

Manager Duffy announced after the flood that he expected to put Big Ed Walsh on the slab for the first New York game. Doc. White, too, is ready for another battle and will be on hand if needed.

EVERS COMING TO CHICAGO.

Star Second Baseman Will Leave His Home Tomorrow Preparatory to Joining Cub Team Here.

Troy, N. Y., May 21.—"Johnny" Evers, second baseman of the Chicago Cubs, who had been confined to his home in this city by illness, will leave tomorrow night for Chicago, where he will rejoin his team upon its return from the east.

HANS LOBERT OUT OF THE GAME.

Phillies' Third Sacker Forced to Leave Team Because of Critical Illness of His Father.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 21.—[Special.]—The Phillies will have to finish the series with Chicago tomorrow without the services of Hans Lobert, star third baseman. Lobert received a dispatch today saying that his father was dying at his home in Pittsburg. The "human flash" immediately took a train for the City of Smoke. The elder Lobert has been critically ill for several days and the telegram was not wholly unexpected.

The loss of Lobert is a blow just now, for the third baseman has been one of the team's pacemakers in batting and rungetting. During his absence Runt Walsh, an able reserve man, will cover third.

To prevent the Cubs from taking four straight, Manager Dooin will use Alexander the Great on the hill tomorrow. The youthful sensation has beaten them all this season, and the purple headed tactician expects him to pull the team into another winning streak.

GEORGE STOVALL TO STICK.

President Somers of Naps Sees No Reason for Making Any Change in "Acting Managers."

Cleveland, O., May 21.—[Special.]—The work of First Baseman George Stovall as acting manager of the Cleveland club has proved so satisfactory that President Somers has announced that he sees no reason for making any change and has no intention of looking elsewhere for a manager. Since Stovall became leader of the club, succeeding McGuire, the team has won most of its games and has played a wonderfully improved game. Every man on the team is a Stovall rooter, and for the first time in several years there is perfect harmony in the ranks. But Stovall's title still is "acting manager."

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 21.—[Special.]—With their long, tough trip half completed in the matter of games played, but with most of the traveling yet to be, Chicago's Cubs rested in the quietude of slumbrous Philadelphia today and devoted themselves to the conservation of energy for future strenuosity.

Few of the players had ambition for more than the necessary effort of shoveling fuel for the inner man, and it was so hot that little fuel was needed to keep the banked fires of digestion smoldering healthfully. Jimmy Sheckard, Artie Hofman, and Frank Schulte, our illustrious trio of suburban gardeners, went to Columbia (Pa., not university) last night, the left fielder as host and the others as guests at his winter country place. They are expected to return early in the morning with several new schemes for killing flies swatted by their opponents.

Cubs on "Rubbering" Tour.

A small party chaperoned by Trainer Semmens went to League Island to visit the naval station and look over such warships as Uncle Sam has stationed here. Doc Semmens, being a veteran of the Philippines campaign, is persona grata wherever the regular uniform of the United States service is worn. King Cole was to have been one of the party, but deserted at the last moment. He said he was afraid he might enlist in the navy if he got in sight of a warship.

The King is much downcast over his fine by Manager Chance. He doesn't blame the manager, but does blame his luck. Moreover, he has to square himself with the queen, to whom he had made a solemn promise to forswear poker for the rest of his baseball career. Uneasy lies the head that shares a crown.

Reulbach Fears $50 Fine.

Ed Reulbach went out to the ball park and worked an hour on control. The P. L. has expressed the opinion that he may start big Ed in tomorrow's final game of the series against the Phillies, and the tall pitcher wants to be right. He doesn't want to go over six innings and have to hand $50 to some lifesaver to finish the game for him. The Cubs have a way of sitting up and noticing what Manager Chance says that is instructive.

When tomorrow's game is over the Cubs have to jump to Boston to play three games on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. After the third game the party will board a train for the longest jump on the league's map, from Beantown to St. Louis. Two nights and a day on the rails will not put them in topnotch condition for the two games they have to play with Mrs. Helen Hathaway Robison Britton's hired men next Saturday and Sunday. But they will be in a lot better condition for those scraps than they will be for the five they have to play with Pittsburg before returning home.

Hurry Up Trip for Champs.

In order to carry out the schedule arranged for them the Cubs will have to jump out of St. Louis next Sunday night, travel part of the way to Pittsburg by special train, arriving barely in time to start a game on Tuesday in Mr. Dreyfuss' swell yard. Then there are two games booked for the following day, Decoration day, and one each for May 31 and June 1. On the night of June 1 Chance's men must bundle into a sleeper again and hike for home to be ready to tackle the New York Giants on the West side on the afternoon of June 2.

It's a long way from Philadelphia to Chicago, the way the schedule makers have booked it for the Cubs. Sounds like a triple or quadruple play—Philadelphia to Boston to St. Louis to Pittsburg to Chicago.

The schedule makers handed that amount of traveling to the Cubs, but they did not make it as hard for the players as the Cub and Pittsburg magnates have made it by booking a couple of postponed games in Pittsburg for May 29 and June 1. The former of those dates was left open in the schedule to give the Cubs an easy jump from St. Louis to Pittsburg and the latter was intended to give the men a rest between the Pittsburg and New York series.

Magnates Need the Money.

It would have seemed more rational to play off only one of the Pittsburg postponed games on this trip, leaving the other for a later date, of which there are two or three more sanely available than May 29. But in these days of pennywise pound foolish pastime the players are supposed to deliver the dollars and let the pennants take care of themselves.

With the exception of Johnny Evers, of whose condition the players are anxious to learn all the latest news, the Cubs are in good physical trim. Dave Shean is the only cripple. His injured hand is healing fast. Manager Chance still has trouble with his head, but has shaken all but the shell of his cold.

This town is all worked up on the umpire proposition and the verbal and typographical bouquets that have been handed President Lynch and Umpire Jack Doyle would start a fire in the Sargossa sea.

In particular, President Lynch is made a target for his statement that the umpiring in the National league is no worse than it is in the American league, but only seems so because there are no aggressive managers in the American league. The replies to the aforesaid statement range all the way from drastic to sarcastic, the motive of the whole anvil chorus being something like this:

"The American league has a real executive who picks up good umpires and tames all managers alike."

Umpire from Players' View.

Merely as a personal opinion publicly expressed one of the chief causes of the present trouble in the National league is the talk indulged in so generally last season about the votes of five club owners being sufficient to remove any umpire from the staff. That was denied, of course, but the players believed it, and some of them believe it yet. A whole lot of kicking this year can be traced directly back in the belief of the players that if they can convince their club owner and four others in the league that an umpire is rotten they can get his job, and some of them frankly will tell you so.

The players do not stop to think that there are a lot of worse umpires in the world than are now on the major league staffs and that it might be their luck to work under worse arbitrators than at present. The average ball player's vision reaches only to sundown. With him "tomorrow" is not another day but another week.

REFUSES $15,000 FOR M'INNISS.

Conny Mack Receives Big Offer for Shortstop, but Says "Nothing Doing"—Reds Wanted Him.

Haverhill, Mass., May 21.—[Special.]—It became known here today that Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, recently refused an offer of $15,000 for "Stuffy" McInniss, who is now playing shortstop for the world's champions and who is leading the American league in batting. This information was contained in a letter received by a friend from Mack, and it developed that Cincinnati was the team that made the offer. In his leter Mack says he has no intention of letting McInniss go.

CORK BALL BUILDS "BUBBLES."

Link Lowe Says "Scouts" May Indorse "Lemons," but Recommends Two Men to Detroit Tigers.

Memphis, Tenn., May 21.—[Special.]—Link Lowe, the old time Boston infielder, who is scouting for Detroit, inspected material in the Memphis and Birmingham ranks on Sunday and forwarded indorsements to Manager Jennings for Infielder Crandall of the Memphis and First Baseman McGilvary of Birmingham. However, Lowe says he thinks the cork center ball will cause many a "scout" to tip off so-called "false alarms" this season among the minors.

COMISKEY TO AID BOWLERS

WAY TO FINANCE PIN EVENT

Twelve-Hour Program Outlined to Raise Funds for National Tourney.

Bowlers are making plans for the greatest field day ever held on a baseball field. Charles A. Comiskey's consent to take the presidency of the local association was followed by his suggestion that the alley experts use his park for the purpose of raising money to aid in the work of financing the big American bowling congress tournament next year. The program, as now outlined, probably will run twelve hours, starting early in the afternoon with the regular field day schedule, such as running around the bases, fungo hitting, and distance throwing, while at night an electric light baseball game is planned.

The first open date at Comiskey park is July 6, while other dates that may be available are July 19, Aug. 23, 30, and 31. All of these dates are sandwiched in between home games of the Sox, so the American leaguers would be at home to take part in the field day. It is hoped to schedule a picked team from the American league against a team of Cubans for the night game, if found possible, and, in accordance with baseball law.

Comiskey's connection with the Chicago Bowling Turnament company has stirred the promoters to new life, and it is expected the company will find a permanent address today and start its campaign for securing subscriptions and billing the country for the purpose of inviting entries. Over $7,000 has been subscribed on paper, but it is figured the cash will be a trifle harder to secure during the summer months, although little fear is being expressed that the committee will not be able to land the $5,000 cash that is needed to complete legal incorporation by June 20.

Evidence of the difficulty enco[illegible] pugilistic promoters in making [illegible] certain classes that bear resembla[illegible] matches never was shown more p[illegible] at the present time. The one s[illegible] so many bouts these days shows [illegible] distinctly. Fighters of equal ab[illegible] various divisions, especially in [illegible] heavyweight ranks, cannot be f[illegible]

But sidetracking that part o[illegible] which has gone into the dim and d[illegible] the promoters, the fans, and t[illegible] themselves face problems in maki[illegible] for the future. One of the match[illegible] made for the near future is th[illegible] Sam Langford, the Boston negro, [illegible] toughest pieces of fighting mach[illegible] ever stepped into any ring, and To[illegible] the local Italian.

On the night of May 29 the wh[illegible] black of it appear in the ring at [illegible] battle ten rounds. That is th[illegible] scheduled, but viewed from the [illegible] of the close observer of things [illegible] isn't likely to go that far. It is [illegible] that the bout will come to a sudd[illegible] sion unless Langford forgets tha[illegible] fight and becomes an exponent o[illegible] love.

Black Is No Gentle M[illegible]

Langford's past performances [illegible] year that he will fight his kind of f[illegible] certainly isn't a gentle thing. Fo[illegible] inquire of Jimmy Barry, "Firema[illegible] and a lot more of them who are [illegible] avoirdupoised. It is hard to see [illegible] poni can be conceded a chance [illegible] world afire when he faces the ne[illegible] is no need to compare the two as f[illegible] erness or gameness is concerned [illegible] not likely to cut as great a fig[illegible] might imagine when the two start [illegible] flying. It is the punch that it is [illegible] will do the damage.

No one is going to concede that T[illegible] punch of the same horsepower as [illegible] As a clouter it is doubtful if any of them [illegible] our champion, Jack Johnson, has a mor[illegible] wallop than Sam. Therefore it is up to [illegible] to let one of those black lefts or right[illegible] any vulnerable spot if he expects to [illegible] storm on May 29. It would sound like [illegible] Tony, and thunder in this case means [illegible]

We are making no effort to pick [illegible] "dope" out just what is going to ha[illegible] matching of the two on past performan[illegible] what has been said above. For insta[illegible] recently was knocked out by "Fire[illegible] Flynn, the same person who still m[illegible] handed the "great white man's hope[illegible] mann, an elegant licking and the sle[illegible] in a Kansas City ring in ten rou[illegible] knocked Caponi out in nine rounds.

Flynn Humbled by "Sam[illegible]

Langford and Flynn met twice in Ca[illegible] so long ago. The first was a ten rou[illegible] the newspapers credited Flynn with [illegible] best of it. There isn't any doubt as to [illegible] have happened at that time, but the s[illegible] position was that Sammy was stalli[illegible] rate, they were immediately rematche[illegible] Langford did to the fireman was almo[illegible] Flynn was beaten up badly, and it too[illegible] rounds to do it. After it was over Fl[illegible] the hospital and stayed there awhile, [illegible] broken and bruised parts mended.

If Langford did that to Flynn, and [illegible] what he did to Caponi—well, what's [illegible] Dope it out yourself and see how hard [illegible] a suitable opponent for the negro at hi[illegible] This will be Langford's first appeara[illegible] that local fans may have a chance t[illegible] action. As a drawing card he looks to b[illegible] a big local delegation is certain to be [illegible] side.

Burns Is Unknown Po[illegible]

Lightweight Champion Ad Wolgast [illegible] in combat this week. He meets T[illegible] in a twenty round mill at San Francis[illegible] day. Just how good the Burns person [illegible] tell from this distance, but he must be [illegible] at that to get the match. On the oth[illegible] result of the bout depends a great deal o[illegible] bum arm. Reports had it a few days [illegible] had injured it in training and that he w[illegible] go along carefully from now until fig[illegible]

The position that Wolgast finds h[illegible] fight day may be ticklish. If his a[illegible] and Burns carries the goods there m[illegible] prise in store for the fans, but as Wo[illegible] knows what he is doing when he enter[illegible] isn't likely that he will make a mistak[illegible]

LANGFORD BOUT ATTRACTS FANS

NEGRO HAS BETTER PUNCH

Wolgast May Have Trouble with Burns if His Arm Is as Weak as Reported.

BY KNOCKOUT.

Evidence of the difficulty encountered by pugilistic promoters in making matches in certain classes that bear resemblance to real matches never was shown more plainly than at the present time. The one sidedness of so many bouts these days shows this point distinctly. Fighters of equal ability in the various divisions, especially in the light heavyweight ranks, cannot be found.

But sidetracking that part of pugilism which has gone into the dim and dismal past, the promoters, the fans, and the fighters themselves face problems in making matches for the future. One of the matches already made for the near future is that between Sam Langford, the Boston negro, one of the toughest pieces of fighting machinery that ever stepped into any ring, and Tony Caponi, the local Italian.

On the night of May 29 the white and the black of it appear in the ring at Kenosha to battle ten rounds. That is the distance scheduled, but viewed from the standpoint of the close observer of things pugilistic it isn't likely to go that far. It is their belief that the bout will come to a sudden conclusion unless Langford forgets that he is in a fight and becomes an exponent of brotherly love.

Black Is No Gentle Mixer.

Langford's past performances make it appear that he will fight his kind of fight, which certainly isn't a gentle thing. For reference inquire of Jimmy Barry, "Fireman" Flynn, and a lot more of them who are much more avoirdupoised. It is hard to see where Caponi can be conceded a chance to set the world afire when he faces the negro. There is no need to compare the two as far as cleverness or gameness is concerned. That is not likely to cut as great a figure as one might imagine when the two start "maulies" flying. It is the punch that it is predicted will do the damage.

No one is going to concede that Tony has a punch of the same horsepower as the negro. As a clouter it is doubtful if any of them, including ex-champion, Jack Johnson, has a more damaging wallop than Sam. Therefore it is up to Caponi not to let one of those black lefts or rights connect in any vulnerable spot if he expects to weather the storm on May 29. It would sound like thunder to Tony, and thunder in this case means a knockout. We are making no effort to pick winners or "dope" out just what is going to happen. The matching of the two on past performances justifies what has been said above. For instance, Caponi recently was knocked out by "Fireman Jim" Flynn, the same person who still more recently handed the "great white man's hope," Al Kaufmann, an elegant licking and the sleeping potion in a Kansas City ring in ten rounds. Flynn knocked Caponi out in nine rounds.

Flynn Humbled by "Sammy."

Langford and Flynn met twice in California not so long ago. The first was a ten round mill and the newspapers credited Flynn with having the best of it. There isn't any doubt as to what might have happened at that time, but the general supposition was that Sammy was stalling. At any rate, they were immediately rematched, and what Langford did to the fireman was almost criminal. Flynn was beaten up badly, and it took only seven rounds to do it. After it was over Flynn went to the hospital and stayed there awhile, having the broken and bruised parts mended.

If Langford did that to Flynn, and Flynn did what he did to Caponi—well, what's the answer? Dope it out yourself and see how hard it is to find a suitable opponent for the negro at his weight.

This will be Langford's first appearance in a ring that local fans may have a chance to see him in action. As a drawing card he looks to be "it" and a big local delegation is certain to be at the ringside.

Burns Is Unknown Power.

Lightweight Champion Ad Wolgast is to hook up in combat this week. He meets Tommy Burns in a twenty round mill at San Francisco on Saturday. Just how good the Burns person is is hard to tell from this distance, but he must be pretty good at that to get the match. On the other hand, the result of the bout depends a great deal on Wolgast's bum arm. Reports had it a few days ago that Ad had injured it in training and that he would have to go along carefully from now until fight time.

The position that Wolgast finds himself in on fight day may be ticklish. If his arm fails him and Burns carries the goods there may be a surprise in store for the fans, but as Wolgast usually knows what he is doing when he enters the ring, it isn't likely that he will make a mistake this time.

Johnny Coulon puts on the mitts again Thursday night at Fort Wayne, Ind. He tackles Johnny Daly of New York. Coulon mixed it with Daly once before in the east and found him a tough customer.

There's another bout that also should prove of interest. "Mickey" Sheridan and "Chuck" Larson, both Chicago boys, are to furnish it over the ten round route at Gary, Ind., Wednesday night. It looks a toss-up.

Mullin-Morehead Bout Postponed.

Dubuque, Ia., May 21.—[Special.]—The ten round bout between Jimmy Mullin of Dubuque and Young Morehead of Racine, scheduled for today on Badger island, on the Wisconsin side of the Mississippi river, five miles north of Dubuque, was postponed on account of rain until next Sunday.

Walsh to Fight Kilbane.

Boston, Mass., May 21.—Jimmy Walsh, claimant of the international bantamweight title, has accepted the terms of the Standard Athletic club of Canton, O., to box Johnny Kilbane twelve rounds on Memorial day. Kilbane has agreed to weigh not more than 122 pounds at 6 o'clock.

LOCAL DIAMONDS ARE SOAKED.

Rain Prevents Contests Scheduled—West End Park Fence Blown Down by Strong Wind.

Rain drenched every local baseball diamond yesterday and all of the afternoon games were called off after most of the visiting teams had donned their war togs and sallied forth on the slippery grounds, which were soaked overnight by the steady downpour. West End park had its boulevard fence blown down by an exceptionally heavy gust of wind that accompanied the hailstorm at 3 o'clock, and Manager Frank McNichols called the game off right there.

Players of the West End club had planned to present Ernest Johnson, the shortstop of the team, with a cut glass bowl in honor of his marriage last Wednesday, the presentation having been timed with his first appearance at bat. The rain forced the ceremonies to take place in the clubhouse with only the members of the two teams on hand.

All the amateur leagues called off their battles on account of the puddles which drowned the fields, no games being played in the city.

Alma Mater, 8; North Chicago, 0.

North Chicago, Ill., May 21.—The Chicago Alma Maters defeated the home team today in a five inning contest, 8 to 0, stopped by rain. Timely hitting by the Alma Maters was responsible for the runs, while the home team could do nothing with the pitching of Roche. Score:

STAGG'S TRACK MEN TO REST

No More Events Until Conference Rule at the Midway.

NOT SURE OF IRA DAVENPORT

Injury May Weaken Chicago Star, Who Is a Winner When in Form.

BY MAROON.

The University of Chicago track team will enter no more events until the conference meet at Minneapolis June 3, and will spend the next ten days in conditioning.

Ira Davenport's condition is not reassuring to Midway rooters, although he is expected to be in condition to run before the final meet of the year. He still carries a cane in order to ease his right leg, however, and there is a chance that he will be handicapped. Last year Davenport broke the conference records in the quarter and the half mile, besides running the final quarter in the mile relay. This season he has run the quarter under :50, and has done the 220 around a curve in :22 flat, faster time than ordinarily is made in the conference meet. Just what events he will enter is a problem Coach Stagg has not yet solved.

Davenport had been in hard training for more than four months and seemed to be in top notch form a week ago, so it is possible a week's rest at this time will be beneficial.

George Kuh is another track man whose versatility makes him a problem. He has done twenty-two feet in the broad jump and made good time in both hurdle races. For the last two weeks he has been catching on the baseball team. He returned from Champaign, where Chicago lost to Illinois Friday, in time to tie for first in the 120 yard hurdles with Capt. Richards of Purdue Saturday afternoon, as well as to place in the 220 hurdles. He was not up to form in the broad jump and did not place in that event, although it was won with a leap less than twenty-one feet.

Minnesota comes to Marshall field tomorrow to meet the Maroons and Wisconsin will be here on Saturday. The final game of the conference season will be with the Illini May 31. Two games with Waseda follow, one on June 3 in connection with the annual spring athletic festival on the Midway, and one on June 17 in connection with the first annual homecoming of University of Chicago men.

As the Maroons are out of the race for first place in the conference baseball series, their hopes are centered on the conference meet. With Davenport in good condition they should be among the leaders. Menaul, Kuh, Whiting, Skinner, Earle, Timblin, and Capt. Rogers are the other men who have a chance to win points on this occasion. Skinner has been coming up rapidly as a middle distance runner since the outdoor season opened, and he is believed to be capable of opening out another notch or two.

WILL IMPROVE ELGIN PIKE

40 MILE ROUTE INSPECTED.

Meeting of Officials to Discuss Plan Is Scheduled for Friday.

BY KEENE GARDINER.

Following an inspection tour over the road between Chicago and Elgin, a subcommittee from the Cook county commissioners stated yesterday that the board would pay half the expense of improvement of the highway, providing the township commissioners would guarantee the other half. The commissioners motored over the road, accompanied by members of the Chicago Motor club contest board, and were enthusiastic over the scheme of oiling and the building of concrete culverts, as urged by the Chicago club. A meeting of the county commissioners, township commissioners, and members of the contest board has been scheduled for next Friday, at which time an arrangement will be made for the improvement of the road.

Commissioners Burg, Prendegast, and Regan, accompanied by Charles Gregory, chairman of the contest board, R. M. Fowler, Charles Hall, Charles Van Sicklen, George Galdzik, chairman of the text book committee; General Executive Frank Woods, and R. J. Finnegan, made the trip, leaving Chicago at 10 o'clock in the morning and returning last night. They were met at Elgin by General Manager Jencks of the Road Race association, Vice President Schmitz, and Secretary Wilson, who piloted their guests over the race course.

The commissioners were impressed with the need of improving the road. The culverts were found to be inadequate and unsubstantial for the increased traffic during the time of the races and the road would be greatly improved with oiling. Work already has been commenced on the race course. Hummocks are being cut down, chuck holes are being filled, and in places the highway is being widened.

Heavy thunder showers stopped both of the games started in the championship series of the Association Football league of Chicago yesterday. The McDuffs and Woodlawns, who were battling for second place medals, played thirty-three minutes, neither side being able to score, while the Hyde Park Blues and Hibernians stopped their contest with twenty minutes remaining to play, the Hibernians at that stage leading, 1 goal to 0. Both games will be replayed.

The McDuffs and Woodlawns met at Sixty-first street and St. Lawrence avenue and had a spirited battle, in which the Scotchmen had a shade in the matter of attack, forcing five corner kicks to two by the Woodlawns. Just before the start a heavy rain fell, leaving pools of water on the field. Both teams played hard, but the heavy ball spoiled many combinations and slips on the wet field set others awry. Lineup:

SAILORS PREPARE TO OPEN SEASON

With Formal Start Eight Days Away Yachtsmen Display Activity.

BOATS IN COMMISSION.

Local Harbor Already Mooring Place for Sailing Craft from Shipyards.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

With the formal opening of the 1911 sailing season only eight days away, Chicago yachtsmen are busily engaged in putting the finishing touches on their boats. A few weeks ago the yachts of the local pleasure fleets were at the various shipyards, where the process of taking them out of winter quarters was gone through with. Now the scenes of activity have been changed to the mooring grounds of the three big clubs, where the work of fitting out will be pushed in preparation for the lid lifting ceremonies on Decoration day, the traditional time for opening the season.

Last week scores of boats were removed from the shipyards and brought to the downtown harbor, and the next few days will find many more at their moorings. The Jackson Parkers, following a custom of several years standing, have been the first to assemble their fleet, and the park lagoon is well filled with sailboats of all classes, as well as power boats. Many of the Jackson Park yachtsmen have gone so far as to take little sailing trips on the lake. Members of the Chicago and Columbia yacht clubs are not far behind the Jackson Park people, for yachtsmen of both downtown organizations are well along with their preliminary work.

C. Y. C. Boats in Commission.

At the Chicago Yacht club, the sloops Illinois, La Truda, Spray, La Rita, and We're Here are in commission, and their owners have been sailing the last week. Dr. William L. Baum's schooner yacht, Amorita, the largest sailing pleasure craft on Lake Michigan, has been brought down from winter quarters and now is moored near the Van Buren street gap. The big steel two sticker wintered on the south branch near the Twenty-second street bridge, and for several weeks members of the professional crew have been engaged in the work of scraping and painting the huge hull, both inside and out. The spars were left in, and all that remains to be done, now that Amorita is at its moorings, is to overhaul the gear and bend on the sails. The work could be finished within a few days, but Dr. Baum does not care to put his yacht in commission before May 30.

The sloop Prairie is to be placed in commission this summer, after an absence from the harbor of two seasons. The thirty-five footer has changed hands and is now owned by a C. Y. C. syndicate. The big yawl Juanita, which has been materially altered during the winter, will be brought to the harbor before the end of the week, and so will Vanenna. Yachtsmen will not recognize Vanenna, for since going out of commission three years ago the former sloop has been changed into a yawl.

Vencedor May Not Race.

Rumor has it that Vencedor, which has been actively engaged racing and cruising about the lake ever since it was built, may not be placed in commission this season. The big mahogany sloop was completely rebuilt before last season's campaign, and is as good as new, but Owner George Tramel has stated that he will not go in for the sailing game this summer. If Tramel sticks to his determination, which is doubted in some quarters, Vencedor will be missed from the summer's principal racing events, and particularly from the Mackinac race, which the sloop won on two occasions.

Commodore William Hale Thompson's flagship, the schooner Valmore, still is at Michigan City, where it was laid up during the winter months. Mr. Thompson has his entire professional crew at work on the double sticker and announces that it will be sailed to the Chicago harbor within a week or ten days. Valmore has taken the Mackinac race for three straight years, and Commodore Thompson expects to put his yacht in such condition that it will repeat again this year.

Mavourneen, the eastern sloop purchased by E. M. Mills, and which will be seen in local waters for the first time, is at South Chicago, where it was shipped from the seaboard. Mavourneen will be fitted out this week and next and will go into commission on Decoration day. Polaris, the big yawl purchased in New York by James C. Heyworth, now is on its way to Chicago and is expected to arrive early in June. At present Polaris is at Albany, where the crew is waiting for the Erie canal to open. The yawl will come here through what is known as the inland route.

REAL ESTATE—FARM LANDS.

FOR SALE—

The last chance for a first selection of low priced land in Central Alberta. New tract just opened, where you'll find American neighbors — 400,000 acres in this district bought by Americans in 1910. Now we offer 2,000,000 additional acres—the pick of the province, the finest wheat land on the continent—where farms are often paid for with one season's crops — where climate, soil, transportation, and markets combine to build fortunes fast. Right by railroad, good roads, schools, and all sound social conditions established. $12 to $25 an acre.

Three ways of buying: For investment, 6 years to pay. For development: 10 years to pay; or crop payment plan, as partner with Canadian Pacific—no crop, no pay.

Think of it! Such an offer of the choicest of "The Last Best West." First come—first served. Write quick for "Alberta Hand Book." Address J. S. Dennis, Manager, Alberta Land Department, Canadian Pacific Railway, 267 9th-av., West, Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

FOR SALE—ORCHARDS—THE LEWISTON ORCHARDS PROJECT comprises an industrial community devoted to fruit growing—apples, pears, peaches, cherries, apricots, plums, small fruits, and grapes. It is in no respect a land-selling organization, as that term is generally understood. It handles only orchards, offering them for sale at various stages of development. It plants and cares for orchards for nonresident owners, bringing them to the bearing stage. Those who designed the project subordinated everything to the industrial and home life. A thoroughly equipped school of horticulture is maintained free of cost for the benefit of residents. The winter climate is very mild, and living conditions unusually good. It is intended for those seeking profitable out-of-door life, who require superior residential features and the opportunity to engage in scientific horticulture. Address LEWISTON LAND AND WATER CO., Ltd., Lewiston, Idaho. Chicago office, 134 S. La Salle-st., Room 1018.

SALARY LOANS.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or income from other sources], who, while not in a position to borrow money from a bank, realize that exorbitant interest charged by professional money lenders is high and extortionate. I am connected with the Indiana Loan, Credit, and Trust Company of Chicago, co-partners, 4303 Grand-blvd., and, having private means of my own, I am willing to loan money with or without security and at a consideration but a trifle above bank rates, and never more than the interest legalized by the states of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, the precise rate being determined by the amount loaned and risk assumed. My location [15 minutes from loop district via South Side elevated] assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings, where lenders congregate. Always best to telephone Drexel 54 for private appointment. Ask for MR. S.

BUSINESS CHANCES.

IF YOU HAVE SOME CAPITAL YOU CAN GET in with me on a business earning at the rate of $20,000 per annum—a business without competition, handling an invented product, for which the demand is conservatively estimated at FIVE HUNDRED MILLION YEARLY. If you have nerve and money you can become one of the very rich men of this country. I have plenty of credit, but am not earning money fast enough to reach out for the tremendous trade awaiting my product. If some one will come in with me and help me for the present, within 6 months can go into a five million corporation with subscribers begging for the stock. The product is selling now without one dollar of advertising, working only on credit at the rate of $400,000 per annum. Grafters, curiosity seekers, agents, incorporators, keep off—want to talk with principals. If you haven't all the money, come in and be one of several. Believe the investment will pay in a short time 1,000 per cent. Address W B 159, Tribune.
